Tear Gas Foils Private's Try To Take DC6

DA NANG (AP) — A U.S. Marine private in a black leather jacket with a cocked .45 caliber pistol tried today to hijack a Pan American Airlines DC6 loaded with war-weary U.S. servicemen waiting to fly to Hong Kong, U.S. Air Force Police said.

After two hours and 45 minutes, a message from a four-star general and tear gas, the copilot thwarted the effort with a bold move.

The man arrested by Air Force police was identified as Marine Pfc. William Lee Clark of the 1st Division's 1st Field Artillery Group. No charges have been filed and authorities withheld comment pending a full investigation.

83 ABOARD

The incident started at 1:30 p.m. (Vietnam time) after 83 servicemen were aboard the plane for their rest and recuperation flight to Hong Kong.

In the cockpit of the four-engined plane were the pilot, John P. Jones, of New York City; copilot E.L. Archer, 30, of Beeville, Tex., and a flight engineer, Robert H. Clack, 26, of Midland, Mich.

While the engines were warming up, the trespasser in the leather jacket, blue jeans and boots shouted up to Archer from the runway. He asked where the plane was going, Archer said, and added he worked for a U.S. airline in Vietnam.

ENTERS COCKPIT

The next thing the crew knew, Archer said, the man was up front in the cockpit. He shut and bolted the door, cocked his pistol and kept it pointed at the flight engineer's head most of the time, Jones said. Archer quoted the man as saying, "I want to go to Hong Kong."

The passengers, many of them front-line combat troops, were ordered off the plane and the engines were turned off.

For nearly two hours the crew tried to talk the trespasser into leaving. Military police with automatic rifles gathered around the aircraft.

Talking by radio, a chaplain, a doctor and Col. Paul Watson of Washington, D.C., commander of the 366th tactical fighter wing, also tried to dissuade the trespasser.

ENGINE ORDER

In an aside, Watson said, "It's silly to let this man take off, he could do anything, like order the plane to Hanoi."

According to Archer, the gunman finally said, "start the engines or I'll shoot." The engines were started again.

ABAG EXECUTIVE, $461,442 MISSING

Gambler's Credit Rating Request Leads To Widespread Hunt For Trusted Employee

OAKLAND (AP) — A New York gambler's request for a credit rating led today to a widespread manhunt for a regional government official who is charged with stealing $461,442 in government funds.

Thomas Truax, 28, assistant to the executive director of the Association of Bay Area Governments, is accused of stealing the money to finance costly gambling trips to Las Vegas, Nev.

Truax was so trusted by ABAG that he opened and handled all incoming checks to finance the quasi-governmental agency in the San Francisco Bay area.

More than $600,000 of these funds never got to ABAG, Deputy State Atty. Gen. Marshall Mayer said today. Mayer said the checks, many of them from the federal government, were deposited in phoney ABAG accounts which, then funneled off to other dummy accounts under the name of Troy Nelson Thompson.

A request by television reporter Dick Carlson led to a sudden auditing of ABAG's books two days ago and the issuance of state and federal warrants for Truax's arrest.

Carlson said it all started with the New York gambler who was interested in Thompson's credit rating.

A private detective, who was hired to do the job, became suspicious when his investigation disclosed a Thompson bank account with Truax's address, but could find no trace of Thompson. He told KGO-TV in San Francisco which turned Carlson loose on the job.

Carlson's investigation began with the Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento where he found Thompson and Truax driver's licenses in the same handwriting and listing the same parents and same address.

Evidence Carlson uncovered was enough to start Mayer on an official hunt last week. Carlson even filmed Truax on the job this week as Dist. Atty. Thomas Coakley of Alameda

State In Sudden Switch

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The California State Board of Education yesterday approved unanimously the unification of all school districts in Tomales High School District, which it had previously rejected five times.

The Tomales unification has been before the board periodically since October, 1961, being rejected each time.

Yesterday's about-face cleared the way for an election on the issue. County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said today he would schedule the election for the primary on June 4.

BIDS DUE

State approval of the unification plan came at a meeting of the board in San Francisco, only hours before the Tomales High School District Board at its regular meeting was told that bids for its new high school can be called about March 3 (see story page 9.)

The new school — bonds for which were approved on the third attempt after two very narrow losses in elections that saw turnouts exceeding 80 per cent of registered voters — was believed to have weighed heavily in the state board's decision yesterday.

The voice that brought the matter to action was raised by a new member of the state board, Mrs. Virla Krotz of Orinda. A former southern Sonoma resident, she was graduated from Petaluma High School.

'AN OPPORTUNITY'

"I understand the problem there and feel the people in that area should be given an opportunity to determine their own future," she declared after Roy A. Parks, a member of the Tomales High School District Board, and Mrs. Rachel Conners had presented the proposal in behalf of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

At that, Dorman L. Commons of Los Angeles, who earlier had argued against the plan, moved its adoption.

The unanimous vote in favor brought applause and demonstration by the Marin and

South Korea's Anger Cooling In Ship Talks

SEOUL (AP) — It was reported today the South Korean government has agreed to stop complaining about the private U.S.-North Korean talks at Panmunjom to obtain release of the crew of the USS Pueblo.

The informants said the United States agreed in turn to regard the talks as part of the functions of the Korean Military Armistice Commission and not bilateral negotiations with the Communits.

PUEBLO CASE

The sources said South Korean Premier Chung Il-kwo and U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter also agreed to continue handling the Pueblo case in private talks but to discuss the Communist attempt to assassinate President Chung Hee Park on Jan. 21 in open session of the armistice group. South Korea presumably wants to keep the spotlight of publicity on the Communist threat from the North.

The South Koreans had strongly opposed the private talks, contending that the United States was paying too much attention to the Pueblo affair and not enough to the threats to them.

North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung meanwhile ordered his army and nation to get into combat readiness because war might erupt "at any moment." Kim accused the United States of "scheming to ignite a new war in Korea."

NORTH THREAT

He referred to the capture of the USS Pueblo and said U.S. attempts to get back the crew through "threat and blackmail will bring only corpses and death."

Prolonged search operations failed to turn up any trace of a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane and two crewmen missing over South Korean mountains. The plane disappeared on a routine training flight yesterday, and U.S. spokesman said there was no possibility it had strayed over North Korea.

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — Helicopters landed U.S. troops on Saigon's racetrack today to help rout out diehard Viet Cong forces as the North Vietnamese increased pressure against Da Nang and more Communist tanks were reported sighted near Khe Sanh.

Heavy fighting was reported across South Vietnam's northern sector, with 321 Communists and 67 U.S. troops killed yesterday, most of them in battles around Khe Sanh and Da Nang and in Hue. Another 170 Americans were wounded.

Troops from the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade were landed in the center of the Saigon racetrack and quickly took up positions to bolster South Vietnamese forces having slowing going blasting the Reds out of Cholon, the Chinese quarter and adjoining areas on the southwest side of Saigon.

Last night the Viet Cong burned down a block of homes just south of the track. The region had been declared pacified two days ago, but the Viet Cong either surfaced from hiding or slipped back into the city. A Viet Cong battalion is reported to control 20 blocks east and south of the race course.

It was the third time American troops have been used in the battle of Saigon that began last Wednesday.

Elsewhere below the northern provinces, the big Communist offensive against the cities launched 10 days ago appeared tapering off. But the U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese forces were still battling doggedly in Hue, the old imperial capital in the north, and fighting drew closer to Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and the nerve center for Allied operations in the northern provinces.

An indication of the gravity with which the U.S. Command viewed the situation in the north was a decision to send Gen. Creighton D. Abrams, deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam, to take personal charge. Informed military sources said Abrams

Physicians Puzzled Over Youths Marijuana Brew

Doctors today admitted they were puzzled over the exact nature of the illness that struck down four Marin youths 20 minutes after they reportedly injected themselves with a liquid form of marijuana at a Fairfax pot party.

"We have never had a case like this as far as I know," said Dr. Arnold Nutting, physician to one of the youths. "We are analyzing the brew they used."

One of the youths, Greg Wheeler, 18, of 746 Robin Court, Corte Madera, was in poor condition today in Marin General Hospital.

Michael Hall, 17, of 1 Golden Hind Passage, Corte Madera was listed in good condition.

The two other youths, Guy Runnels, 18, of 161 Steward Drive, Tiburon and James Clemons, 18, of 21 Mariner Green, Corte Madera were treated at the hospital and released.

Dr. Nutting said he had been told the youths put marijuana seeds in a jar of water and allowed them to soak for 10 days.

"We still don't know whether it was the contaminated water or the drug which caused the symptoms," he said.

"Certainly the results appear to be caused by more than bacteria but exactly what is given off by marijuana in water is unknown at this point.

"We are almost sure it is alkaloid which is extremely dangerous. I cannot emphasize too much the terrible danger anyone runs by injecting himself with foreign matter of any kind."

He said that after 10 days, the youth took the lid off the jar, smelled it and it gave off a powerful odor.

"They thought they would get an even more powerful kick if

Race Lines Cut By Olympic Club

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Olympic Club, one of San Francisco's most prestigious, said today it has dropped a by-law restricting membership to whites only.

Last February, Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of the San Francisco Roman Catholic Archdiocese, and several dozen members, many of them Roman Catholic priests, resigned because a refusal of club directors to remove the restriction.

At the time, some directors said they took no action because they resented "being pressured." John F. O'Dea, club president, said today the bylaw was "an anachronism."

Cutter Stands By Floundering Ship

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI)— The Coast Guard cutter Absecon stood by the battered and flooded tanker Pegasos 250 miles out in the Atlantic today, ready to rescue if necessary six daring seamen who voluntarily remained aboard the stricken vessel. Twenty-eight other crewmen were taken off the ship.

A Coast Guard spokesman in New York City said the Pegasos "might go down suddenly. It just might." If it does, the Absecon was prepared to take aboard the remaining crewmen.

SPAN ACTION IMPROPER

Directors Cancel Extra Insurance

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors today rescinded the controversial $100,000 in additional life insurance they voted themselves last month.

Their action by a vote of 11-0 came on the heels of an opinion by the district's attorney that the method of adopting the increase was improper.

Director L. E. Castner of Sonoma County, chairman of the insurance committee, which proposed the doubling of insurance, moved that the previous action be cancelled.

"I thought that adding to an existing insurance policy would not require bids," said Castner. But, he said, bridge attorney Jerome White informed him that adding to the insurance policy would require formal bidding.

The directors rescinded the action and sent the matter back to Castner's insurance committee. Castner did not indicate whether he would ask for bids to raise the insurance to $200,000.

Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco chided Marin Director Thomas D. Hardcastle for a statement Hardcastle made at the time the insurance was doubled last Jan. 26. Declared Leonoudakis "Mr. Hardcastle said it is common practice for other agencies to have $200,000 insurance. I wonder if we can have a letter from Mr. Hardcastle listing those agencies."

Hardcastle replied that he had been misinformed. He said he thought there were a number of agencies that had more than $100,000 insurance for their officials.

Mideast Clash Leaves Six Dead

TEL AVIV (AP) — Five Arab saboteurs and an Israeli soldier were killed in a clash today six miles north of Jericho on the western side of the Jordan River in territory occupied by Israel, the Israeli army announced.

The shooting occurred when an Israeli army patrol came upon a band of seven infiltrators.

The army reported earlier that 10 persons were killed on the Jordanian front yesterday: two Israeli civilians and three soldiers, four Arab raiders and one Swiss civilian.

Indian Air Transport Missing; 98 Aboard

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Ninety-eight persons were aboard an Indian air force plane which has been missing in the Himalayas since Wednesday afternoon, the government-operated All India radio reported today.

The broadcast said that among those aboard the Soviet-built AN12 transport were four army officers, a civilian, and a crew of six. The other 87 apparently were enlisted army personnel.

French Newsman Is Ordered Out

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government today gave Francois Mazure, a correspondent for the French news agency, Agence France Presse, 24 hours to get out of the country.

The government accused Mazure and his agency of writing articles "detrimental to the well being of South Vietnam." Nguyen Ngoc Linh, director-general of information, said many articles by AFP newsmen were "pro-Viet Cong" and AFP was "spreading false rumors and false news."

Kennedy Friend Says War Stand Not An Attack On LBJ's Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A source close to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says the New York Democrat's sharp new attack on U.S. policies in Vietnam doesn't mark the start of a "systematic" Kennedy assault on President Johnson's war strategy.

The source's comments came in an interview after Kennedy, disputed enemy casualty figures put out by the U.S. Command and challenged the concept that the United States emerged victor from recent savage fighting in South Vietnam.

"The Senator said recently, in announcing he doesn't plan to contest President Johnson for the Democratic nomination, that he elt this decision left him free to speak out on the important issues of our time," said the source.

"Vietnam certainly is an important issue and Sen. Kennedy will no doubt discuss it again," he added. "But he definitely is not planning any systematic assault on current Vietnam policies."

Kennedy, in a speech yesterday in Chicago, said the U.S. military effort to end the war is "like sending a lion to halt an epidemic of jungle rot." Of U.S. chances for a military victory, he said:

"It is time to discard so proven a fallacy and face the reality that a military victory is not in sight, and that it probably never will come."

Kennedy's assertions that enemy casualty figures appeared exaggerated was disputed by the Marine Corps commander in the Pacific.

Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, back from a tour of the combat area, told newsmen in Honolulu that Communist losses in recent weeks are above 25,000.

Kennedy had said, "Our intelligence chief tells us that of 60,000 men thrown into attacks on the cities, 20,000 have been killed. If only two men have been seriously wounded for every one dead, a very conservative estimate, the entire enemy force has been put out of action.

"Who, then, is doing the fighting?"

The Soviet news agency Tass reported on Kennedy's speech, saying it "contained very serious criticism of the Vietnam policy of the U.S. government."

A White House spokesman said he had no comment on the speech.

HANOI FEELERS

State Department officials meanwhile studied a new statement by the North Vietnamese foreign minister indicating Hanoi may wish to keep peace exchanges going with the United States despite its sharp new military offensive.

Hanoi radio quoted Nguyen Duy Trinh as saying Vietnam peace talks "will begin as soon as the United States proved" it had stopped bombing and "all other acts of war" against North Vietnam.

That closely paralleled Trinh's statement—well in advance of the current Communist offensive—that such talks "will start" when the bombing and U.S. "aggression" against the North is ended.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said the United States is protecting its own interests and freedom as well as world freedom by its stand in Vietnam.

"We are the obstacle in the path of world domination by Communism," he said.

Sparkman commented in a speech prepared for delivery to the Alabama Press Association in Montgomery, Ala.

'AN ISLAND'

"Just how long does one suppose we could exist as an island geographically composed of the Western Hemisphere surrounded on all sides by Communism?" he asked.

"Nothing can now change the role which was thrust upon us as the leader of the free world to protect the world from worldwide Communism," Sparkman continued.

AFL-CIO Leaders Call Pre-Convention Parley

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

AFL-CIO leaders, terming the 1968 national elections a choice between "liberalism and reaction," are calling an unusual spring national conference to lay out labor's election policy well before the parties write their platforms or chose their candidates.

In a letter to more than 500 union leaders yesterday, AFL-CIO President George Meany said labor will have to get behind its program as soon as possible.

'WE WANT PROGRESS'

"We will never be content to allow a coalition of retreat to undermine gains we have already made," he said. "We want progress for our nation and its people . . . and we intend to achieve it."

Meany called the union leaders to a conference here March 29, the earliest the federation has ever held a national election strategy meeting. Most have been held after the national party conventions, scheduled for August this year.

WORRY OVER LBJ

The early date was interpreted as an indication labor is concerned about President Johnson's chances for reelection. The AFL-CIO has publicly but not officially endorsed Johnson for another term.

Johnson's fiscal 1969 budget was attacked today by his only announced rival for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

The Senator, campaigning on a peace platform, told businessmen in Miami, Fla., that Johnson's spending proposals for the 12 months starting July 1 reflect "failure to fulfill both past promises and present needs."

WAR FRUSTRATION

McCarthy, noting that the budget calls for cutbacks or only moderate increases in Great Society programs, said the $72 million a day budgeted for the Vietnam War was creating a sense of frustration in Americans.

"The administration can no longer have it both ways," he said. "We cannot wage the war in Vietnam and at the same time alleviate the hopelessness that leads to riots; we cannot spend over $26 billion a year in Vietnam and still have safe and beautiful cities, fully financed school aid programs, and adequate programs of health care for our citizens."

NUCLEAR WEAPONS

McCarthy said in Boston last night that tactical nuclear weapons had been requested for use in Vietnam, but he did not say who made the request.

Chairman John M. Bailey of the Democratic National Committee criticized Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon today questioning why the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo had no air and naval cover on the mission near North Korea that ended in its seizure by the Communists.

Bailey said it was "ridiculous" for the former Vice President to be asking "why we didn't blacken the sky with airplanes around the Pueblo and have it surrounded with warships."

"For Mr. Nixon's information, the Pueblo was on a secret mission, trying to get information without being detected," Bailey told a regional Democratic conference in Texas.

Congressmen Take Recess For Lincoln Day Oratory

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congress began a 10-day recess today, leaving behind a growing mound of work and the hollow-sounding predictions by leaders of an early adjournment.

In session for less than a month, House and Senate were taking a break so that Republican lawmakers could return home to make their annual speeches commemorating the Feb. 12 birth of Abraham Lincoln, father of their party.

The House is to meet on Monday and Thursday but only to hold pro forma sessions. The Senate is officially scheduled to get back to business on Wednesday. Most members don't expect much in the way of meaningful work until the following week, however.

Plenty awaits them. During the past week alone President Johnson sent Congress four messages with proposals on higher education, consumer protection, crime, and foreign aid. The week before he submitted one on veterans.

Few members are taking seriously forecasts by leaders of both parties that the 90th Congress will be able to quit by Aug. 1 so that Democrats and Republicans can attend their conventions that month.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Rejection Bared

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Philip Blaiberg suffered "an episode of rejection" against his transplanted heart recently but the situation is under control, his surgeon said today.

Dr. Christiaan Barnard did not give details of the rejection except to say it occurred sometime before he returned yesterday from a trip to Europe.

Doctor Shortage

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) —A shortage of doctors and nurses in Africa has become critical, an emergency report by Dr. Alfred Quenum, regional director for Africa of the World Health Organization, said today. He said the main problem is that Africans trained to be doctors and nurses are leaving their native countries.

Atoms For Hungary

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Hungary's first nuclear power plant will be built beside the Danube at Paks, about 60 miles south of Budapest, the news agency MTI said today.

Iraqi In Paris

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle and President Abdul Rahman Aref of Iraq today were holding their third private meeting before calling in their aides to help draw up specific provisions of a Franco-Iraqi friendship document. The document was expected to include French oil exploitation rights in the rich Iraqi oil fields.

Napalm Protests

EDINBERGH, Scotland (UPI) —Authorities today held 14 persons who demonstrated against a Scottish firm because the company is supplied by Dow Chemical of the United States. The demonstrators said they oppose Dow's making napalm for use in Vietnam.

DINNER RULE BROKEN

British Leader Asks No More Escalation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, guest of honor at a White House state dinner, dramatically broke precedent yesterday and in forceful terms admonished President Johnson not to heed "impatient and exasperated demands" for stepped-up fighting in Vietnam.

Wilson unexpectedly turned the customary after dinner speech into a major off-the-cuff policy statement, telling the President force will not end the conflict and military might can never impose a just or durable settlement.

URGES PARLEY

"The events of these past few days have underlined that," he told the black-tie gathering of Cabinet members congressmen and other offiicials. "There can be no solution before men meet around the conference table determined to get peace."

Wilson, neither condemning nor endorsing U.S. policy in the war, tempered a tart summation of "the critical situation in Vietnam" with praise for Johnson's handling of the Pueblo incident and expressions of confidence the President would make the right decisions.

He said he believed "the road to peace was fairly charted" by Johnson in negotiation proposals the President put forth at San Antonio, Tex., last September.

BOMBING HALT

That formula, as subsequently expanded by U.S. officials declared U.S. willingness to halt the bombing of North Vietnam and begin negotiations if Hanoi indicated they would be productive and the bombing pause would not be used to enlarge Communist military operations.

Wilson said he spelled out the meaning of the San Antonio formula to Russian leaders during his Moscow visit two weeks ago and he was convinced they fully understood its terms.

The prime minister spoke without notes in the state dining room of the White House, developing his theme with eloquence that drew an admiring "excellent" from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The events of the last 10 days in South Vietnam, Wilson said, "brought home to millions far from the confict the indescribable horror and agony this war is bringing to a people for whom peace has been a stranger for a generation.

'TO SHOW RESTRAINT'

Before dinner Johnson, in a toast to Queen Elizabeth, told Wilson "we have our family differences, and yet Britain means as much to us as she ever meant...the American people are backing Britain."

Johnson excused himself from the entertainment following dinner after bidding Wilson goodnight.

"I hate to leave, but I've got to go to Khe Sanh," he said.

Volkswagen's automatic stick shift.
It's easier to use than it is to say.

It's quite a mouthful, isn't it?
But once you get by the name, the rest is easy.
There isn't a clutch pedal to contend with.
And for all practical purposes, you can drive everywhere without shifting.
On the highway, you shift once. (This is like an overdrive: you go faster, your engine goes slower, and your automatic bug won't turn into an automatic hog.)
And when the going gets rough (like up a ridiculously steep hill), you can shift into low.
What could be simpler?
One thing: the automatic stick shift is an option.
So you'll have to pay a little more.

State Keeps Jump Ahead On Smog

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A legislative committee has taken a step toward keeping California one jump ahead of the federal government in setting standards for smog control.

The Assembly Transportation and Commerce Committee yesterday approved a proposal that would insure California's authority to set higher standards than proposed by the government.

Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, said his measure was "strictly stopgap." He said provisions permit the state to exempt itself from standards in the new federal clean air bill.

Hayes said another comprehensive anti - smob gill pending in the legislature eliminates the need for his measure and empowers the state resource board to set California standards as it deems necessary.

The lawmaker said his proposal was prompted by testimony at a recent federal hearing in San Francisco. He said witnesses said California's current law contains exemption loopholes.

The measure went to the Ways and Means Committee for further consideration.

At a meeting of the Resources Board earlier yesterday, Hayes said the survival of Californians could depend on how strenuously the agency enforces the law.

Governor Offers Property Tax Cut

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has spelled out a key feature of his tax reform program — $155 million in sales tax revenue to counties to use for local property tax relief, if they wish.

The governor said yesterday he would present early next week legislation to give the 58 counties ½ cent of the state 5-cents sales tax.

STRING ATTACHED

But tied to the sales tax revenue provision is a requirement the counties must give up "small subventions that are now being paid to them by the state." Reagan did not specify just which state aid programs to counties would be abandoned.

Sources said there was no provision in the administration bill forcing the counties to apply the sales tax revenue to lower property levies.

ANSWERS DEMOS

Reagan hastily disclosed the outline of his tax reform measure after Democrats called a news conference to say they won't accept any tax reform that is "a smoke screen for another massive tax increase."

The Democratic caucus also called for a "crackdown on tax dodgers," if not by withholding, then by some other means.

Reagan's proposed $5.7 billion budget for the coming fiscal year proposes no increases in taxes but the Republican governor says his "feet are set in concrete" against withholding of personal income tax.

Assemblyman Winfield Shoemaker, D-Lompoc, chairman of the Assembly Democratic caucus, said lower house Democrats unanimously approved tax guidelines including no sales tax on food, fair distribution of the tax burden, a flexible revenue program that will grow with the state and property tax relief.

WITHHOLDING URGED

"We feel withholding is necessary to cut out tax cheats," Shoemaker said. But he added, "our feet are not set in concrete."

Reagan said ending some of the small state - aid programs would improve financial management of both state and counties by reducing administration costs.

Local programs partially supported by state funds included in the proposed budget are crippled children's services, tuberculosis sanitariums, juvenile camps, public defenders offices, veterans services offices and schools operated in juvenile institutions.

Divorce Laws Revamps Now In Legislature

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Legislation designed to make divorce property settlement and alimony more equitable was before the Assembly today.

Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, yesterday offered the measure which would revise divorce laws and provide grounds for divorce — incurable insanity, felony conviction and irreconcilable differences.

Hayes explained irreconcilable differences would be similar to the present grounds of extreme cruelty, which he described as a "harsh term."

The proposal would also direct courts to consider economic circumstances of both parties when ordering alimony and a property settlement.

"Community property would be divided equally between the two parties, except when economic circumstances indicate an equal division would not be feasible or fair," Hayes said.

The lawmaker said court battles over settlements would be eliminated because his bill would require the right of alimony determined by both persons' financial ability and the length of the marriage.

Gibes At A Fat Boy Turn Into Tragedy

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — Police say a chubby high school boy left a note for his father that he couldn't "take the ridicule" at school and then hanged himself with a necktie.

Marin Might Get $1.6 Million

Marin County could expect a $1,659,000 return of taxes and a possible 30-cent reduction in its tax rate, if the Legislature approves a tax-relief program endorsed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who estimated the return to the county, said it should lower the tax rate to $2 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The program, recommended by the County Supervisors Association of California, calls for allocating one half-cent of state sales taxes to counties for property tax relief.

Auto Hits Fence, Injures Motorist

A Marin City man was treated for cuts and bruises at Marin General Hospital yesterday when his car took a wild ride in Kentfield on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard west of Laurel Grove Avenue.

The westbound car, driven by Norman J. Gray, 38, of 39 Cole Drive, Marin City, swerved onto the sidewalk and hit a stone fence at 814 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, at 11:05 p.m., according to the California Highway Patrol.

Woman Booked On Shoplifting Count

Cheryl Lee Watson, 24, of 19 M'Lisse Lane, San Rafael, was booked in Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of shoplifting a roll of fabric and three swimsuits worth $217 from the Emporium, Northgate.

She was released on $315 bail pending a hearing in Marin Municipal Court today.

Mosquito Board Maps Attack On Marsh Pest

Aedes Squamiger is making a return visit to San Rafael after being away for many years.

The pesty winter salt marsh mosquito has reappeared in marshes east and south of the city, and Marin County Mosquito Abatement District agreed last night to give it a rough welcome.

Control measures are under way to kill the skeeters' aquatic stages before the adult pest emerges from the marshes.

The board created a five man salary committee to investigate the salaries of abatement personnnel and it will report at the April meeting of trustees.

Brothers Due Scout Medal At Church

Two brothers will receive the God and Country Award in scouting at 11 a.m. Sunday at a ceremony conducted in Bethel Baptist Church, Novato by the Rev. Gerald S. Moyer.

Mark Wolfe, 15, and Eric, 13, have been studying for a year and a half for the award.

Both boys started scouting together two years ago. Mark, a sophomore at Novato High School, is a Life Scout with 17 merit badges. Eric, in the eighth grade at Hill Junior High School, is also a Life Scout with 10 merit badges. Both belong to Troop 200 sponsored by the Bethel Baptist Church.

Both intend to become Eagle Scouts, but it will have to be in Chicago were their father has been transfered with the Ford Motor Co. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wolfe of 15 Eames Court, Novato.

The boys won the awards for their outstanding church work and civic activities. Reverend Moyer said that their studies for the award include studies on the work of the church, the church's mission program and the youth program of the church.

FBI Arrests Bonds Suspect

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI today arrested Alan Irving Segal, 44, of Oceanside, N.Y., in connection with the theft of $488,732 in securities from a Los Angeles brokerage firm.

Two young secretaries later found murdered in a creek near Hollywood, Fla., had been employed by the firm at the time of the theft.

Florida police said the two women, slain in what became known as the "whisky creek" murders, had been suspects in the theft.

Segal, a night club operator and stock broker, was arrested on a bench warrant. An indictment was handed up earlier today in federal court here.

He was charged with unlawfully disposing of securities having a value of more than $500,000.

The FBI said the securities were stolen in November 1967 from the firm of Rutner, Jackson and Gray in Los Angeles.

John F. Malone, assistant director of the FBI in charge of the New York office, said Segal was arrested this afternoon. He was to be arraigned later.

Segal's apprehension is the second arrest the FBI has made in New York City in this case.

Two Queens Make Hive Extra Thrifty

MADISON (SS) — A hive with two queens produces more than twice as much honey as an ordinary single-queen colony, according to specialists at the University of Wisconsin.

Under intensive management, they find a single-queen colony can average about 150 to 200 pounds of honey a season, while a double-queen colony can average 500 to 700 pounds. Not only is honey produce more efficiently, but the larger colonies are more resistant to nosema, a bee parasite disease, and survive winters more successfully. The scientists conceded, however, that two queen bees make the colony harder to manage.

Alioto Reports Gains In Newspaper Parleys

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If Mayor Joseph Alioto has his way, he'll be reading the Sunday comics over a cup of coffee soon instead of into a microphone.

Alioto, who has read the comics to a radio audience each Sunday since the city's newspaper strike began 35 days ago, said yesterday he is confident of a settlement "within a couple of days."

His optimism was based on the clearance of two major obstacles which had bogged down earlier negotiations. The new developments were:

An agreement by both union and management representatives for negotiations with a mediator, as proposed by the mayor.

An agreement by the 15 unions involved in the strike to have a common expiration date for their respective contracts.

The Jan. 5 strike by 160 members of the Mailers Union Local 18 idled 3,000 employees and shut down the morning Chronicle and afternoon Examiner, both printed by the San Francisco Newspaper Printing Co.

Alioto, who named attorney Sam Kagel of San Francisco as his mediator, said the agreement pertaining to a common expiration date was the most difficult to reach.

"The publishers told me they didn't want to settle one strike and then face another," he said. "But they said they would resume negotiations if the unions agreed to a stipulation on the same date for contract expiration."

Alioto said a meeting he had called for Monday between the warring sides was no longer necessary.

"I am satisfied that with the roadblock now cleared, only economic problems remain to be solved," Alioto said.

Heart Transplants Never Will Become A Routine

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Transplantation of human hearts won't be commonplace for a long time. Its headline-making days are numbered, however, if by nothing else than the fact that the world's first such operation was followed with such alacrity by four others.

Dr. Christiaan Barnard of Cape Town surprised the lay community, but not his peers, by performing the first transfer of a human heart from one body to another, on Dec. 3. Within the space of 40 days and 40 nights two other surgeons had performed similar procedures, and several surgical teams announced that only a lack of matched donors and recipients held them back.

Any seeming coincidence in all this activity is less than coincidental, however. The fact is that chance was the prime factor in deciding which surgeon out of a small but communicative group — "the transplant club" — would do the first actual surgery. Dr. Barnard, in fact, came down to the wire before Dr. Norman E. Shumway of Stanford University, the man whose technique he used in his operation (and with whom he studied at the University of Minnesota).

Dr. Richard R. Lower of the Medical College of Virginia worked with Dr. Shumway to develop the technique, was Barnard's instructor in this technique for three and a half months last winter, yet has still to do his first transplant.

The surgical teams led by Drs. Shumway, Barnard, and Lower are three out of eight teams generally conceded by the medical profession to be able to perform a cardiac transplant. These three have worked with one another extensively. There is evidence, however, that all members of the club have communicated their thoughts and the results of their work to one another, as is customary among workers in any highly specialized, fast-developing discipline.

One team which has announced its readiness to perform a transplant is headed by Dr. James D. Hardy at the University of Mississippi in Jackson. Dr. Hardy's team, in fact, put the first replacement heart in a human body in January, 1964.

He is only nudged out of the current sweepstakes by the fact that he used a chimpanzee's heart. The heart proved too small to sustain an adult human even long enough for a more suitable human donor to appear, and the patient died after two hours. Similar overpowering of a small heart by a large body is blamed in the death of the second patient operated on by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz of Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn.

The club includes:

Dr. Barnard, whose second patient is doing well (the first died of pneumonia).

Dr. Shumway, whose first and only patient is battling liver and kidney ailments unallied with the transplant.

Dr. Kantrowitz, whose first two transplant patients died hours after surgery.

Dr. Lower, reputed to be unwilling to operate unless he is quite confident of the outcome.

Dr. Hardy, who also performed the first human lung transplant in 1963.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, chairman of the Department of Surgery at the Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston. He is credited with being able to do a transplant procedure, but so far has spoken cautiously on hte subject.

A team at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Oklahoma City, under the leadership of Dr. Nazih M. Zudhi. The team is reputably credited with preparing for a possible transplant opportunity. The hospital refuses comment.

A team at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver, Dr. S. Gilbert Blount Jr., head of the center and himself a cardiologist, said the team should be ready to perform a transplant by spring.

Thailand Army Is Put On Alert

they injected it into their bloodstreams," he said.

Instead of a new high, they suffered vomiting, diarrhea, dehydration and low blood pressure.

"There signs of kidney damage and I still don't know what condition their kidneys are in," said Dr. Nutting.

"It was a stupid thing for them to do. They took a chance with their lives and all we can hope is that no one else has the same idea," he said.

The boys were brought to the hospital late Tuesday night and it was thought they had influenza until they admitted what they had done, said hospital officials.

Clemons, questioned yesterday by Corte Madera Police Chief Frank L. Nelson, said the injections were done at a party in Fairfax Tuesday.

The unemployed youth refused to tell police where they party was held or who else, besides his three companions, were there.

Infant Studies Finding Roots Of Problems

NEW YORK (SS) — For the past several years psychiatrists have been focusing on infant life, searching for the roots of delinquency, retardation, neurosis, and severe forms of mental illness.

This painstaking observation of infant behavior is now bearing fruit. Although the causes of adult abnormalities are far from simple, an infant does give warning signals when he is heading for later trouble. Even many seemingly normal infants give signals that they belong to a risk category.

The warning signals include mild defects in hearing, coordination, or vision, and problems with elimination or sleep, high sensitivity, and proneness to illness.

None of these fild defects, which often occur in apparently normal babies, is dangerous in itself. But several in combination or in addition to a difficult environment may signify that a child is vulnerable to later troubles — whether it be criminality, retardation or emotional illness.

Ideally, says Dr. Reginal Lourie, child psychiatrist at the Children's Hospital in Washington, every child in the country should be screened in terms of a vulnerability index. From this could be developed a prescription for intervention by doctors or therapists in the very early years of life, says Dr. Lourie.

"We have the thinking that makes such intervention possible," he declares, suggesting that parent-child centers could be established to give the child what he needs, whether simple exercise or visual training or a course for the parents on showing affection.

Dr. Lourie also has a vulnerability index developed by Dr. Lois Murphy of the Menninger Foundation in Topeka; the index will be published next month in a book "New Prospectives in Early Child Care" which Dr. Lourie helped edit.

Dr. Lourie was one of four psychoanalysts who met in a symposium on child development at a recent session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The analysts offered evidence that a series of minor defects — none important by itself — can so interfere with a child's well-being that he develops ego defects leading to later neurosis.

For example, Dr. Murphy's recent study of middle class children revealed that half of them showed some disruption in physiological or sensory functions. These were ordinary variations on the norm, but in their extreme form could be related to irritability in the infants and depression or hostility in the older child.

Dr. Lourie said the vulnerability evidence is already being used in government poverty programs, which have been setting up new parent-child centers.

Dope Raiders Nab 40 Teens In Woodside

WOODSIDE (UPI) — More than 40 teen-agers at fashionable Woodside High School were rounded up today in a narcotics raid by San Mateo County sheriff's officers.

The teen-agers, including several girls, ranged in age from 13 to 18. Most were cited to Juvenile Court but were not taken into custody while others were referred to juvenile officers for further investigation.

Capt. Eugene E. Stewart said his investigators were only "scratching the surface" and believed as many as a third of the school's 2,000 students were involved with narcotics.

He said there were no cases of heroin. Most of the students, he said, were cited in connection with marijuana and barbiturate drugs.

The raid followed the arrest of two suspected suppliers, Paul Lindt, 22, Redwood City, and Larry Jarman, 22, Palo Alto. They were accused of possession and sale of narcotics to minors.

taxi the aircraft but at 3:45 p.m., the message from Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, arrived. It said:

"Don't let the plane leave. Use tear gas."

Tear gas was tossed into the vacated passenger compartment and the doors were sealed. The passenger loading steps were wheeled to the cockpit windows with armed air policemen on top of the steps.

The flight engineer said, "I knew then we had forced his hand. He had to shoot us or let us go."

Archer said, "I got up and said I had to stretch. He (Clark) tried to look by me out the window. I grabbed his hand, pushed it against the wall, and the pistol fell."

TOMALES

Sonoma representatives present, reported Superintendent Hollis.

Elementary school districts in Tomales High School District are the Bodega Bay and Watson districts in Sonoma County, with Watson scheduled to hold an election in April on dissolving and annexing to Bodega Bay, and the Tomales Bay, West Marin and Point Reyes districts in Marin County. The Point Reyes District will go out of existence June 30, having voted to annex to West Marin.

A previous election to unify "by the back door" by combining the elementary districts into one was defeated two years ago by 11 voters in the West Marin district.

The unification vote, however, will not require district-by-district approval, but merely a majority in the total vote. Superintendent Hollis today forecast success.

The county committee on school district organization will discuss the election campaign at its meeting next Wednesday night.

Unification would mean that a single board would govern all schools in the area.

The Tomales unification was one of three approved by the state board yesterday. In another, the board approved a plan which would split the Antelope Valley High School District in Los Angeles County between two unified districts. This was a departure from past practice in which dividing high school districts has been regarded as contrary to unification principles. The legislature last year laid down new guidelines to rule out this as a sole reason for turning down unification plans.

ABAG

County turned his entire staff loose on the case.

Mayer said Truax vanished Friday so suddenly that his school-teacher wife, Sherri, was unaware of it.

By noon yesterday $200,000 was discovered missing from ABAG's funds. By 4 p.m. the figure approached $400,000. This morning it had reached $510,000.

One of the incoming checks, $61,793 from the U.S. Treasury on Dec. 5, 1967, led to a federal charge against the young assistant.

On Nov. 13, Carlson reported, three checks totaling $85,000 were deposited in the ABAG account. The same day two personal checks bearing the Thompson signature were made out to Ceasar's Palace in Las Vegas.

Carlson said that during his own investigation he never suspected gambling. He said that came to light when the attorney general's office checked phone calls from Truax's home and found a series of calls to Las Vegas and to Arcadia, site of Santa Anita race track.

Then the search began in earnest for hidden bank accounts. Carlson's own efforts had uncovered many suspicious things, but only one Thompson Enterprise bank account.

The television reporter said he thought that the double-identity was perhaps to screen a possible leak in information to real estate speculators of advance regional planning by ABAG.

He said all were in Oakland, or in Berkeley where Truax lived.

DR. R. H. SMART

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Reginald H. Smart, 64, a recognized authority on chest diseases, has died at Good Samaritan Hospital of cancer.

Dr. Smart, who died Wednesday, was developer of a tuberculosis prevention program used in the Los Angeles City schools. He formerly was chairman of Good Samaritan's medical staff and chairman of the "Sabin on Sunday" program that immunized 3.5 million persons in Los Angeles against polio in 1963 and 1964.

He also served as clinical professor of medicine at the University of Southern California.

He is survived by his widow Rita, his mother, Mrs. Grace Smart of Minot, N. D., a son Gary of San Francisco and a daughter Mrs. Alana R. Manzer of San Diego.

WILLIAM WEEKS

Funeral for William W. Weeks, a former Marin County contractor, will be held at Ted Keech's Santa Clara Funeral Home, Santa Clara, at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Weeks, 51, died tuesday at a hospital in Palo Alto after suffering a heart attack. He was building inspector for Santa Clara County.

He was a former resident of San Rafael and a past president of the Marin Golf and Country Club.

Weeks, a native of Wisconsin, was a member of Hennepin Lodge No. 4, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, Minneapolis, Minn., and a member of Islam Shrine Temple, San Francisco.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Rickert of Janesville, Wisc., his mother, Mrs. Harriet Weeks, St. Paul, Minn., and a sister Mrs. Virginia Melberg, Minn.

Inurnment will be private.

Lindsay Rejects Pact As Garbage Piles Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay today rejected as too costly a solution to end a garbage collectors' strike and the city health commissioner warned that if the refuse is not picked up immediately New York may reach a "state of imminent peril in a few days."

Lindsay rejected the proposal worked out by a five-man emergency panel formed last night by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in an effort to end the week-long strike that has left some 80,000 tons of garbage on sidewalks and streets.

PACT VOTED

Representatives of the 10,000-member Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association voted to accept the proposal.

In announcing his decision, the mayor again asked for National Guard help to clear the waste. However, Rockefeller said this morning, "I don't think it's necessary at this time," and urged Lindsay to reconsider his rejection of the proposal.

A spokesman for Lindsay said later, "the mayor stands on his staement of early this morning. There is nothing to consider and the garbage situation is getting rapidly worse."

ILLNESS THREAT

Edward O'Rourke, city health commissioner, said the "perilous stage" may show itself with "people getting ill from typhoid fever, dysentery, infectious hepatitis, or bitten by rats."

A state of imminent peril is one step more critical than the "health emergency" declared by Lindsay yesterday.

O'Rourke, speaking after the regular weekly cabinet meeting, backed the mayor's call for the use of National Guardsmen.

"Even if they started today, it might take nine days to two weeks before this garbage can be picked up," O'Rourke said.

SEWERS PLUGGED

He said Eugene Hult, city public works commissioner told the meeting, which Lindsay did not attend, that garbage was backing up in the city's sewers. This situation, O'Rourke said, could lead to an outbreak of disease. He said the city probably won't have a large increase in the rat population "at least for a few days" because the cold weather keeps rats in abeyance.

Firecracker Play Sets $2,000 Blaze

Boys playing with firecrackers set a fire yesterday on the back porch of a Mill Valley home which spread to the kitchen and roof and caused about $2,000 damage to the one-story dwelling.

There was also extensive smoke damage to the house, residence of Mrs. Annette King of 65 Lovell Avenue, firemen said.

Warehouse Watch Nabs A Suspect

A police and security officer stakeout at the Montgomery Ward and Co. warehouse, 201 Tamal Vista Drive, Corte Madera, last night netted a 20-year-old janitor booked for investigation of burglary.

Officers said items have been disappearing from the warehouse, which share the building with the Marin County Superintendent of Schools offices, for several weeks.

They said they observed a man later identified as John Franklin Pierce, a custodian for the school offices, insert a filed knifeblade in a connecting hallway door, then enter the warehouse about 11:10 p.m.

Using a small flashlight, they said, he went to a small set of bureau drawers, picked them up, and was leaving with them when arrested.

Officers said they accompanied Pierce to his apartment at 25 Willow Avenue, Corte Madera, where about $800 worth of other loot including a new high-powered rifle was recovered.

Pierce, whose bail at county jail has not been set this morning, was hired as janitor last May.

Sanitary Board Member Quits In Las Gallinas

Director Charles R. Matthews resigned from the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board of directors last night because his job will take him out of the country.

Mrs. Helen Foulkes, district secretary, said anyone interested in joining the board of directors should submit applications by letter by Feb. 26.

The directors set an adjourned meeting for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 27 at 300 Smith Ranch Road to receive the applications and to set up interviews for prospective candidates. That night, the directors will also discuss a proposed raise in salary for directors, from the present $25 per meeting to $40. Since Director Sesto Lucchi was absent, the other members put off discussion on the pay last night.

Directors also approved an application for annexation for a four-acre parcel of land, known as the Clayton property, off Ranchitos Road near North San Pedro Road. The application will go to the Local Agency Formation Commission for approval.

Churchmen Back Anti-War Stand

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Southern California Council of Churches was on record today in support of young men who oppose military service in Vietnam on the grounds of conscience.

The council's general board approved a 350-word resolution yesterday urging Congress to amend the Selective Service Act to allow for "selective" conscientious objection.

The statement said young men facing the draft have "an impossible choice" between "violation of law or violation of conscience."

Hub Chamber Critical Of New Traffic Flow

Members said although the early morning traffic is satisfactory, the timing of traffic lights the rest of the day is too slow. The board decided to present this view at the 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday of the city council to see if a solution can be reached, President William Franchini said.

Waterways Talk

Col. Frank C. Boerger, San Francisco district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, will speak on "Waterways" at a dinner meeting of Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., at Clay's Farm House Inn, Olema.

Eastern Railroad Lines Move Food, War Goods

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only a limited amount of perishables and some military supplies were being moved on three major railroads today as a strike by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen entered its fourth day.

Spokesmen for the Missouri Pacific (MOPAC) said the carrier had received reports of sabotage from widely separated points along its 12,000 miles of track.

W. Thomas Rice, president of the Seaboard Coast Line, said the coal supply for 12 power plants along its route is in jeopardy and that congestion at 17 Atlantic Coast ports served by the railroad "is mounting at tremendous rate."

The third carrier is the Texas & Pacific, a subsidiary of MOPAC.

The threat of a strike against a fourth road, Union Pacific, was halted yesterday fy a federal court restraining order issued at Lincoln, Neb., ordering negotiations before any walkout.

The strike is over an old issue —size of crews for freight trains. Management contends only two men are needed, that any more amounts to featherbedding. The union argues that a minimum of three is necessary to operate safely.

The subject was settled by arbitration in 1964, permitting the roads to eliminate one man from the three man crews of certain freight trains and yard crews. The award was binding only for two years.

AFTER A YEAR

Arm Sewn Back On; It Works

ARM REPLACED—Mrs. Georgia Ann White of Los Angeles, demonstrates working of right forearm severed 13 months ago in an auto accident and replaced in an eight-hour operation. (AP Wirephoto)

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Georgia Ann White, 43, had her right arm severed just below the elbow more than a year ago in an automobile accident.

Yesterday, she signed her name using the arm that surgeons at the county general hospital had sewn back on during an eight hour operation following the Dec. 18, 1966 accident.

After months of physical therapy Mrs. White now can clasp and unclasp her fist and perform simple household chores with the aid of devices designed for her. She signed her name using a special device to grasp the pen.

Dr. J. Paul Harvey, who headed the team of doctors that reunified the limb said "the arm is probably equal in function to an artificial arm and looks sound. She is doing very well."

Mrs. White said now that her arm is strong enough to do light work she may seek employment. She plans to take special training for a job as a telephone operator.

Fire Board Sets Drainage Talks

A special meeting will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow by directors of the Tiburon Fire District to discuss a contract for paving and diking around the main firehouse on Tiburon Boulevard

Directors will meet at the firehouse with engineer Philip A. Lygren, hired to design the concrete work which will be coordinated with a sidewalk to be built along part of Tiburon Boulevard by the city.

Chief Franklin J. Buscher said today the meeting is to determine whether or not the district should also hire Ghilotti Bros. Inc. of San Rafael, the contractor who will construct the city sidewalk.

Joins The Protest Against Tax Report

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Merchants of Catamarca, one of Argentina's 22 provinces, don't like paying their taxes any more than anybody else—and maybe even less so.

A recent national tax investigation showed that only about 6 per cent of the people were filling out their sales tax forms without cheating

No Tax Hike In Offing, Larkspur Board Told

The Larkspur School District Board last night agreed that although additional building facilities and teachers are needed next year, the proposed 1968-69 budget will not call for a higher district tax rate.

EXTRA SUBVENTIONS

Superintendent Milton S. Cohen said additional state money and federal grants will make it possible to stay within this year's rate of $3.40 per $100 assessed valuation.

He said at least four new teachers must be hired for next year. The planned budget will continue to be studied by the board until it is completed May 9, he said.

The board also heard a salary increase request for next year from Mrs. Igor Lobanov, representing the County Substitute Teachers Association, and a request for health and dental benefits from the Larkspur Teachers' Association for next year. No action was taken on either request.

ENVOY NAMED

Mrs. Cornelia Perrone was named to serve as the district's legislative representative to the California School Boards Association, and Mrs. Catherine Schengel was hired to replace Claire Mosconi, now on leave of absence, as sixth grade teacher at Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

Cohen reported that the district received $14,791 in additional federal money to purchase instructional materials and equipment for this year.

The board adopted next year's calendar, calling for 178 days of instruction beginning Sept. 10.

A resolution of gratitude and respect to the late John R. Cunningham, who served as district board member from 1958 until his death, Feb. 2 was passed by the board.

Dairy Products Ideas Exchanged

FRESNO (UPI) — Members of the American Dairy Association of California discussed ways to meet competition by promoting dairy products on a non-brand basis at their annual meeting which ended here yesterday.

The association also elected new officers. Named were Orlen Christiansen, Loleta, president; Norman Larson, Bakersfield, vice president; William Ulm, Modesto, secretary, and Floris Ykema, Chino, treasurer.

New executive committee members are Carl Hensen, Chowchilla; Hugh Good, Escondido, and James Van Till, Ripon.

Youngster's Coin Collection Looted

Someone took $31.51 from a coin collection belonging to Steven M. Chodes, his mother, Mrs. Louise P. Chodes of 9 Germaine Place Novato, reported to Novato police.

The theft occurred sometime between Christmas and Wednesday, she said. The collection was kept in a drawer in his bedroom, according to police reports.

Crane Crash On Freeway Causes 30-Mile-Long Snarl

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A large crane skidded out of control early today on the San Bernardino Freeway and crashed into a concrete support for a pedestrian overcrossing, causing a traffic jam that backed up cars nearly 30 miles.

Officers said the support collapsed and the crane then slammed into a chain link fence, ripping out more than 250-feet of the barrier and spreading it across the westbound lanes and presenting a hazard to rush-hour traffic. A few minutes later a car hit the string of fence and crashed into the trailer that had been carrying the crane.

Shortly after the accident, California Highway Patrolmen arrived on the scene to direct traffic onto surface streets.

Both directions of the freeway were shut down when authorities determined that constant vibration from passing cars might cause the already weakened bridge to collapse.

Police said the freeway may be closed down all day, while Division of Highway engineers survey the damage and possible means of repairing it.

The bridge, which spans nearly 100 feet, is located at Evergreen Avenue, in the City Terrace area about three miles from the Los Angeles Civic Center.

Crane driver Charles Neeley and the driver oer of the car, Ronald Crouss, both escaped serious injury.

The immense backup caused at least one other accident when another motorist tried slowing for the jam but skidded into the center divider and overturned.

Zoo Storing Up Animal Tissues

ST. LOUIS (SS) — Are you in need of a slice of frozen lion's heart? Are you driven up the wall by your lack of chimpanzee's optical nerve? Are you poor in giraffe's arteries? Simply apply to the St. Louis zoo.

There an Exotic Animal Tissue Bank has been set up to preserve tissues from foreign animals such as giraffes, lions, and gorillas that have died in captivity.

The bank has been in operation for a year at the Center for the Biology of Natural Systems at the St. Louis Zoological Park. At present, more than 1,00 individual specimens are available to researchers wishing, for instance, to compare normal or abnormal heart muscles of monkeys or lions. With each specimen mailed, a brief history is provided on species, sex, treatment given and causes of death.

Pilot Boom Is Forecast

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—U.S. airlines will need 37,000 new pilots in the next 13 years, according to a study at Stanford's Graduate School of Business.

Dr. D. Clay Whybark, in a doctoral thesis forecasting aviation needs, claims the airlines also will have to hire 95,000 new mechanics over the next period. In completing his study, Whybark worked out a computer program into which he fed factors such as size and speed of the airplanes, demand for seats, present staffing and projected retirements.

Vietnam War Abuses Hit By Red Cross

GENEVA (UPI)—The International Committee of the Red Cross today denounced the "inhuman acts" it said were being committed by both sides in Vietnam.

The committee, guardian of the Geneva War Conventions, demanded the belligerents "observe the basic rules of humanity."

PROTESTS ATTACKS

It protested particularly against civilians being subjected to aerial attacks and summary executions, torture and reprisals.

To give its statement extra weight the committee sent a spokesman to read it aloud to Geneva newsmen. The statement did not cite single incidents and mentioned no country or fighting force by name.

CITES QUERIES

The committee said it made its statement because it is constantly questioned about press descriptions of "the inhuman acts committed amidst the fighting currently raging in Vietnam."

It said humane rules "demand that the lives of those captured in combat be spared, that the wounded, sick and those giving medical care be respected.

"Civilian populations must equally be spared and in no circumstances be subject to aerial attack," it said. "...all parties involved in the conflict shall abstain from summary executions, torture and reprisals."

Bison numbered 60 million in North America before hunters nearly exterminated them in the 1800s. Under protection, bison herds have now increased to 23,000 animals.

Mishap Suit Costs Bank $225,000

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A $225,000 jury verdict was awarded last night against the Bank of America because of an accident involving the chauffeur of the bank's president, Rudolph Peterson.

The plaintiff, Lawrence Carroll, 65, an insurance broker, suffered a fractured leg which failed to heal properly when he was struck in a pedestrian crosswalk in San Francisco in 1965 by a limousine driven by Fred Boerama. Peterson was not in the car.

Carroll has since been required to wear a steel brace and use a crutch.

Two years after the accident, surgeons implaced an artificial aorta in Carroll's heart. His three daughters, all nuns, testified they believed the heart trouble was caused by mental stress resulting from the accident.

would set up his headquarters in Phu Bai, north of Da Nang.

No major enemy activity was reported today in the Khe Sanh area, where U.S. commanders expect the biggest North Vietnamese push of the war in an attempt to seize South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces. But the U.S. Command in a delayed report told of the sighting yesterday of more North Vietnamese tanks, which made their first appearance in the war in the capture of the Lang Vei Special Forces camp west of Khe Sanh Wednesday.

Meanwhile, President Nguyen Van Thieu decreed a mobilization draft of students, civil servants and veterans to meet the Communist city offensive.

He also urged continued bombing of North Vietnam and "increased punishment of the Communist aggressors."

In a speech today to the South Vietnamese National Assembly Thieu asked for a year of special economic powers in addition to the widened draft to help combat the guerrilla threat shown in attacks on 44 cities.

Thieu's eyes glistened with tears when he told the assembly that guerrillas killed members of the families of 1,000 government militiamen. The soldier's wives and children were a special target of the Communists.

He said 3,071 civilians were killed and 7,945 wounded in nine days of fighting.

Collegiate Plan Graduate Study

STANFORD (UPI) — Half the freshmen who entered American universities this fall plan to continue their education beyond a baccalaureate degree, according to a survey by the American Council on Education.

When asked what education objectives they consider essential, about 90 per cent mentioned "developing a philosophy on life." Three out of four want to become authorities in their fields, and more than half want to help others in difficulty.

A majority wants to keep up with political affairs, even though one-third believes an individual cannot change society. One in six says he participated in demonstrations during the past year.

A Lot Of Salt From Texas Well

ESTELLINE, Tex. (UPI)—Skin divers have gone down 125 feet in attempts to find the bottom of a salt spring near this community in the Texas Panhandle.

The deep spring is three times as salty as sea water. It has been flowing 2.6 million gallons of water daily, yielding 308 tons of salt a day.

Dentistry Units Put On Wheels

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The University of California's San Francisco Medical Center is now operating three mobile dental clinics to increase their services to the poor, orphanages and schools for the blind and deaf.

The university added two new buses this fall. The first bus, in its initial three years of operation, treated 3,000 persons. Although primarily equipped for dental examinations, the mobile clinics can also be used for ear, eye, nose and throat examinations. The buses are staffed by faculty and student volunteers from the U.C. School of Dentistry.

Hanoi Lays Down New Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Johnson Administration officials are studying another North Vietnamese peace talk formula but they seem likely to pronounce the new statement by Hanoi's foreign minister Nguyen Duy Trinh as not particularly encouraging.

In an interview with the French news agency yesterday, Trinh brought a further clarification as to what Hanoi had in mind if ever its negotiators sat down to talk with U.S. envoys.

But it was clear from the French text of Trinh's statement, which has been obtained here, that North Vietnam still demands an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing raids and still holds to its basic positions on the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam and the recognition of the Viet Cong's political program as the basis for a negotiated solution.

The State Department maintained an official silence on Trinh's latest statement pending evaluation.

The primary refinement Trinh appeared to make on Hanoi's position was this:

For the first time he clearly spelled out that if and when U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators meet they can deal directly "with the settlement of the Vietnam problem" and should give due consideration to the proposals of both sides.

Previously, Hanoi had left the impression that even if talks were held they would probably become mere preparatory discussions for full peace negotiations at a later date and would run the risk of dragging on endlessly without settling the crucial issue of war or peace.

But, Trinh ridiculed President Johnson's much-cited San Antonio formula as "the theme of the conditional halt of the bombings."

Said Trinh: "It is evident that the United States does not seriously want to carry out talks to settle the Vietnam problem. It must be held responsible for its own obstinacy."

Police, Negroes Clash, Three Die

ORANGEBURG, S. C. (AP) — Negro students exchanged gunfire with police last night in the fourth night of violence on two adjacent college campuses. Three Negro teen-agers were killed and more than 40 persons wounded.

The shooting incidents came during a drive by students from the two predominantly Negro schools to break the segregation barrier at the All-Star Bowling lanes.

Henry Smith, 18, a student at South Carolina State College, died several hours after a barrage of gunfire broke out between students and police on a small slope bordering the State campus along U.S. 601. One student was reported in critical condition.

STUDENT KILLED

Sam Hammon, 18, was killed in the shooting and Delano Middleton, 17, an Orangeburg high school student, died about an hour later.

Chief J.P. Strom of the state law enforcement division said Cleveland Sellers, 25, South Carolina coordinator for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), was arrested and charged with inciting to riot and placed under $50,000 bond. Sellers was hit in the left arm by a shotgun pellet during the fray but was not seriously wounded. After questioning by Orangeburg poice, Sellers was taken to the state penitentiary at Columbia, 45 miles away.

FIRING REPORT

Associated Press photographer Dozier Mobley, who was on the shooting scene, said about 75 Negroes standing on a knoll opened fire on police, firemen and National Guardsmen who came to extinguish two fires.

At least three of the wounded were from Claflin College, which adjoins South Carolina State.

Patrols of guardsmen, meanwhile, were posted on the campus, sealing it off, and in a five-block area downtown after unverified reports of looting.

READY ARMS

At a news conference early today, Col. Robert McCrady, commander of 500 guardsmen on alert here, said that the guardsmen had loaded their weapons with live rounds for the first time last night but that "not one guardsmen fired one round of ammunition."

He said the police "fired only after being fired at first by hostile students."

The leading causes of death among life insurance policyholders are heart disease and cancer.

California Civilians Die In Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department released today the names of five American civilian officials killed during the current wave of communist assaults on the South Vietnamese city of Hue.

Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey identified the dead as:

John T. McCarthy, Alexandria, Va., reported killed Jan. 30. He was public safety adviser at Nha Trang.

Jeffrey S. Lundstedt, Centerport, N.Y., reported killed last Wednesday. He was stationed at Hue with the Agency for International Development.

Kermit J. Krause, 6913 Pack Drive, Sacramento, reported killed last Wednesday. He was an AID supply officer at Hue.

Robert Roy Little, Lost Mountain Manor, Rochester, N.Y., reported killed Thursday. He was a foreign service officer attached to AID.

Thomas Malone Gompertz, 285 La Espiral, Orinda, Calif., reported killed yesterday. He was an assistant AID province representative at Hue.

The Chesapeake Bay oyster fleet is the nation's last to work under sail, the National Geographic says. Motorized small craft are permitted to dredge for the bay's famed bivalves only on Mondays and Tuesdays.

Reagan Launches Job Drive For Poor Youth

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan launched a new program today to hire young people — particularly in poverty areas — for summer work.

Reagan said the state "faces a major problem this summer because there are more than 400,000 young adults, 16 through 21 years of age, who will be looking for work."

"Many of these young people come from poverty areas of the state," he added.

Reagan called on private industry and all levels of government in the state to work together to find jobs for the young men and women. Reagan said he would appoint a "blue-ribbon" committee from private enterprise to implement the job campaign effort.

Spencer Williams, Reagan's health and welfare chief, said the governor hopes to place as many as 2,500 young people in temporary state jobs during the summer.

Food stores and grocery markets employ about 1.5 million non-supervisory workers.

State Approval Expected On Tomales High Building

The plans for the new Tomales High School should be approved by the state and a call for bids made about March 8, Richard Marshall, architect, last night told the Tomales High School District Board, according to Anthony Matulich, superintendent.

The board authorized Matulich to advertise for bids as soon as the plans are completed.

Marshall reported that the site work was about 75 per cent completed, Matulich said. The board approved a change in the drainage on the site at no cost to the district, he said.

The board also approved a change order modifying the framing for the roof in the gymnasium and utilities area, saving the district $3,000, Matulich said.

The Tomales High School District Board also:

SECRETARY — Approved job specifications for a secretary and authorized hiring a new secretary to replace the present one who has resigned.

FIELD TRIPS — Authorized the use of high school buses to take elementary school children on field trips, not to exceed 10 trips per year.

TENURE — Granted all 15 certified personnel tenure, the first time that the district has done this.

COMPENSATION — Approved having state compensation insurance for volunteer workers; at no cost to the district, according to Matulich.

CLOSED — Went into closed session to discuss a disciplinary problem with one student, but took no action, Matulich said.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for Feb. 21 because the regular meeting would fall on Washington's Birthday.

Short Life For Road Signs

NEW YORK (UPI)—How long do road signs last? Not long, according to a recent survey by L.B. Foster Co.

The average sign has a life expectancy of from three to five years. After that, the message begins to fade. And not all signs last that long. Of those that don't, 10 per cent are damaged in traffic mishaps and 20 to 30 per cent are shot up or defaced by vandals.

College Rules Out Acrobatic Cheering

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The boy and girl cheerleaders have to quit touching each other or quit leading cheers at Bethany Nazarene College.

Acrobatics and gymnastic routines are out, says head cheerleader Carolyn Davis, because some alumni complained about gymnastics in routines at Bethany basketball games.

Miss Davis said school administrators had ruled there is to be "no physical or body contact between the men and women cheerleaders at all."

She said the four cheerleaders had been told, "We must either hand in our resignations or cut out body contact."

All of the cheerleaders considered resigning, Miss Davis said, "but we decided we had a responsibility to the team and the students who chose us."

Gordon Wickersham, public relations director, said he could only refer to the college catalogue concerning the schools position.

The catalogue, he said, notes, "It must be borne in mind that certain disciplines are necessary to the future welfare of individuals," and the college has the right to "supervise social activities in harmony with Christian principles."

A SIN?—Cheerleader stunts such as this one has been banned at Bethany Nazarene College in Oklahoma City as a result of complaints by some of the alumni. (AP Wirephoto)

KITCHEN INVENTOR

A County Clerk Solves IBM Punch Ballot Woes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — With his wife's vacuum cleaner, two hacksaw blades and a little wood, the Sacramento County Clerk says he has solved a time-wasting flaw in a giant electronics firm's automatic ballot system.

What William N. Durley's shoebox-sized contraption does is basically like taking the hole all the way out of a doughnut.

FINISHES JOB

Durley's invention for the IBM Votomatic system simply finishes punching out the hole next to a candidate's name on the punchcard ballot when the voter doesn't.

How does the multibillion-dollar corporation feel about the device the $357-a-week county clerk calls VEBS—a "Vacuumatic Electric Ballot Shaver?"

"Well, they've been very nice to me," Durley says, "but they haven't ordered any."

Durley says the not-quite punched-out holes do one of two things: If the counter folds the "draggin' chaff" back into the hole, that vote is not counted.

But if it folds the tiny paper speck backwards, the sensitive computer acts as if two ballots are being sent through at once; It shuts off until someone cleans up the card by hand.

HOURS LOST

Between one and two per cent of vote cards have imperfect holes, Durley says, and this caused 100 shutdowns and several lost hours during the 1966 general election.

So he fashioned a wooden box with a slit in the top, fitted with two hacksaw blades. A vacuum cleaner hose leads to the inside of the box.

When an imperfect card is slid across the top, the suction pulls the dangling punch-blanks out straight and the blades whisk them off.

"The wonderful thing about this gadget is that it's completely impersonal," Durley adds. "It doesn't care whether you vote for Reagan or Rockefeller or Johnson. It will slice off hanging chaff as easily for one candidate as for another."

If you will go to POEHLMANN'S and get that new shade of lipstick, you can kiss me once more.

Medi-Cal Costs Push Near Debated Ceiling

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's medical aid program for the poor has cost $418 million in the first half of this fiscal year despite a somewhat hazy $600 million ceiling for the entire year.

The Reagan administration's report to the legislature this week on Medi-Cal costs during the last six months of 1967 also showed physicians' fees totaling $65.6 million and hospital payments of $80.1 million.

Reagan contends the legislature set a $600 million limit on Medi-Cal spending for fiscal 1967-68, but some legislators deny there is a limit.

But despite the spending in the first half of the fiscal year, the Reagan administration plans on keeping payments within budget amounts by limiting physicians' fees, length of hospitalization and nursing home improvements.

The average Medi-Cal private hospital cost was $85.44 a day per patient, including all services. Drug prescriptions cost an average of $3.98 from October through December, 1967, the report said.

Stiff Drunken Driving Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation was proposed today banning "driving impaired to the slightest degree" by intoxicating beverages and setting a mandatory jail sentence for certain drunken driving convictions.

Assemblyman F. James Bear, D-San Diego, put forth measures to make a person presumed guilty of a new offense of "impaired driving" if his blood alcohol level is between .10 and .15 per cent by weight.

A person would still be presumed guilty of drunken driving if the level is .15 per cent or above as present law provides.

He also proposed a bill to provide a jail sentence of at least five days for a person convicted of drunken driving who causes an accident with damage or injury costing more than $200.

Additionally, his measures would require blood alcohol tests be taken of all persons killed in auto accidents to determine if excessive drinking was a factor in the accident.

$12 Million In Road Contracts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two Northern California freeway construction contracts totaling more than $12 million have been awarded by the State Public Works Department.

A $5.15 million contract for doubling Interstate 80's width to eight lanes between Yolo Causeway and West Sacramento in Yolo County was awarded yesterday to the Oakland firms Frederickson & Watson, Lord & Bishop and Paramount Pacific.

Peter Kiewit Sons' Co., Vancouver, Wash., got the $7.35 million job of extending four-lane Interstate 5 another 4.3 miles in Siskiyou County to six miles north of Yreka.

27 Given Aid Certificates

Twenty-seven Marinwood residents received certificates last night from the Marinwood Fire Department for completing four courses in first aid and emergency procedures.

The 27 included two adult women and 25 girls aged 11 to 14. Fire Chief James W. Cameron said the classes were designed to train babysitters on what to do in case of fire or other emergencies in the home.

Two Children Die In Blazing Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two children died in a fire that swept their home last night.

Firemen attempted mouth-to-mouth resusitation after taking Tracy Hutchins, 5, and her sister, Kimberly, 3, from the front room of the house, where the flames had swept up from the basement.

After the ambulance arrived, Mrs. Frank Hutchins was summoned from Mission Emergency Hospital's nursery section, where she is a nurse.

Her husband had been at a PTA meeting, firemen said.

Poet Acquitted On Nude Dance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An internationally known poet arrested in connection with a nude dance has been acquitted of a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Leonard Wolf, a San Francisco State College professor, guaranteed the rental of an auditorium at which members of the Haight-Ashbury community presented readings.

After the readings, several persons rushed on stage and danced in the nude.

Wolf told the jury of seven men and five women yesterday that "I was as surprised as anyone" when this occurred.

The chamber's breakfast meeting will start at 8 a.m. at Tiburon Lodge.

Village Square Unit Names New Treasurer

The Village Square Association board of Corte Madera last night appointed Barbara Stewart, manager of Artcraft of Marin, as interim treasurer until the annual election of officers April 11.

She replaces Jack Abrams, who resigned to devote more time to his business. The board also set up a nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the 8 p.m. meeting March 14 at the chamber of commerce building.

Committee To Name Slate To Run For Office

A three-man nomination committee to select a slate of candidates for officers was selected Wednesday night by the Marin City Home Owners and Improvement Association.

Committee members are Moses E. Beard, chairman, and Jesse E. Berry and Alex Holloway.

The association also heard a report by Charles W. Story, executive director of the Marin City Community Services District, on construction progress at the Manzanita Community Center, to be completed this spring.

Streamliner Gets Reprieve

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., reported the Interstate Commerce Commission today delayed until at least June 20 proposed abandonment of Western Pacific Railroad's crack California Zephyr passenger train.

The ICC said it wanted to further investigate the extent of the public need for the train and would call hearings later.

The ruling had the effect of keeping the Zephyr alive for another four months. Western Pacific had asked to abandon Zephyr passenger service Feb. 20.

Dual Library Status Is Outlined For Ross

Ross, now in the county library system and invited to switch to the San Anselmo library system, could have use of both, according to County Librarian Virginia Keating.

If San Anselmo would enter into a reciprocal borrowing agreement with the county library, Ross residents could borrow books from both systems without fee, she told the Ross Town Council last night.

Roy Farrington Jones, acting mayor, said that about 275 Ross residents are paying fees now to use the San Anselmo library. (San Anselmo charges $4 a year to non-residents.)

Ross residents pay a county library tax of .15 per $100 assessed valuation, but the nearest county library branch is in Greenbrae. San Anselmo's library tax rate is 16.24 cents.

One woman noted that many residents shop in San Anselmo and seldom in Greenbrae. "San Anselmo is the right place to go to the library," she said.

Mrs. Keating explained that the branch had to be moved out of Kentfield because of lack of parking space, and was moved into a larger area at the Bon Air Shopping Center "with plenty of parking."

There also were comments from the students that many Ross residents don't use the county library because it is too far from Ross.

Jones said the council wouldn't act hastily on the matter, and "might have a hearing or two to see how people react."

The Ross Town Council Also:

NON-CONFORMING — Adopted an ordinance delaying until Aug. 10 enforcement of the regulation outlawing non-conforming rental units, and adopted an ordinance permitting applications for a use permit for guest houses on lots of less than an acre.

POLICE SALARIES—Discusscussed a proposal to grant Police Chief John Harris and police officers a five per cent pay boost retroactive to Jan 1, and postponed action until after the council's two-member finance committee meets with the police and fire chiefs at 9 a.m. tomorrow at Town Hall.

ROAD JOBS — Accepted as complete the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard widening project, and received a report from City Engineer Phillip B. Lygren that $1,001 in payment is being withheld from the contractor Ghilotti Brothers Inc. of San Rafael because of a 28-day delay in operation of traffic signals.

ROSS COMMON — Renewed for two years a contract with Forster and Kroeger of Corte Madera for landscape maintenance of the Ross Common at $250 a month.

WEED SPRAYING — Authorized a weed spraying program with Marin County equipment at a cost estimated from $300 to $400.

SCHOOL VARIANCE—Granted Kahtarine Branson School, Fernhill Drive, a variance from setback requirements for additions to the Crossways residence.

SEWER LINE — Heard a report on Sanitary District No. 1 plans to construct a sewer trunk line through town in the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control channel right-of-way during construction by the Army Corps of Engineers.

ABATEMENT WARNING — Received a petition with 17 signatures protesting rental of a cottage at 11 Norwood Avenue, declared that tenancy would be a violation of the zoning law and issued notice of intention to abate such use.

TURNING BAN — Adojurned until next Thursday at 8 p.m. at Town Hall to consider among other items, passing an emergency ordinance to prohibit left turns from Bolinas Avenue into San Anselmo Avenue. There were only three councilmen present, and four votes were needed to pass an emergency ordinance.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen, who had to attend a funeral in the East, and Mrs. Natalie G. Lewis, who was ill, were absent.

Submerge For Study Of Space

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI)— Scientists from Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. have gone underwater to study the problems of working in space.

Project leader for the underwater work, John H. Duddy, explained that with the correct placement of weights on his torso, arms and legs, a man can submerge in water and experience neutral bouyancy similar to the weightless condition astronauts experience in space.

ROSS LOOKING FOR A FIREMAN, EITHER A FIRE CHIEF OR AIDE

Ross is looking for a fireman to fill out its two-man department when Fire Chief A. T. Henrich retires this summer after 24 years as chief.

Chief Henrich told town councilmen last night applicants are scarce because the town's fire salaries "have dipped behind" those elsewhere.

"They're not clamoring for the job," he reported.

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones said, "We haven't decided whether we want a chief or assistant chief."

The other member of the department is Assistant Chief Charles Pinza. If Pinza were promoted to chief, the new fireman would fill his post.

It's Boy, Not Girl For Riddel Family

The Riddell family has a baby boy — and not a girl as reported in the births column of the Independent-Journal yesterday.

"We've waited a long time for a son and, naturally, we wanted everybody to know," said the mother, Mrs. James Riddell — formerly Judith Glass — of Woodacre. Name of the newcomer: Joel Michael.

Promise Of Limited Rec Uses For Phoenix Lake

Recreation use at Phoenix Lake will be limited, "exactly as in the past" if the Marin Municipal Water District rebuilds the condemned dam, according to William R. Seeger, general manager of the Marin Municipal Water District.

The district's bid for $90,000 in state funds toward the $150,000 rebuilding job will be before the Wildlife Conservation Board at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 21 at the State Resources Building, Sacramento.

He conceded that a plan had been developed which showed a boat ramp, sanitary facilities and parking area. At tha time, he explained, the staff of the Wildlife Conservation Board had the $90,000 slated for recreational development at the lake and requested a master plan.

Since then, Seeger said, he had convinced the board that the $90,000 for recreation wouldn't be of any use because the district didn't have $150,000 to rebuild the dam.

Then the wildlife board's staff recommended that the $90,000 be for rehabilitation of the dam, Seeger said, adding that he expected that the board would follow the staff's recommendation, he said.

After several questions about the recreation plan, Seeger said to "forget the plan . . . as it sits tonight, the money is for the dam."

William C. Bricca of Lagunitas Road, asked what Seeger would do if the Wildlife Conservation Board said the $90,000 had to be used for recreation. "I wouldn't take the money," Seeger replied.

Voter Drive

The San Rafael Jaycettes, wives of members of the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce, will conduct a voter registration drive at the Emporium store, Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., tomorrow. (Feb. 10).

Sinatra Kidnaper Brother Jailed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William Ryan Irwin, brother of one of the principals in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnaping case, has been sentenced to 20 years in prison for robbing at gunpoint a Bank of America branch.

The 37-year-old Irwin is the brother of John Irwin, who was recently released from prison after serving three years for his part in the Sinatra abduction.

The sentence yesterday was handed down by U.S. Dist. Judge Andrew Hauk despite pleas for mercy by his attorney, who noted that the defendant had donated a kidney to an unidentified woman while in federal prison on a parole violation.

Human Rights Chief Speaks Out On Budget, Board Relationships

Austin J. Thompson, new executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, served notice last night he wants a budget at least $3,000 larger than the one the county administrator has offered for fiscal 1968-69.

The 25-year-old Thompson, making his first appearance at a commission meeting, said that the $35,050 budget proposed tentatively by Asst. County Administrator "leaves much to be desired."

CITES WORK LOAD

Thompson, bemoaning his workload, said he proposes to hire an $8,820-a-year assistant director. He seeks increases up to $600 in general operating categories.

The director said he has attended 15 night meetings with various groups since he took office Jan. 15, is "flooded with a backlog of work," and had to stay away from the office last Friday in order to work on his budget. "This sounds like a sob story," he said, "but it's a frustrating situation. I can understand why you have been unable to keep a director."

WANTS AN AIDE

Thompson's predecessors, Gene T. Orro and Robert B. Brauer, resigned within seven weeks of each other.

Both Orro and Brauer had sought funds to hire a $7,752-a-year field representative for the human rights office, but Thompson served notice last night he now seeks an assistant director at a higher salary to assume some of the office responsibilities.

COMPLAINTS IN OPEN

"I cannot work for 20 bosses," he told commissioners. "Maybe some of you will think I'm abrasive, but I don't want to be harrassed by individual members of the commission.

"I don't believe in whispering campaigns. If you have complaints against me, I want them to be discussed before the full commission."

Thompson said, however, that commissioners should feel free to criticize him, because "I see you as a coach and me as a quarterback."

"But I'm not your waterboy," he added.

Four commissioners — chairman James Quiett, Charles B. Weers, Troy E. Lewis and Arthur Brown — were named to a committee which will work with Thompson on his budget.

The tentative budget submitted by Campanella would be up $10,000 over the current fiscal year.

OFFICE SIZE

Thompson also said he was dissatisfied with the size of the offices.

The commission will get on the fourth floor of the Civic Center administration building when the adjacent Hall of Justice is finished. The commission offices are now on the third floor.

Campanella, who attended last night's meeting, said he thought the four-office quarters, when occupied in October, will be sufficient. There is no other place to put the commission offices, he said.

The Marin County Human Rights Commission also:

HOMES — Postponed a possible stand against placement of a park of 1,800 mobile homes off Highway 37 in Black Point. Weers said the homes would "provide no work for labor." Lewis and Commissioner Richard Harding said this had nothing to do with commission business. The commission decided to await a county planning commission vote on the homes' before acting further.

JOBS — Said they would find out whether architects and engineers employed on county construction jobs were complying with minority hiring policies required during such work. Minority hiring is required of contractors.

Innocent Plea To Slay Charge

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — A 25-year-old London chef pleaded innocent today to the murder of Anita Harris, a 20-year-old student from Eureka, Calif.

Barry Michael Ashrington, who was extradited from Ireland on a warrant alleging he strangled Miss Harris and stole a rucksack and other articles, was committed for trial at Edinburgh High Court Feb. 19.

Rights Post May Go To Clergyman

A San Rafael minister may be filling the seat of another clergyman on the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

The commission last night recommended the appointment of Rev. Francis Geddes of the First Congregational Church to fill a vacancy created by the resignation last year of Rev. John J. O'Connor.

The recommendation goes to the board of supervisors. Reverend Geddes' appointment has been recommended by the Marin City Mothers Guild.

The minister came to San Rafael last July. He had been coordinator of the West Coast Training Center in San Francisco.

On a cold night, when a bird must call upon fat deposits for energy, his weight loss might be equivalent to a 20-pound loss by a 200-pound man.

SHIRTS GRAY? IT'S HYDRANT CHECK TIME

If Corte Madera housewives have tattle-tell gray laundry for the next two weeks, Fire Chief Frank L. Nelson said yesterday they can blame it on a necessary hydrant-checking project.

He said flushing and testing of hydrants for residual flow and static water pressure will begin Tuesday for Pacific Fire Rating Bureau to determine the town's current fire suppression abilities.

The check results in possible fire insurance rate adjustments, he said.

ABC Violation

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control has ordered a 20-day suspension of the off-sale general liquor license of George E. and Marie B. Warden, operators of a liquor store at 878 Grant Avenue, Novato, on charges of sale to a minor. The suspension takes effect Feb. 29.

Widow Birch Sues Oilman

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pearl Choate Birch, awaiting sentencing on her conviction of assault with a deadly weapon, has filed suit against oilman Thomas L. Park for $73,451 she says he owes her.

The 60-year-old widow of millionaire A. Otis Birch was joined in the suit by Birch's physician, Dr. Bernard Pearson. They are to share the proceeds equally.

Park was alleged to have executed a promissory note in July 1964 which was to be paid within one year with 7 per cent interest.

The suit said Birch assigned the note in 1966 to Mrs. Birch, who was then his nurse, and to Dr. Pearson to "share and share alike."

DOUGLAS COWAN PRESENTS:

"Androcles and the Lyin'"

A story of the adventures of Androcles in the false claim parlors of the Vanessus Franciscus chariot vendors and his then triumphant and pleasurable crossing of the fabled Gates of Gold into the placid Parthenon of Amesfordland. Here he found his many steeded chariot he had so long sought but had been unable to acquire due to limited funds. After a brief and pleasant stroll through the unparalleled Parthenon of Amesfordland, his wishes were realized at a savings of many, many Drachmas . . . indeed, a pleasurable fullfillment of all his dreams.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Double End Play Produces Win, Also Embarrasses The Opposition

The right to lead is usually an advantage but it can be made a burden if an opponent forces you to win a trick when any return costs a trick.

WITH ACE

South won the first trick with the ace of hearts and hopefully led out the ace and king of trumps. When the trumps broke badly (as might be expected), South seemed doomed to lose one trick in each suit. The only hope was to make the opponents lead diamonds or give up some other tirck.

South's first step was to give up the losing heart. West had to win with the jack of hearts and then had the problem of getting out safely.

If West returned a heart, South would ruff in his own hand and discard a diamond from dummy. He would then lead a trump to put East into the lead.

If West returned a diamond, South would play for the honors to be divided, thus avoiding th loss of a diamond trick.

LEAST OF EVILS

West attacked clubs, the least of the evils, by leading the ace and then a low club.

This gave South an extra club trick. He won with the queen, got to dummy with the king of diamonds to discard a diamond on the king of clubs, cashed the ace of diamonds and then put East in with a trump to the queen.

NEXT TO SQUIRM

It was East's turn to squirm. Since he had only one heart and two clubs left, it didn't matter what East returned: South could ruff in dummy and discard the last diamond from his hand.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1—notrump (16 t9 18 points), and the next player bids two spades.

You hold:

♥—10 5
♦—K 10 6 3
♣—K 10 5.

What do you say?

Answer: Double.

Your side probably holds more spades and surely holds more points than the opponents. You should be able to take six or more tricks.

Two States Lay Claim To Song

GREENWOOD, Miss. (UPI)—Both Florida and Mississippi lay claim to the origin of Stephen Foster's "Way Down Upon the Suwannee River."

Foster was supposed to have been looking at the swampy Suwannee at a bend in Florida, but some Mississippians say he never saw the Suwannee and was looking at the Yazoo River in Greenwood when he wrote the lyrics. They claim Foster just like the sound of "Suwannee."

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1968 with 327 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1825 the U.S. House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams president because none of the candidates in the December election received an electoral majority.

In 1900 construction workers in Chicago voted to strike for an eight-hour day.

In 1950 Sen. Joseph McCarthy charged that the State Department was infested with Communists.

A thought for the day: American Poet Joaquin Miller wrote, "That man who lives for self alone lives for the meanest mortal known."

$885 Tree Plantings For Park, Facility

Three magnolia trees will be planted at Pueblo Park in Gallinas Village and about 15 camphor trees along La Pasada Way and around the Adrian-Rosal playing field.

Gallinas Village Community Services District directors last night approved the purchase of the trees for a total cost of $855.

The directors discussed the possibility of getting an office of some kind as a base of operations for the district. At present, district secretary Marguerite F. Clark operates from her home, and the directors' meetings are held at MacPhail School.

Director Walter Rudolph suggested that a pre-fabricated building be placed at the Rosal-Adrian playing field. Directors authorized Rudolph to study various possibilities and report back.

William Desmond, county director of environmental health, discussed methods of coping with insects and odors. He said he would present a film on sanitation at next month's March 14.

Check Sentencing

Joan Alma Burns, 32, of 106 Buchanan Drive, Sausalito, is to appear for sentencing in Marin Superior Court Monday. She has pleaded guilty to paying for auto repairs at Dexter Pontiac, San Rafael, with a $180 bad check Nov. 1.

Three Hear Charges On Marijuana Arrest

Three men were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges they possessed marijuana Wednesday, when Sausalito police caught them passing a cigarette around the Vina del Mar Park.

To enter pleas to the charge Feb. 20 are John L. Sund, 20, of Fort Baker; David Eugene Smith, 18, of 90 Princess Street, Sausalito, and Ronald Lee Martin, 33, of 290 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley.

Joint Vertical Jet Project Being Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and West Germany reportedly are dropping joint development of a revolutionary new jet fighter that could take off and land vertically.

Although the project has involved only about $6 million so far, sources reporting its abandonment said it would have led to contracts worth hundreds of millions of dollars.

There was no immediate word on the reason for the action but some sources suggested the money pinch stemming from the Vietnam war may have been a factor.

The U.S.-West German effort has been one of a number of projects the Pentagon has been supporting for years in the vertical takeoff and landing field.

The results so far have been disappointing to many defense officials.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told Congress last week that during the last seven years the Pentagon and the armed services have invested a total of several hundred million dollars in development and construction of a wide variety of prototype aircraft, using different design approaches to vertical and short take-off and landing.

He further told Congress that until a suitable engine is developed none of the approaches seemed likely to produce a successful plane.

The type of aircraft that can take off straight up and land straight down or fly off a short field is considered important for the kind of fighting that is done in undeveloped countries such as South Vietnam where the United States has had to install an expensive complex of air bases.

Despite dropping of the U.S.-German project, sources said technology on such planes will continue in both countries.

The project got under way about 18 months ago when six contractors—four American and two German—were invited to make proposals.

Reagan Asked For Statewide Study On Dope

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The governor's Advisory Committee on Youth has asked Gov. Ronald Reagan to initiate a statewide study of narcotics use and to develop a program to lessen the communications gap between the generations.

Paul Jenkins of Wilmington, chairman of the group's subcommittee to prevent the distribution of drugs, introduced a resolution yesterday calling on the governor to conduct an in-depth study of the use of narcotics among California youth.

The resolution asked that answers be sought to such questions as why persons use narcotics, why they begin such use, and to what extent narcotics are harmful.

Ralph B. Herzog, a Beverly Hills attorney, introduced a resolution urging the governor to take the initiative in coordinating a program among all governmental agencies aimed at eliminating the communications gap between children and adults.

Guilty Plea To Drunken Driving

David Francis Dundas, 57, of Oroville, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to driving while drunk on Highway 101 early yesterday.

Judge Hadden W. Roth gave him a suspended five-day jail sentence, six months of probation and a $230 fine.

Coed Arraigned On Dope Counts

Wendy Ann Sherseth, 18-year-old Sir Francis Drake High School student, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of possessing marijuana, methedrine and a "crutch" for smoking marijuana.

San Anselmo police arrested Miss Scherseth, of 69 Bennett Avenue, San Anselmo, Jan. 24.

The senior student had a marijuana cigarette, a pill and a crutch in her purse at the high school, they said. She is to appear in court Feb. 23 to enter a plea.

San Rafael Chamber Rises Out Of 1966's Fiscal Hole

The San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, broke in 1966, ended 1967 with a surplus of $10,367, outgoing President Clifford S. Lund has reported.

Lund said the chamber did it by doing without a manager, raising the dues an average of 15 per cent and revitalizing the organization.

"It wasn't any one particular thing that we did," said Lund, who will be succeeded as president later this month by Charles Try, manager of the J. C. Penney store in San Rafael "The organization was kind of bogged down in its own mess. If you're going to coast, you can only coast one way.

"We re-vitalized it. We went out and sold an aggressive program to merchants and chamber members."

Lund said the year's most successful promotion was "Mission To Progress — '67," keyed to the sesquicentennial of Mission San Rafael Arcangel, in which many merchants participated. The chamber put out 60,000 books of matches, window cards and decals and other promotion material.

The chamber also spent $4,000 on the first Christmas lighting project it has ever conducted in the city.

Lund said the chamber is in such good financial shape that it is thinking of hiring a manger again. The chamber did without a manager for most of last year, saving $5,600 in salary.

The chamber president gave this financial report for the end of 1967: bank balance, $5,428; accounts receivable, $5,604; accounts payable, $665, a surplus of $10,367.

At the end of 1966, the financial picture was dark. The chamber had $155 in the bank, $1,790 in accounts receivable and $3,038 in accounts payable. It had a deficit of $1,930.

Lund said the chamber lost a few members when it equalized the dues, rasing them an average of 15 per cent, but gained back the membership by the end of the year, adding to its professional division. The chamber has 350 members, said Lund.

Youth Behavior Talk Is Slated

Prof. Robert Schwitzgebel, an authority on youth behavior, will speak before a group of Marin educators at a dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

The meeting is sponsored by the Marin County School Boards Association, Marin Associaton of School Administrators and the Marin County Schools Office.

Schwitzgebel will speak on "Revolution in Education — Present and Future." He teaches in the Department of Psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Maritime Fleet Neglect Warning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Edwin M. Hood, president of the Shipbuilders Council of America, said today the economic welfare and military security of the United States are being jeopardized by the neglect of its maritime fleet.

Hood, in remarks prepared for the annual meeting of the Western Shipbuilding Association, said 70 per cent of the U.S. naval and merchant fleets comprise ships at least 20 years old.

Military reliance is being placed on 1,100 "uneconomic, inefficient and obsolete vessels of the reserve fleets" said Hood.

Chinese New Year Due All-Chinese Paraders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Saturday's New Year's Parade will be different.

"This year," said prominent businessman Jackson Hu, "all units in the parade will have the Chinese motif."

The start of the Year of the Monkey, 4666 on the Chinese lunar calendar, is being reserved for things Chinese.

After years of mammoth extravaganzas that included Caucasian band units and drill teams from several western states, the directors of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce cried "no more!"

"And no politicians," added Hu.

Well, almost. Highly placed personages, like the governor, mayor and police chief, have been invited to be in the parade. In addition, only band units that could dress in an Oriental manner were permitted.

The rule on uniforms effectively reduced most of the participants to year-round Oriental-type bands and groups—that is to say, Chinese.

The restrictions will result in a parade of perhaps 100 units which will take no more than an hour to pass one point, compared with past marches of several hundred units that took three hours or more.

Only one armed forces band will march, the U.S. Sixth Army Band from San Francisco's own Presidio. Hu said the Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps bands were not invited.

He explained that there is no intent by San Francisco's Chinatown, largest such community in the western hemisphere, to withdraw from the Caucasian community.

"We just want to see what happens," he said.

Thousands from San Francisco and the Bay Area, and tourists from all over the world, will attend the event on a half-mile of Post, Bush and Montgomery streets and Grant Avenue.

Manpower Workshop Set In Marin City

A manpower information workshop will be sponsored in Marin City Feb. 17 by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

Scheduled from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m., at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, the workshop will have as its speaker Mrs. Roz Kane, who will describe the training program of the Bureau of Work Training in San Francisco.

Show Features Marin Talent

BOOTED MARINITES who will be among the chorus of dancers for "Once On A Stage Out West" go through a routine for Mrs. John Wingate, right. Junior League members from Marin have many of the top jobs for league annual fund-raising show, which will benefit many league projects in Marin. From left are Mesdames Alfred E. Castle, V. Neil Fulton, Susan Brennan, Wilford Caulking, Van Norden Logan and Leonard F. Weisenberg Jr., whose deck at her San Rafael canal home is being used. (Independent-Journal photo)

Although the Junior League of San Francisco Inc.'s big fund raiser show "Once On a Stage Out West" is a Bay Area wide venture, the cast is so heavily packed with Marin talent it seems a hometown show.

The group has been practicing hours each week, commuting to the city, for the rehearsals, and the costumes are being stitched under the direction of Mrs. Gordon Dohemann of San Rafael. The show will be given Feb. 16 at 9:30 p.m. at the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco, a black tie affair.

THE MALE LEAD of the revue is Charles W. Prescott Jr. of San Rafael. He portrays the cable car man who takes the new-girl-in town back through San Francisco's nostalgic past.

A native of Los Angeles and an alumnus of UCLA and USC, Mr. Prescott began his professional career in the early MGM musicals which starred Jeanette MacDonald. John Charles Thomas' Civic Light Opera Company brought him to San Francisco for the first time. Mr. Prescott also appeared in plays with Laurence Olivier and was a member of the troupe which traveled with him to New York before World War II. After service in the U.S. Air Force, Mr. Prescott resumed his theatrical career.

Mr. Prescott's voice has been used in many Walt Disney productions and he has also dubbed for Walter Pidgeon and Clark Gable. He was worked in radio and on the old Hit Parade program. His singing voice was used in "Camelot," now showing in San Francisco, and in the spring, he will go to Hollywood to work in "Finian's Rainbow."

Mrs. Prescott directed the choir of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church in Loch Lomond several years ago. He now keeps up his singing by performing at the Bohemian Club and the St. Francis Yacht Club.

Mr. Prescott and his wife, who have lived in San Rafael for six years, have eight children ranging in ages from five to 25 years.

MRS. KIRK FREDERICK of San Rafael is production chairman for the revue. She works directly with Dr. J. Fenton McKenna and the other professionals directing the revue. She is in charge of all the Junior League members who are in the show. Also under her direction are the committees which handle the costumes, the scenery, the large movable props and lighting. And Mrs. Frederick attends two out of three rehearsals a week to see that everything is progressing smoothly.

Mrs. Frederick was the chairman of last year's Junior League Fashion Show "Dress Rehearsal."

She has always had an interest in music and art, and during her days at Wellesley

Invitations have been issued for the lecture tea and tour that will dedicate the new American Music Research Center at Dominican College at 2 p.m. Feb. 18 in Meadowlands on the San Rafael campus.

The American Music Research Center is sponsored by the Northern District of the California Federation of Music Clubs and many of the leading officers will attend including the president, Mrs. Samuel B. Hitt of Los Angeles.

The AMRC, under the direction of Sister M. Dominic, O.P., is located at Angelico Hall and includes rare books, tapes, microfilm, printed music, scores, programs, periodicals, charts, playbills and a record and slide collection of American music from 1620 to the present.

Guests will be welcomed by Sister M. Patrick, president of Dominican College, and Mrs. June Weybright Reeder of San Francisco, president of the Northern District of the California Federation of Music Clubs.

Sister Dominic will present a slide lecture on "Early St. Louis Findings" in 17th and 18th century music and guests will be conducted a tour of the Music Center in Angelico Hall.

Among the guests from the Claifornia Federation of Music Clubs will be Mrs. Gustave Snelling from Belvedere-Tiburon, first vice president of the state organization; Mrs. Clarence Heagy of Fresno, central district president; and Mrs. Karl G. Rohrer of Los Altos, federation national board member.

Tea will be served by the Dominican College alumnae and the sponsoring music federation: Mrs. Charles Sweeney of Atherton, president of the College alumnae association; Mrs. Robert Jeffrey, of San Rafael, chairman of the Marin alumnae; Mrs. Reed Volin, San Rafael and Miss Alicia McEvoy of San Francisco.

Also Mrs. Walter Watkin, San Francisco, president of the San Francisco Musical Club; Mrs. Roland Fulle of Oakland, president of the San Francisco chapter of Phi Beta musical fraternity, and Federation board members Mrs. Robert Ohlbach of El Cerrito and Miss Diana Ignatius of San Francisco.

The holdings of the Center will be available to music teachers, students of music and history and scholars interested in the American heritage.

KOL SHOFAR Sisterhood will have a tea honoring new and prospective members on Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Marvin Pheffer of Terra Linda.

SPRING REGISTRATION for the Marin Dance Co-op will be held tomorrow for old members and Feb. 17, for new members, announced to Mrs. John Moody, registrar. Pre-school and kindergarten classes, taught by Caroline Goldsmith, and Joan Toth, art, will be held in the meeting room of Co-op Marin at 71 Tamal Vista Blvd. in Corte Madera at 9:30 and 11 a.m. respectively. First through eighth grade clsses will meet at Henry Hall School, Larkspur. Judith Wickwire is the teacher. Ann Halprin will teach the teen-age class Fridays from 4 to 6 p.m.

ST. ANSELM'S annual salad bowl luncheon and fashion show will be held Wednesday at noon. Spring fashions will be modeled by St. Anselm's School with eighth grade girls. Mrs. Harry McEvoy and Mrs. Joseph Baumann are chairmen for the event, Cupid Capers.

Mrs. Sherman Little is coordinating the fashions, and Mrs. James Knox will commentate.

TOMALES ELEMENTARY School will observe Parent-Teacher Association founders day Thursday at 2 p.m. The community is invited to attend the program which will include the presentation of an honorary life membership to an outstanding mother, a showing of fashions from the past and a candlelighting ceremony.

OAK SPRINGS of Marin Homeowners' Association will have a Leap Year potluck dinner Feb. 24 at the Sleepy Hollow Clubhouse. Committee members are Tex Byrd, Len Ostrowski, Inga Travers, Lisa Soloski, Vince South, Dick Gaither and John Holm.

THE WOMEN'S Auxiliary to the Marin Rod and Gun Club will hold public card parties the third Wednesday of each month at noon at the clubhouse at Point San Quentin. Mrs. Mae Elizondo, chairman, has announced that proceeds will go to the scholarship given each year to a high school boy or girl who will study forestry or conservation in college.

MILL VALLEY Unit 284, American Legion Auxiliary has been invited to the fifth district meeting Sunday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Mare Island Navy Yard Post 550 Home, Vallejo.

Sppeaker will be Mrs. Jeanne Keene, department auxiliary president, who will make her official visit to the district comprising the counties of

MINIMORALS

Daffy Definitions Onslaught All Started With Miniskirts

By GAY PAULEY

The onslaught started of course with the miniskirts. And before you could say minimouse, the minis had spread. They gravitated into diplomacy, government, the economy, morality, agriculture, the amusement world, sports, even into medicine. And naturally, they kept right on going in fashions.

THE BRITISH, who started the miniskirt, also began to use the minis for everything else in the queen's English and the headline writers had maximal fun with such a minibudget, minidevaluation and minipound when the British government devaluated its currency.

There were also: Miniman (for use of those opposed to Harold Wilson); miniholiday (50 pound travel allowance); minicruises (long weekend trips); minigovernment) minibrains (government bureaucracy); minimorals (which some attributed to some who wear mini and micro—another word for mini—skirts; and minitellys (small television sets).

Scanning U.S. publications as I recovered from miniflu, I found that "The Commonweal" carried an article on the minirevolution in Chile; the small nation's members of the United Nations were called ministates; there were minisummit meetings among the diplomats; and a commentator talked of the minirecession reflected in the stock market drop.

No longer did one brace for minishock. A California farmer announced harvest of minimelons. A report from Germany concerned a minispy (a small, listening device).

Inevitably, the daffy definitions and puns began. Someone suggested that minimum referred either to a small chrysanthemum or a small English mother. Miniscule became the little red schoolhouse. Mini-fry were small kids. Minikin was either a small mannequin or a bunch of small cousins, and the girl in an old-time tune was "Mini the Moocher."

A NATIONAL news magazine referred to the brief but amusing television commercials as mini-ha-ha's. People said minithanks and minihappy returns. And you can see where all this sort of thing could lead. . .

Hamilton Family Services Names 'Volunteer Of Year'

Mrs. Vincent H. Ashmore has been presented the Family Services "Volunteer of The Year" award at Hamilton Air Force Base. Colonel Charles Praul, base commander, made the presentation.

Since entering the Family Services program in July 1964, she has devoted 1,850 hours of volunteer service, and in 1967 she contributed a total of 434 hours.

Mrs. Ashmore was presented the award in recognition of her outstanding contributions as chairman of the CHAP (Children Have A Potential) committee of the Family Services program. The program provides assistance to eligible military personnel with children who are emotionally disturbed, physically or mentally handicapped and incapable of self-support.

Parents have been aided in helping their children achieve their full potential through her deep interest.

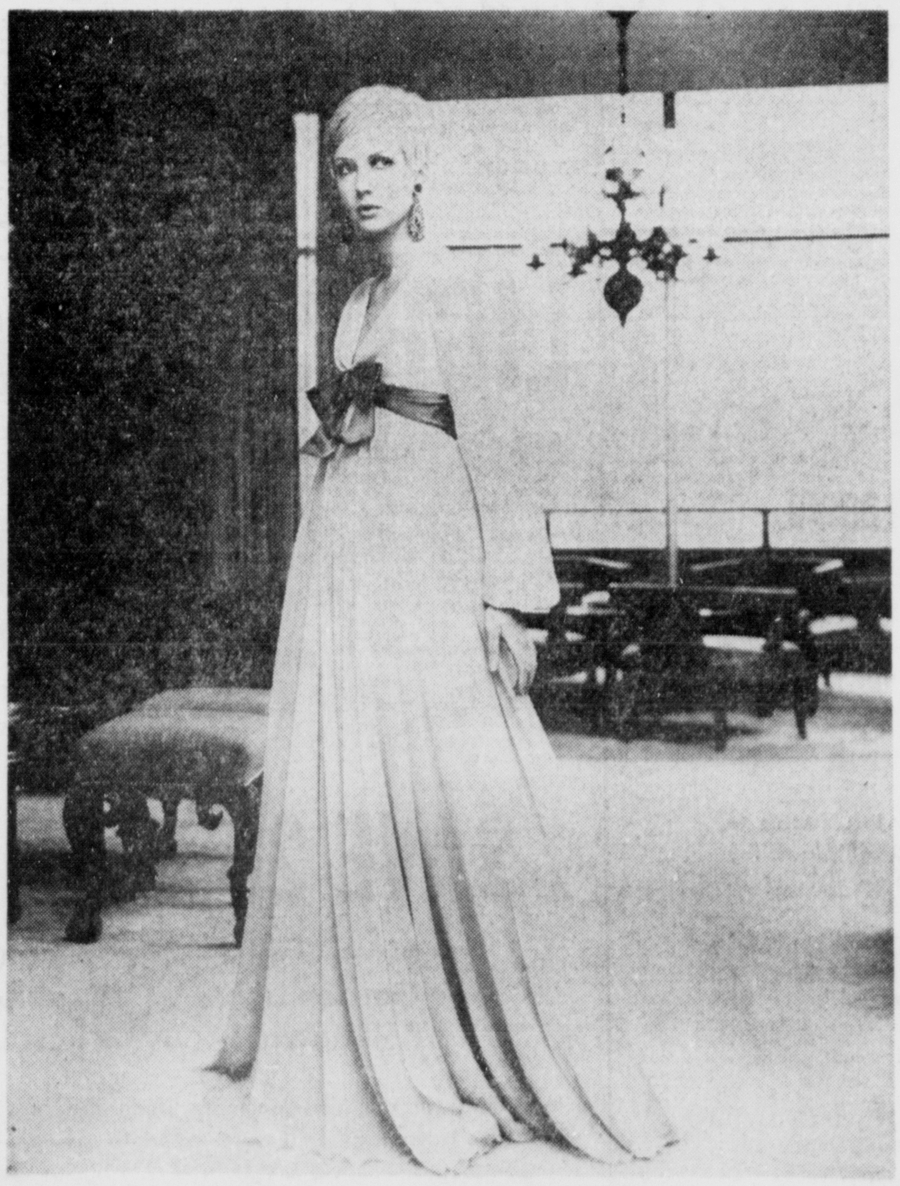
She was instrumental in pointing out the need for a part time psychiatric social worker for the CHAP program, and she helpes organize the CHAP children's swimming classes held during the month of August, conducted by the Red Corss.

Mrs. Ashmore has also published a CHAP brochure with acquaints Air Force parents of handicapped children with resources available on base and in the local community and those supported by state or federal funds.

She has also worked very closely with agencies within Marin County that work with handicapped children and has been guest speaker at many of their functions.

Yarn De-Kinker

To make yarn re-usable wind it around your ironing board and steam out the kinks with your steam iron, turning the yarn as you press it. Then roll it into a loose ball.



FLUID FOR EVENING

Noted for his evening clothes, Sarmi keeps elegance flowing in his new spring 1968 collection in New York. Supple chiffon creates this floor length gown in a definite feminine mood. The draped bodice is halted under the bustline by a bright purple satin ribbon and also has long full sleeves. The skirt features aqua over yellow and is softly gathered from beneath the sashed Empire line. (UPI photo)

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Congressman To Be Honored In Marin

By MOLLY MARIN

A cocktail reception honoring Congressman William S. Mailliard will be given by Judge Janet Aitken, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer and Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Ruddock from 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere. More than 150 of the hosts' friends on the Tiburon Peninsula have received invitations to the party.

THE JOSEPH W. Cresalias have returned to their home in San Rafael after spending a week in Las Vegas. They celebrated their 16th anniversary while in the desert.

RETURNING to Seattle on Sunday was Mrs. W. B. Van Dusen after spending a week visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Sutherland in Novato.

THE WITZELS of Belvedere are a sailing family. Everett M. Witzel of Belvedere is racing to Acapulco on board the Annie Too, owned by Dr. Emmet Rixford of Sausalito. His 19-year-old son, Tom, is sailing in the same race aboard the New Rascal, launched Jan. 21, and owned by William Wilson of Santa Barbara. Tom had crewed on Wilson's former yacht, Rascal, in the Transpacific Race to Hawaii last summer. Mrs. Witzel is flying to Acapulco next week. Jane and Everett Witzel will visit Mexico City before returning home. Left in charge of the family yacht, Harpoen, in Belvedere, are the couple's other sons, Kenneth and Jim.

BELVEDERE STREET SCENE: When beauteous folk singer Gale Garnett had trouble getting her car out of her steep driveway in Belvedere Tuesday half a dozen neighbors rallied to the rescue. With major assistance from yachtsmen

Robert Barth and Scotty McLean, she was soon on her way to a rehearsal session, only a little bit late. A new recording made by Gale and her reorganized group will be released in March. After that it's an extensive tour of college campuses throughout the country.

JANET HOLMES of San Anselmo left this week for Rome to attend the Intercollegiate Center for Classical Studies to study Latin, Creek, history and archaeology. She will make several field trips through Italy and Greece before she returns in late June to resume studies for her senior year at the University of California. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Holmes of San Anselmo, Janet was awarded an Old Dominion scholarship and National Defense Education Act loan to further her studies abroad. She plans to teach Latin and Greek.

GETTING SETTLED in Marin County are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sternloff Jr. "Pete" Sternloff has recently returned from Vietnam where he served as a captain in the Air Force. Now living in an apartment in Strawberry, the couple plan to establish a permanent home here. "Pete," a graduate of Tamalpais High School and the University of California at Santa Barbara, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Sternloff of Belvedere. The Senior Sternloffs are back on the Belvedere Lagoon after a period of residence in Los Angeles.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

When Sneaky Tomcat Plays, Mouse Should Say Goodbye

DEAR HELEN:

My husband met this woman about three months ago. When rumors started, he told me she was the aggressor and wouldn't give up. Said he didn't want to hurt her, so he takes her home once in a while when she asks. (And stays until 4 a.m.!) He said he was crazy about me, and couldn't stand her.

But here's the other side:

I was visiting relatives a couple of days recently, and understand she moved in. (He says nothing happened.)

Last week I found a note pad on which he had written a letter. Reading the impressions on the blank page beneath, I found he'd told her not to call our house as I have a private detective spying on him and our phone has been tapped. He also said I am trying to enslave him, and he is staying only because I am so weak I'd fall apart if he left. Then he added he couldn't stand being away from her and to keep on fighting for him.

I don't dare mention what I read, but yesterday I asked him to make a choice and he said, "Don't leave me, honey. I told her again to get lost but she won't let me alone!"

This isn't the first time he has wandered.

What breed of man do I have for a husband? — HURT

DEAR HURT:

Would you believe: a cross between a rat, a weasel and a sneaky tomcat? Tell him that letter suddenly made you strong. Then add one more word, "Goodbye" — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Perhaps my story will help others like me.

When I was young, I was extra ordinarily beautiful, and what's more I knew it. Wherever I went, I had my pick of men.

I'm a three-time loser. One marriage lasted three months, one five years and the third lasted 14 years. With each divorce I felt sorry for myself and kept asking, "Why?" At all the social gatherings I made the women feel dowdy and the men dissatisfied with their wives. I wore extreme clothes and make-up. I had a successful career in the glamour field. After all, my husbands should have been proud and grateful to have me. All the other men told them so often enough. I had no women friends.

Well, Helen, after the third bust, when I was 42, I took a good look at myself and discovered to my horror that I was a thoroughly unlovable and selfish person who used beauty and sex appeal as a weapon. My house was always a mess, with beds unmade, dishes in the sink and dinners thrown together. I made my job, my operation, and tears my defenses, if sex didn't work.

Last November I married again, this time a bachelor of 43, and this time will be different! I'll think of him first. It isn't easy to change your whole personality, but I'm doing it. His house is clean, his needs are understood, and I quit my job to be a full-time wife.

Yes, I have relapses, but, even so, our marriage is still like a honeymoon. And for the first time in my life, women are beginning to like me.

It is not all of us who get a chance to make up for the unhappiness they have caused. I'm so very — LUCKY

DEAR HELEN:

This is for the husband who wouldn't let his wife give blood to the Blood Bank. If she asks for a certificate, a corresponding amount of blood is available to her or her family free any time during a one-year period. The chintzy guy should realize this is an insurance policy. — A.R.

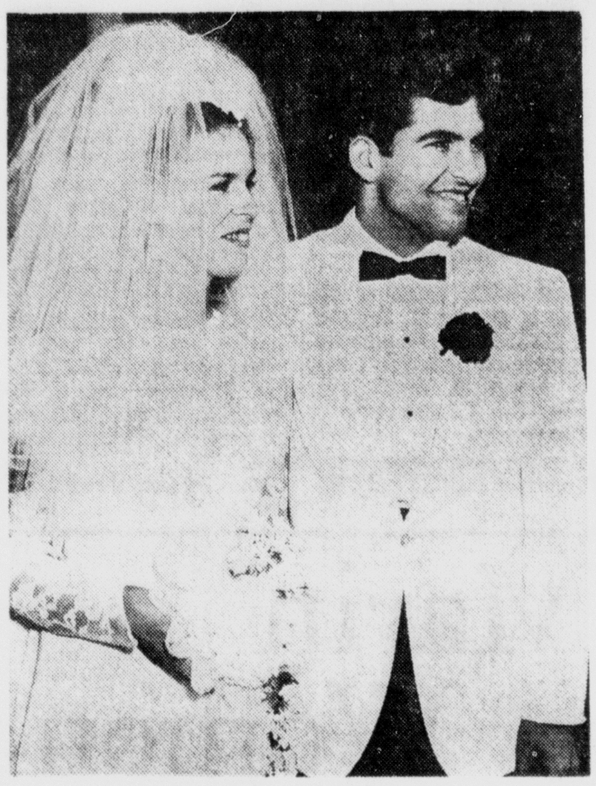
Miss Covell Of San Anselmo Wed To William J. Silva

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Silva were married Saturday afternoon at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.



MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM J. SILVA
(Heritage Studio Photo)

Cecilia Covell of San Anselmo was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joan Covell of Martinez, sister of the bride, Carol Conaly of Richmond and Vicky Schmidt of San Anselmo.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Silva of Martinez. Tom Parrish of El Cerrito was his best man. The ushers were the bride's brother, Dennis Covell of San Anselmo, Steve Maysee of El Cerrito and and Paul Voisey also of El Cerrito.

Cathleen attended Richmond Union High School and Contra Costa College. She is presently employed by Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael. She is the sister of Tim, Dan and Joan Covell of Martinez; Cecilia, Dennis and George Covell of San Anselmo and Loren, Ed and Henry Covell of Richmond.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Salesian High School and Contra Costa College and attends Sonoma State College. He has three brothers: Richard, Larry and James all of Martinez.

Intrigue In Cocktail Lounges Beats James Bond Movies

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—To be a cocktail waitress all you need to know is how to tell one drink from another and deliver it to a table. Right? Wrong, as you soon learn at Ida's School, a unique Los Angeles institution devoted to the training of cocktail waitresses.

While one might question the urgent need for such an establishment, the course is an education even for a person not interested in cocktail career.

Apparently there's more intrigue going on in those dimly lit cocktail lounges than in a James Bond movie—or at least that's the way it seems when you sit in on sessions at the school.

The curriculum runs to such subjects as how to finagle bigger tips, how to outfox a cheating bartender and how to deliver a neat, but unobtrusive, karate chop with a cocktail tray to a fresh customer.

THE COURSE IS divided into into four sessions, taught by a tousle-haired young blonde wearing miniskirt and false eyelashes. The first session is given to teaching the students how to call drinks to the bartender, as well as explaining the differences between Zombies and Singapore Slings, Rob Roys and Alexanders, the types of glasses they take and the garnishes.

Session 2 takes up the various kinds of establishments in which the students, whose ages seem to run from 21 to grandmotherish, might work and what to expect in each.

The high point of the course, the "money class" comes in the third session. Here the trainee learns how to keep tabs, work cash and carry and—most important—how to make money for herself as well as for her employer.

In this class the instructor provides techniques for getting a customer to part with a bigger tip. For instance, when the customer has paid the check, she advises, bring him his change and promptly pull the table out so he will be prompted to leave immediately. Apparently only a real cheapskate has the courage to stop long enough to pick up the change.

If the customer is a stiff—this refers to the amount, or lack thereof, of his tip, not to his liquor intake—the advice is to give him the most attentive service possible. This tends to make him feel as cheap as he is.

What if the gentleman leaves a generous tip and his date — (horrors!) steals part of it as she is sliding from behind the table?

TELL HIM, says the instructor. The embarrassed gentlemen will take care of you — and presumably also take care of his larcenous ladyfriend.

The final session is devoted to self protection and handling troublesome customers, i.e.—how to use a cocktail tray and an ornamental hatpin as deadly weapons, how to handle mashers and drunks, and especially how to get rid of drunken women who can be more of a problem than men.

The school was started by its owner, Mrs. Ida Meegan, after she operated a club in suburban San Bernardino for several years. She decided there was a need for a school after she found she was constantly forced to give on-the-job training because no experienced personnel were available.

A gal can pick up many miscellaneous bits of wisdom, such as:

Skin Deep In Dust

In metropolitan areas the average dust "fall out" is well over 50 tons per square mile. Every day your skin is exposed unmercifully to all kinds of soil. Add to this, cosmetics of every description. All must be removed if your complexion is to be clear and radiant.

Sunny Hills Guild President Has A Wide Range Of Interests

Mrs. James E. Egger of Greenbrae is the new president of the Kent Woodlands Guild of Sunny Hills. She is a former vice president of the guild and has served as chairman of its Grape Festival booth.

Mrs. Egger, the wife of a Marin nurseryman, is also active in the Greenbrae Parent-Teacher Association, the Redwood Parent-Teacher Association, Chi Omega Alumnae and Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center.

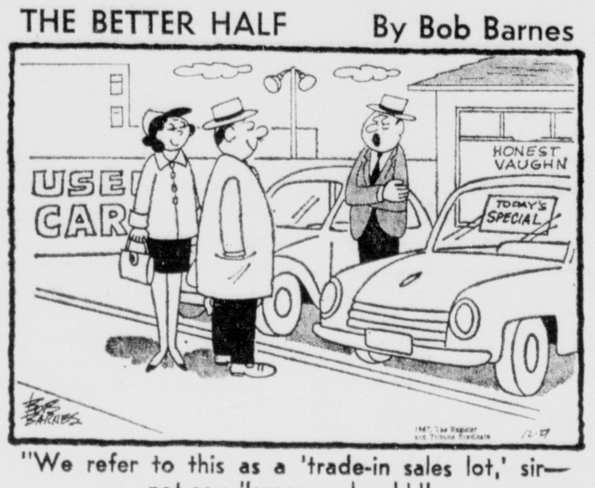
Marjorie Egger attended Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio, and has lived in Marin County for 21 years. She has lived in Kent Woodlands making her eligible for membership in the Kent Woodlands Guild.

MRS. JAMES EGGER

The new president's hobbies include golf, skiing, boating, sewing, cooking and crafts, but most of all she enjoys family outings, especially outdoors with her husband and children, Stephen, 10; Cynthia, 15; Sandi, 16; and Jay, 18, a freshman at Oregon State University.

Other officers are Mesdames B. L. Thompson, vice president; Lewis Kerlin, recording secretary; Louis Ott, corresponding secretary; I J. Lewis, treasurer; Stanley Eager, historian, Thomas Cuffee, publicity chairman; H. W. Henderson, Bargain Box chairman and Paul Daly, membership chairman, all of Kent Wooldands.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes



"We refer to this as a 'trade-in sales lot,' sir—not as a 'lemon orchard.'"

Middle Years To Be Topics For Lectures

"The Empty Nest — a Woman's Middle Years" and "The End of the Don Juan Dream — the Man's Middle Years" are two of the topics to be covered by Dr. Catherine Cline Pike, family counseling specialist, who begins a 10-session series of lectures and discussions at the Marin Art and Garden Center on Feb. 29.

The classes, limited to 20, will be from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

Dr. Pike, a long-time Marin resident and practicing pediatrician, is on the teaching staff of the University of California School of Medicine. After many years of working with parents, she came to the conclusion that those who understand themselves are better able to cope with others, including their children. With that realization, she returned to U.C. for further psychiatric training.

Dr. Pike is married and has four sons, two of whom are in the Peace Corps.

The series is entitled "Creative Relationships and Self Understanding." Other topics under discussion will include "How does one become the person one is?"; "Adolescent challenges and crises"; "Marital expectation and realities"; "Mothering and/or working" and "New Horizons, new pursuits and a new marital closeness."

Stephen J. Parkhurst Will Wed Ellen Burke

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Burke of Corte Madera are announcing the engagement of their daughter Ellen Louise to Stephen J. Parkhurst of San Rafael.

Stephen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Parkhurst of San Rafael.

Ellen is a graduate of Redwood High School and is employed by Longs Drug Store in San Anselmo. Mrs. Sarah E. Burke of Baraboo, Wis. is her grandmother.

Stephen graduated from San Rafael High School and is presently with the United States Army Security Agency. Susan Parkhurst is his sister. He is the grandson of Mrs. Cora Nickels of Novato.

A March wedding is planned.

Marin Couple Successful In Senior Citizen Hotel Venture

Thanks to the vision of a Kent Woodlands woman, senior citizens both in San Francisco and Los Angeles are enjoying an entirely new and different kind of living.

Mrs. Thomas Marshall, combining many years of background in the hotel business as well as an interest in "retired" persons, along with her husband, opened the Continental Hotel in San Francisco eight years ago. It was to be the first hotel in the United States designed just for senior citizens and was started purely "as a gamble."

"Because of our many years in the hotel business, we noticed how older people were often turned away," Mrs. Marshall recently explained, "and we thought of the possibility of a hotel designed just for them — one that included low monthly rates within a retired persons budget, two meals daily, libraries, even monthly parties and excursions."

BUT CONTINENTAL was a success almost from its opening. Today, the Marshalls also head the Victorian in San Francisco and the Commodore in Los Angeles. All of the hotels are designed with senior citizens in mind. They must be located within brief blocks of downtown bysiness and shopping and theater areas; are designed without any stairs to walk up or down; and have full hotel service as well as doctors on 24 hour call.

Mrs. Marshall's ideas do not stop with the hotel. Her interest in decorating and art has played a major role with each establishment. She has done everything from designing the rather handsome sign on the front of the Victorian on Fourth Street in San Francisco to going over some of the interior styles of the Commodore which was recently remodeled in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Marshall's interest is also reflected in many of her activities in Marin where she has done everything from teaching Sunday School at St. John's Church in Ross to being the fund raising co-chairman of the Kentfield Guild of the Louise A. Boyd Marin Science Museum. She is also past president of the San Francisco Senior Center and has worked with the Mothers Club of the San Rafael Military Academy.

BESIDES DECORATING and art, she is also a fine bass fisherman, ardent golfer and enjoys boating. She and her family tie up their cabin cruiser in the Marin Yacht Club harbor and find ample opportunity to enjoy the waters of the Bay. She recently did the art work for the Meadow Club's golf tournament.

Mrs. Marshall is the mother of four. David, 16, is in the San Rafael Military Academy; Pam, 14, who was "almost born in a hotel elevator" is currently in the 3 R School in San Rafael; John, four, attends Alphabet School in San Anselmo and Robert, is three.

Besides the retirement hotels, the Marshalls also head the Lombard in San Francisco which is completely opposite in that it is designed just for young people. Here, young people enjoy dances, rooftop sunbathing and monthly parties.

The idea for the hotels, both for the young and old, has proven so successful it is now becoming popular throughout the United States. This gives Helen Marshall a bit of extra pride knowing she was a pioneer in this unusual field.

Pixie Parents Re-Elect Mrs. Clark L. Curtis

Mrs. Clark L. Curtis of San Anselmo has been re-elected president of Pixie Parents. A four year member of the organization, she has served as the chairman of its annual Easter Egg Hunt and Fair.

The members of Pixie Parents provide and maintain a playground for pre first grade children. Visitors are welcome at the playground located in the Marin Art and Garden Center. Two visits are allowed before joining, and membership is open to all parents or guardians of pre first grade children.

Her husband Clark is employed by Pacific Telephone Co. The Curtises have lived in Marin County for nine years. They have three sons: Robert, 7; James, 5 and William 2.

Other officers for the year are Mesdames Mortimer Kohn, vice president; Alfred Noble, secretary; Kenneth Gelatti, treasurer and Paul Miersch, operations chairman.

Serving on the advisory board are Mesdames Andreas Stavrou and Royce Truex, Easter Hunt and Fair chairmen; Mervyn Burke, hours; Roger Erickson, membership; Lee Hotchkin, equipment painting and repair; Richard Auslen, gardening; Arlen Ellis, pavilion maintenance; George Howard, surface maintenance; Gerard Daly, Patter editor; Jack Caldwell, Patter mailing; James Patrick, publicity and Wendell Butler, birthday party area chairman.

SHOW CAST

she was in charge of costumes and the sets for the college's annual "Tree Day," a musical revue and a dance.

Much of Mrs. Frederick's volunteer work in Marin County has been in the areas of music, art and drama. She has worked for the Marin Symphony, has been on the Board of the Civic Ballet, and belongs to the Junior Theatre where she has worked on props, make-up and has also acted in some of the plays. Mrs. Frederick also started an art program for the San Rafael schools when she was a member of the P-TA Board.

MRS. GORDON DOHEMANN of San Rafael recently put out a call for World War I uniforms, chef's hats, peasant blouses and bus boy's uniforms.

Mrs. Dohemann is making a few of the costumes herself; the others are being made or rented. With approximately 140 members in the cast, some having two or three changes, this means a monumental undertaking for Mrs. Dohemann, who must see that all costumes fit properly. She is assisted by Mrs. William Hickman of Greenbrae.

Mrs. Dohemann's talents were discovered by Mrs. Frederick last year when she was in charge of the props and costumes for the special vignettes in the 1967 Junior League fashion show. Karen Dohemann served two terms as P-TA president of San Pedro School and is on the board of Juvenile Hall.

ASIDE FROM Marin leadership, many of the cast dancers and other assistants are familiary faces in Marin, and will be cheered on by friends and family members when the show hits the boards at the Civic Auditorium on Friday night.

Newlyweds Will Reside In Novato

Marsha Lee Walkenhorst and Hansten Martin Warner were united in marriage at the Oakland Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints on Saturday.

Susan Watson of Mountain Home, Ida. was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. John Warner, Julie Stewart of Lodi and Margaret Walkenhorst of Napa.

Best Man was the bridegroom's brother, Larry Warner of Novato, and ushers were John Warner of Paicine and Robert Watts of Chico.

A reception was held in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Novato. The couple left on wedding trip to Carmel and will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended Napa Junior College. She is the sister of Danny, Stewart and Margaret Walkenhorst.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin Warner of Novato are the bridegroom's parents. He was graduated from Novato High School and is employed with Albay Construction Co. in Concord.

To Clean Board

Wooden chopping boards need regular cleaning. To remove stains and odors, sprinkle the dampened board with salt and let stand one or two hours. Then, leaving salt on the board, scour with a plastic mesh ball, dipped in warm water. Rinse off salt and apply a diluted solution of chlorine bleach and water. Wipe dry with paper towels.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Marin is home to many fine purebred show dogs. But one of its most unusual and most successful canine inhabitants has never known the show ring. And he's far from a purebred. Tomorrow's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine tells the story of Charlie, the mongrel who has made good as a professional model. You'll find him a delightful character. And you'll recognize him next time he pops up on television.

Another of Marin County's public officials has been selected as the subject for the popular "Profile of a Marinite" feature in tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement. He's Stanley J. Fontez, county tax collector and treasurer. I-J Civic Center reporter Wat Takeshita has written his story. You'll find Stan Fontez an unusual and interesting Marinite, both in his public and his private capacities.

'Don't Shoot, Mable' A Worthy New Effort

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — Every repertory company worth its salt should produce some original plays, and the American Conservatory Theater made its bid Wednesday at the Marines Memorial with Jerome Kilty's "Don't Shoot, Mable, It's Your Husband," a look at today's world and what's wrong with it.

Kilty's message is not new, but at times his method of statement is, and he has managed, both in writing and direction, to convey our dire condition with wit and humor.

THE MESSAGE

The message is that we had damn well better start thinking and speaking out what we think, or we will end up as his characters do — in a plastic comfort chair, being fed from an aerosol dairy, while a computerized gadget on our head does our thinking. As the dairyman, Big Brother of the technological age, says in answer to a feeble protest, "You should have thought of that before!"

In this story of Mable Podjansky, her husband C. B., and Pat, the "neuter" who fathers one of Mable's children, Kilty follows a logical time progression from World War II to the present, yet manages to give an effect of interwoven time — of things happening simultaneously. Mable and Pat sit in a blacked-out London flat which is suddenly bathed in the white heat of the atomic explosions that ended the war. Says Mable, "Put up more curtains. If it happens again, we don't want to see it."

CHANGES ROLES

In Act One, C. B. is a flier, believing that his duty lies in dropping bombs. In Act Two, he has become a film director, and has made his two children into stars, while Pat and Mable still live in London on a daily dole of heroin from the state.

C. B., making a film based on his guilt feelings as a bombardier, called "Butterfly of the Ashes," precipitates a strike on the set. It rapidly spreads until all the workers of the world are on strike. Kilty shrewdly builds this to a pitch of anti-unionism, complete with strikers throwing bricks at pop-up targets of LBJ, Nixon, DeGaulle and others.

FREEWAY SIGN

At the riot's height, C. B. dons a Hitler uniform and offers himself as the man on a horse who will solve the world's problems. Mable shoots him. The third act is concerned with her trial, and the further progress of the children, Marilyn and Tony. It is played before a large sign with the freeway warning "Turn Back, You Are Going The Wrong Way."

There are only three speaking roles, but each assumes a number of characters. Three Cocteau-like "Prime Movers" with bandaged faces and goggles, move the scenery and props, but never speak.

Barry McGregor as C. B. plays alternately in British, American, Polish and French accents, all well done, and tops the evening with a quavering judge who is totally different from the others. McGregor's performance is a virtuoso one, equal in many respects to some of the things Rene Auberjonois has done, although there is no similarity in techniques.

COLBY SHINES

Barbara Colby alternates between the earthy Cockney Mable and the vapid starlet Marilyn, and caps her performance by becoming Pat's alter ego. She is excellent.

Mark Bramhall's Tony is good. His Pat lacks definition, which may be the characteristic of a neuter, but which fails to carry on stage.

"Mable" is scheduled for 10 performances scattered through the next two months, so check the schedule if you want to see it. It's well worth seeing. We don't get many new plays around here, and certainly few with as much to recommend them as this one.

Valentine Concert Set At Lagunitas

Sir Francis Drake High School's music department will present choral and instrumental music at a "St. Valentine's Day" program at 8 p.m., Wednesday at Lagunitas School's multi-purpose room.

Featured soloists will be soprano Terry Withers and harpsichordist Nancy Bennett.

There also will be selections by the band, chamber orchestra, a recorder trio and the Darrell Parker chorus.

There will be a display of children's art as a scenic backdrop for the program.

Husband Denies Marijuana Count

His 18-year-old wife, Joan, was referred to the county probation office to see if she is eligible for juvenile court handling of her marijuana possession charge.

Divorce Reforms Bill Bringing Hot Debate

LONDON (AP) — Members of the House of Commons are debating today a radical reshaping of Britain's divorce laws.

Thousands of wives resent and fear some proposed changes as an attempt to create "a Casanova's charter." But the climate of opinion in Parliament favors legislation that would openly permit divorce by consent—and even allow divorce by compulsion.

Backers contend the divorce reform bill would promote truthfulness and honesty, giving many estranged couples the right to part without giving false evidence.

The heart of the bill is a proposal that divorce may only be granted on grounds "that a marriage has irretrievably broken down."

Single matrimonial offenses —such as an impetuous adultery, later regretted—would no longer be unassailable grounds for ending a marriage.

Most controversy swirls around two proposed grounds for divorce—

If the husband and wife have lived apart two years, and neither objects to a decree.

If the husband and wife have lived apart continuously five years, even if one of them objects to ending the marriage.

The latter clause has particularly outraged many of the bill's critics. They foresee many middle-aged wives as compulsorily divorced and left without enough money.

Baroness Summerskill, physician and champion of women's rights, argues that men stand to benefit most from the bill.

"If a change is to be made in the law, it is absolutely fundamental that adequate provision should be made for the first wife, who has served her family well over the years and then—through no fault of her own—is compulsorily divorced in favor of a younger woman," she says.

Poll Report Due

Results of a questionnaire mailed to Sausalito voters on preferred sites for a new library will be discussed when the Sausalito library board meets at 8:30 p.m. Monday in the city council chamber.

Rockwell's Slayer Is Free On Bond, Pending Appeal

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — John Patler, convicted of first-degree murder in the shooting death last Aug. 25 of American Nazi party leader George Lincoln Rockwell, is free on bond pending an effort to overturn the conviction.

Patler, 30, had been in jail since his arrest shortly after Rockwell was slain at a shopping center near the rundown estate he used as party headquarters.

A hearing is scheduled for Feb. 23 on a defense motion to set aside the Arlington Circuit Court jury verdict. Patler's attorneys said if the motion is denied, they will appeal.

In a related development, the American Nazi party filed a suit in federal court against the secretaries of defense and the Army in an effort to win a court ruling to permit what they consider a proper burial for Rockwell, a World War II veteran, in a national cemetery.

Rockwell's body was cremated shortly after his death. The Army has granted permission for burial in a national cemetery but will not allow party members to wear Nazi uniforms and insignia or allow display flags at the interment.

Rockwell's remains were brought to Culpeper National Cemetery in Culpeper, Va., a few days after his death, but Army officials turned away the Nazi party members because of their apparel.

Nurses To Ballot On New Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Some 3,500 Bay Area registered nurses will vote next Friday on a new contract featuring increased wages and fringe benefits and retroactive to last Jan. 1.

The Feb. 16 vote climaxes five and one-half months of negotiations between the California Nurses Association and Bay Area hospitals.

DRAMA REVIEW

ACT Presents A Powerful 'The Crucible' Production

SAN FRANCISCO — "The Crucible," Arthur Miller's probe into the roots of intolerance and mass hysteria, last night joined the American Conservatory Theater's repertory in a powerful and compelling production at the Geary Theater.

Directed by Allen Fletcher and William Ball, the story of the Salem witch hunts comes to life potently, sparked by several stellar performances. Most, though not all, of Miller's too talky scenes, are revved up to hold interest.

Although the plot revolves around Abigail Williams' vengeance on farmer John Proctor after he refuses to continue as her lover, the real meat of the show comes in the trial scene, presided over by Deputy Governor Danforth, a dogmatic, meticulous man whose whole philosophy becomes clear when he refuses to stay sentences of execution "because 12 have already died on the same charges."

Danforth is played with superb command by Jay Doyle, who makes this veritable monster of righteousness completely believable.

Rev. John Hale is the most rounded character, for after arriving in Salem as the representative of the establishment, he is forced to realize that the whole thing is a fraud, and so turns against all his teachings. Ken Ruta, taking advantage of the possibilities for drama in Hale, gives by far the finest performance in the show.

Abigail, the ringleader of the girls whose supposed visitations from the Devil trigger accusations of innocent people, is well aware of what she plots throughout. Carol Mayo Jenkins plays her so innocently that it is hard to believe her capable of what she is obviously doing.

Kitty Winn as Mary Warren, the girl who turns on the others in an attempt to save Proctor's wife, is sincere, forthright and well controlled in her final scene of hysteria.

George Ede's violently volatile Giles Corey, Robert Gerringer's doddering old man, Josephine Nichols' sympathetic Rebecca Nurse, and Angela Paton's troubled Elizabeth Proctor all help to round out the production.

Which brings us to the weakest link, John Proctor. This angry man, with Hale, is the conscience of the community. He goes to his death in preference to lying to save his life. In appearance, Ramon Bieri gives the robust strength of the man, yet his roars seems to die aborning, as though he lacks the courage of Miller's convictions. He also is victim to a habit I have noticed in other roles — that of hesitating in mid-line. Yet Bieri's Proctor is not a bad acting job—it just could be better.

Stuart Wurtzel's sets are ingenious open constructions of rough wood, which the cast moves quickly to obtain the desired locale. Lewis Brown's homespun costumes are just right, as is John McLain's evocative lighting.

Despite my reservations, Ball and company can be proud of this one. It's a worthy addition to the rapidly swelling repertory. — K.B.

Traffic rules for pedestrians were first imposed in Rome by Pope Boniface VIII for the large crowd converging on St. Peter's in the Holy Year 1300.

'L'il Abner' Offered At Novato High

"L'il Abner," a comedy based on the comic strip characters and presented by the drama department at Novato High School, opened a six-performance run yesterday in the old gymnasium at the high school.

It will be performed again at 8:30 p.m. today, tomorrow and Feb. 15,16, and 17.

The role of L'il Abner is played by Hank Hicks, former president of the school's associated student body. Glenna Grewe is Daisy Mae; Sandy Henry is Mammy Yokum and Fred Debhart is Pappy Yokum.

It is a big production for the high school with a cast of more than 80.

The high school chorus and orchestra will perform. The orchestra is under the direction of John Yardas and the chorus under the direction of John Enders. The production is under the direction of Russell Doreosch.

Black Point Club To Hear Mobile Homes Proposal

A proposal to build an 1,800 mobile home park on 710 acres west of Black Point and north of Bel Marin Keys will be explained to the Black Point Improvement Club when it meets at 8:30 p.m. today at the Byron McDonald rumpus room at 81 Manzanita Avenue, Novato.

Jack Kenney of Kenney Homes which originally had planned on a single family development for the area, will explain his present plans for a mobile home park around an artificial lake to be constructed on the property.

Kenney said that the cut back in building has forced him to change his plans. The proposed mobile home park lies outside of the city limits of Novato and therefore will come before the Marin County Planning Commission.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Lin Fa Gardens Draws Fanciers Of Organ Music, Chinese Food

A perennial favorite among Marinites who like Chinese food is Ethel Barrie's pioneer restaurant at Northgate — Lin Fa Gardens.

There is usually a two-way split at the little wooden bridge inside the entrance. One group makes directly for the Oriental delights of the dining room as though the food from chef Lom Hin's kitchen is about to be cut off forthwith. A more leisurely group takes a right turn into the Mai Tai lounge, but here again the prime purpose may be twofold, either to sample the merchandise therein for its own sake or for the pleasure of listening to the organ music.

Dick Sederman is the present performer at the console. He is a man of much talent and possessing a remarkably varied repertoire for one of his young age. Many can reel off the popular numbers of the day, but fewer players are able to keep the oldtimers happy. He is a serious musician.

Lin Fa Gardens is a gathering place for many organ music aficionados and next Thursday Doris Valentine from San Diego will play at 8 p.m. in the banquet room. The program is sponsored by the Marin Hammond Organ Society.

Doris was once a dancing partner of Bernie Whaley of Sausalito, who is now instructing in organ for Sherman Clay School of Music, San Rafael. She has been playing from Mexico City to Hawaii.

Dick Sederman won't be playing Tuesday, but undoubtedly will be in the audience.

Order one of Ethel's Chinese dinners while you are there; there is American fare, too.

LATEST WORD on the opening of the new Lyons Restaurant in Greenbrae is that the completion target is July 1.

It is under construction at the south side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between the Bon Air Center and the Redwood Highway. Like the 20 other Lyons restaurants throughout Northern California, including the one at Northgate's Unit Three, this will feature a moderately priced menu with complete breakfasts, lunches and dinners as well as sandwiches, after theater snacks, fountain specialties and even gourmet dishes.

Unlike the one at Northgate, the Greenbrae restaurant will have an adjoining cocktail lounge accommodating 50 persons. The dining room will seat 135 at counter, booths and tables and will be open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

EL BORRO, Tiburon's svelte little Mexican restaurant, will be open for both lunch and dinner next Monday, Lincoln's Birthday. It's usually closed that day of the week.

Incidentally, the Sangria wine is now being sold here by the glass as well as by the pitcher with your meal. Mesdames Boat and Kepple have tapped a new source of supply in Spain.

FINALLY I caught up with Art Allison, dynamic piano performer and entertainer at Black Point Inn. Last time I tried to take in his act he was on a vacation.

Jess Fisher has always spoken of him enthusiastically and I can understand why. He simply never runs down. Art is from Honolulu, but his music is by no means Waikiki beach strains nor the Hawaiian War Chant, although undoubtedly these are in his repertoire. He's all over the popular scale with a little Spanish thrown in.

My suggestion is to get to Black Point early enough to enjoy your dinner, then settle down in the lounge afterward to listen to Art. He's there Wednesdays through Sundays, which gives you a good choice of nights.

Suggestions for dinner: Any of Dick Braughton's German dishes or the steak and lobster combination are highly recommended. Dick by the way is soon to be spelled by his twin brother — first name I've forgotten, already.

FOOD TO TAKE OUT is featured at a new little place in the Strawberry area: Jon's Food to Go, at 930 Redwood Highway. This is where the Chicken Koop used to be.

Owner Jon Matsuno of Mill Valley specializes in takeout sales, but not deliveries, of Spanish food and barbecued chicken from noon to 8 p.m. Wednesdays through Thursdays. Closed Tuesdays.

SPEAKING of food to take home, Diller's of San Rafael is now preparing hors d'oeuvres for that special party you may be planning. Smoked salmon rolls, fancy stuffed eggs, chicken salad, ham and cheese, chopped liver, baby California Shrimps and a long list of other tantalizing snacks are offered.

This downtown San Rafael delicatessen is also a place where you can go in any day of the week, including Sunday, sit down to a delicious pastrami and rye sandwich and follow that up with some of Ma Diller's creamy cherry cheesecake. I don't think you'll want to follow that up with much of anything but a groan of sheer satisfaction.

DORIS VALENTINE
To appear at Lin Fa

Sometime next month he'll be acquiring Gerry Buckley's real estate office next door at 73 Red Hill Avenue. This will be remodeled into an old English tavern with a stone floor to connect with his present pub, dart board and food operation. He plans to furnish it with old banquet style tables and says this will give him space for about 60 more diners and also enable him to cater to lunch groups.

This will probably be the only restaurant in Marin County with six restrooms. Each time Don takes on more space he acquires its sanitary facilities.

Meanwhile he has an extra good special for next Tuesday night — Valentine's Eve. Bring your wife or girl friend for dinner. Her meal is on the house.

FOR ITS 12TH YEAR, Sabellas of Marin will donate dinner and service to the American Cancer Society on its benefit dinner Feb. 26, the last Monday night of the month.

This is always a gala affair with plenty of entertainment and a no-host cocktail program. Tab is $10 and tickets may be obtained from the American Cancer Society headquarters in San Rafael.

WE ARE SORRY to hear that accordionist Al Stone, who has been playing recently at Le Chalet Basque, is on the sick list and may be confined to his home for an extended period.

Meanwhile, Raymond Costarat tells me that he has no plans to replace him at the restaurant, and will probably have entertainment only on special occasions.

The only day he ever missed staying open was Christmas before last and there was so much ado about it from his regular customers he isn't about to make that mistake again. He is also on an around-the-clock schedule.

THERE ARE new lunch and dinner selections on the menu at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael — with well rounded coverage in each department. Complete dinners are in the $2.75-$3.45 range.

THE TYPE IS SET and ready for the new Marin Dining and Wining Guide, which will be issued with your Independent-Journal next Thursday. You'll find your favorite restaurants updated with new information and a number of additional establishments opened in the last 12 months or scheduled to open soon.

Keep it handy for reference throughout 1968.

Mayor Critical Of Crime Checks

STANFORD (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh says government at all levels has failed to "effectively respond to the crisis which faces us" with crime in the streets.

Cavanagh, a Democrat, told a Stanford University audience: "State government has traditionally failed to realize the seriousness of the situation just as the federal government, which I call silent spectators of intolerance, has failed to organize its priorities and its bureaucracy to meet the needs of today."

The mayor said any effort to control the situation on the local level might lead to "increasing guerrilla warfare."

Legality Delays Opening Graves

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said yesterday that excavation for graves of convicts whom prison inmates said were murdered and secretly buried would cease until he is assured such excavation is legal.

Rockefeller said yesterday he had asked the state police to check the legal aspects of exhumation and report their findings to him.

The State Penitentiary Board had given Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton the authority to dig at will and Murton had planned to resume digging at Cummins Prison Farm next week.

Three skeltons were discovered at Cummins Jan. 29 after inmates informed Murton they had seen prisoners killed and secretly buried at the prison.

Burial In East For Nick Adams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Nick Adams, 36, will be buried in Pennsylvania where as a boy he dreamed of becoming a movie star.

A rosary will be recited tonight in Beverly Hills. Requiem Mass will be celebrated next week in Berwick, Pa., the home of his parents, followed by burial there.

Adams was found dead Wednesday night of an overdose of a drug used to treat nervous disorders and alcoholism, an autopsy established yesterday.

Dr. J. Wallace Graham, deputy county medical examiner, said the cause of death was "paralydehyde intoxication."

Adams, former star of the television series "The Rebel," had been dead 24 to 36 hours, the autopsy showed. The body was found in an upstairs bedroom by his friend and attorney, Ervin Roder.

Biggest Tree Move Job Yet

STOCKTON (AP) — A 52-ton tree was pulled up an incline and replanted on the University of Pacific campus yesterday.

It took a dozen workmen with two tractors only five minutes to complete the biggest tree moving job west of the Mississippi.

Planners Reschedule Session To Tuesday

The Mill Valley Planning Commission will meet Tuesday instead of Monday next week becuase of Lincoln's birthday. The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the city council chamber.

The commission will consider a request by Swedish Motors, 489 Miller Avenue, to amend its use permit to allow displaying new cars outside the building.

BENTON A. SIFFORD JR.
Enters Larkspur race

B. A. Sifford In Larkspur Council Race

Insurance company executive Benton Alexander Sifford Jr., today became the second person to file for one of the three Larkspur City Council posts open in the April 9 election.

Robert Dexter Dolman, owner of Dolman Realty in Corte Madera, filed Jan. 31. Incumbents Earl John O'Grady, mayor, and Councilman Henry Brocco have announced their candidacies, as has William Eleckles, an attorney, but none had filed by noon today.

Sifford, who resides at 14 College Court, Larkspur, said, "to me Larkspur is a wonderful residential area, and I'm concerned with keeping it moving as a residential area with planned capital expenditures." He said with limited funds available, the city must plan ahead, "think about new public buildings including a library."

Sifford, 53, is assistant vice-president in charge of research at Firemen's Fund Insurance in San Francisco. He was born in Portland, Ore., and came to the Oakland area early in life. He is graduate of the University of California and was in the Army infantry four years, leaving with the rank of captain.

Sifford served as councilman for four years in Northbrook, Ill., was a police and fire commissioner, a member of the board of local improvements, and chairman of the United Fund drive, all in Northbrook.

He is president of College Park Homeowners Association in Larkspur, and a member of the coordinating committee of Parent's Hospital Association at Sonoma State Hospital. He is past director of Marin Aid to Retarded Children.

Sam Marinoff Sixth Entry In Sausalito Race

Sam Marinoff, 40, a furniture manufacturers' representative, took out nomination papers yesterday for the Sausalito City Council race April 19. Marinoff said he was "99 per cent sure" he would run.

A native of Chicago, Marinoff has lived in California 21 years, in Marin 14 years and in Sausalito seven years. He attended the University of California at Los Angeles where he received a degree in industrial engineering.

He is a veteran of two armed services, the Navy in World War II and the Army during the Korean conflict, when he saw combat. After World War II he joined the National Guard and was called into active service during the Korean war.

Marinoff, single, lives at 102 Edwards Avenue. He has no experience in government.

The council race is crowded with six potential candidates for three council seats. One incumbent, Alexander R. Imlay, has returned his nomination papers, but Mayor Mel Wax and Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin have not said whether they will run for re-election.

Other candidates who have taken out nomination papers are restaurant owner Robert C. Martin Sr., Artist Serge Trubach, planning commissioner George C. Hoffman and Mrs. Robin Sweeny, active in waterfront conservation.

School Districts Get U.S. Money

San Rafael and Sausalito School Districts were allocated federal funds for special programs yesterday by the State Board of Education.

San Rafael will receive $45,187 for increased psychological, remedial reading and speech therapy services for pupils in first, second and third grades. This is part of a $1,796,886 grant to 93 California districts for special assistance to educationally deprived children.

Anne L. Ellinwood Seeks Tiburon Post

Anne L. Ellingwood, former council member, today announced her hope of regaining the Tiburon Council seat she lost to Branwell D. Fanning by 35 votes in the 1966 election.

Miss Ellinwood was a member of the first Tiburon City Council in 1964 when she finished third in a field of 17 candidates.

HER PROGRAM

"I have been a regular at almost all meetings and the city's governing bodies," she said "and I am going to propose a 10-point program which I would like to help put into effect. If adopted, it would, I believe, make it possible for citizens to have a more direct and effective voice in the decision-making process.

"In the past 18 months I have expressed myself to the city council and commissions on most major issues, the zoning ordinance, the city budget, salaries, the personnel ordinance, hiking trails, consultants contracts and closed session, among others."

She promised to have available to citizens copies of the letters she has written on these subjects "so voters will know exactly where I stand."

13-YEAR RESIDENT

Miss Ellinwood has been a Tiburon resident for 13 years and lives at 1810 Mountain View Drive.

She is a daughter of Dr. Lathrop Ellinwood of San Francisco.

She is an honors graduate of the University of California with a master's degree in economics. She is serving a second term as vice-chairman of the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee, is a member of the board of directors of the Marin Conservation League and a director in two San Francisco organizations.

She is a charter member of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society and is a member of the California Association for Health and Welfare. She represented the third supervisorial district on the Marin Advisory Committee for Senior Citizens until it voluntarily dissolved last October and has also served on the Marin County Health Facilities Planning Committee.

TWO VACANCIES

There are two vacancies on the council as terms of Mayor John S. Hoffmire and Councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge expire. Hoffmire has announced he will not run again.

Former Councilman Fred C. Hannahs, attorney Denis T. Rice and grocer Fred R. Mantegani have already filed papers for the April 9 municipal election.

Papers have been taken out by Councilman Rampton W. Harvey, appointed last month when Strawbridge resigned, but he has not yet returned papers.

ANNE L. ELLINWOOD
Will run in Tiburon

Parked Car Vandalism Suspect Is Cited

A 14-year-old Tiburon youth suspected of being involved in vandalism was cited to the juvenile bureau yesterday by Sheriff's Deputy John O. Goff.

Haight-Ashbury Raid Nets 30

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police and state narcotics agents raided six locations in the Haight-Ashbury last night, arresting 30 persons described as hippie types.

Officers said marijuana was found in all six locations, methedrine in three of them, and 50 LSD tablets in one.

It was first big series of narcotics raids in the Haight-Ashbury in a month.

Fusion Power Seen Within Three Decades

BOSTON (SS) — Controlled thermonuclear fusion —the effort to harness the power of H-bombs for peaceful purposes — is moving so well that full-scale development could begin within five years, says Dr. David J. Rose of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

It might take 20 to 30 years beyond that before fusion could move into the power grid, though, he predicts. Fusion, the basic process of the hydrogen bomb, presents "no great problems as far as the physics goes to get the power out," he says.

PRE-DAWN BLAZE FOUGHT IN SAN RAFAEL

Firemen climb the roof to fight a fire early this morning in an unoccupied house at 59 Bret Harte Lane, San Rafael. The two-story residence was rented by Mr. and Mrs. Zul Jivani, who began moving in yesterday. Firemen said the fire started in a piece of furniture which had been placed over a floor furnace. Larkspur, Kentfield and San Rafael fire departments extinguished the blaze, which did about $10,000 damage.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — Friday, February 9, 1968 — 25

Non-Safety Of Explosives Charge Filed

A West Marin man was charged in Marin Municipal Court yesterday with the unsafe storage of a box of highly explosive blasting caps, which threatened to explode Jan. 26 in a trailer house fire.

Ian D. Hendrickson of the Gambonini Ranch on the Marshall - Petaluma Highway was arraigned and told to return Feb. 23 to plead to the complaint, which charges a violation of the state Health and Safety Code.

The trailer fire, started by a butane gas heater, burned for a half-hour before firemen brought it under control.

The caps, reportedly in a cabinet in the trailer, could have exploded at any time while the firemen fought the blaze, according to County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom.

The trailer was used as an office by the Buttes Gas and Oil Co., which uses the caps for strip-mining of mercury.

State law requires that blasting caps be stored in a locked, fire-resistant vault, according to Chief Bloom.

Upper Court Gets Duo Killing Case

Two members of a Santa Rosa motorcycle gang must answer in Marin Superior Court to charges they brutally murdered a San Rafael barber and his wife, Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. ruled today.

Bound over to the higher court for arraignment Feb. 19 were Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 24, and Kenneth Allen Preston, 20, both of Santa Rosa and members of the motorcycling "Grim Reapers."

They are accused of murdering Curtis O. Ackley, 27, and his wife, Shirley, 34, in their housetrailer near Smith Ranch Road in Santa Venetia Jan. 13.

DOORS STILL CLOSED

Ackley was shot four times. His hands were taped behind him and a pillow slip pulled over his head. Mrs. Ackley was raped, strangled, stabbed and shot.

Judge Goldstein said today his order banning discussion of the case by defense attorneys, witnesses, and all members of the district attorney's and sheriff's office will continue until the men are arraigned in the higher court.

The transcript of the preliminary hearing will be withheld from the public file, he said, to protect the prisoners from pretrial publicity.

In making his orders, the judge has relied on a United States Supreme Court ruling made in reversing the controversial conviction of Dr. Sam Sheppard in Cleveland.

DROP-OUT, PAROLEE

Preston is a drop-out from Santa Rosa Junior College. Sommerhalder, whose brother reportedly dated the daughter of Mrs. Ackley, is on parole for assault with a deadly weapon and was at the time of the murder.

Sheriff's deputies claim Sommerhalder had been to the Ackley trailer house once, before the murder, to pick up some clothes for Mrs. Suzanne Mulkey of Fulton, Sonoma County, daughter of Mrs. Ackley.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson has claimed the Ackleys were murdered when they came home after dining out and discovered their assailants stealing Mr. Ackley's gun collection.

Sommerhalder and Preston were arrested two days after the murder following a brief gun battle with police officers at a ramshackle cabin in Santa Rosa.

Two Arrested; One Is Suspect In Pistol Whip

Two Marin City men — one of them suspected of Monday's robbery and beating of the woman manager of the Hilarita Housing office in Tiburon — were arrested last night.

Edward Boone Green, 22, of 343 Drake Avenue, was booked at the county jail on suspicion of armed robbery and held on $5,000 bail.

Efrem Freeman, 23, of 18 Dutton Court, picked up with Green in a car in the Waldo Point section of Sausalito, was booked on suspicion of possession of a concealed weapon and held on $625 bail after a revolver was found in the car.

They were arrested at 10:30 p.m. by Sheriff's Lt. William Johansen.

Payments Studied For Fire Truck

Marinwood Community Services District directors last night debated ways of financing payment of their new $19,448 fire truck and its equipment worth $7,551.

Business manager Genevieve T. Bolding reported the meeting discussed the possibility of taking out a loan for the truck but paying for the equipment out of the general fund.

Directors put off a decision until another special meeting set for Thursday at 8 p.m. in the community center at which the repair of a park maintenance vehicle will also be discussed.

Shoulder Broken

William Reagan, 45, of Forest Knolls, suffered a right shoulder fracture yesterday when he fell about 15 feet from a timber pile while working at A. G. Schoonmaker Co. Inc., Sausalito police reported. He was treated at

Hearing Delayed; Report Not Ready

Psychiatric report on Jose Reymundo, accused of murdering his estranged wife, Mayoma of Homestead Valley, was not ready for his hearing yesterday in San Francisco Superior Court so he was ordered to re-appear on Feb. 15.

At that time Reymundo will enter a plea to the charge of stabbing his wife to death in a San Francisco parking lot Dec. 29 in an argument over family finances. Mrs. Reymundo lived at 159 Linden Lane, Homestead Valley.

Deputies Halt Youngsters' Glue Sniffing

Marin County Sheriff's deputies said today that they found a group of youngsters sniffing glue near an Ignacio creek bed Wednesday and reported them to their parents.

The boys were sitting in a circle and passing around two paper bags, which they would raise to their faces to inhale the fumes, the deputies said.

There was "much laughing and gaiety" each time a boy breathed in the bag, the police report said.

Two officers rounded up the boys and turned them over to their parents. Lt. Harvey E. Teague of the sheriff's juvenile division said the officers could not adequately identify the boys doing the sniffing. Their ages were not reported.

Stray Shot Victim Sues For $50,000

A Marin City man, shot by a stray bullet during a disturbance there last July, filed a $50,000 suit against Marin City and two unspecified governmental agencies today.

Charles Armstead, 62, of 237 Drake Avenue, claimed he was shot by police officers, whose names are unknown, on the night of July 28.

Armstead suffered a bullet would in his leg when a shot was fired through his second story window. The injury disabled him, he claims.

He asked $50,000 general damages, plus special damages for medical expenses and loss of income.

The same bullet struck her in the arm and Armstead in his leg. It was fired from outside the apartment building and passed through a wooden wall before wounding them.

There was so much sniper fire that night that ambulances for the shooting victims would not enter the area, but waited at the sheriff's substation near the freeway while the victims were taken there by neighbors.

San Rafael High Sued By Student

A San Rafael High School student sued the high school district, a teacher and some classmates for $75,000 in Marin Superior Court.

George Worley, through his father Ollie Worley, claimed he suffered permanent eye injury in a fight with classmates which should have been controlled by the San Rafael High School staff.

The suit named as defendants, the district, Gaylor Quandt, a teacher, Norman O'Neil, a student, and 10 John Does.

The Worleys asked $75,000 exemplary damages, plus special damages for medical costs and loss or income.

MISUNDERSTANDING?

Housing Bias Claim Denied By Sergeant

The executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission charged last night that an Air Force sergeant and his family were barred from military-approved housing because they are Negroes.

The airman, S/Sgt. James Davis, said today, however, he was not refused housing because of race and said the charge, by executive director Austin J. Thompson, was the result of a misunderstanding.

SERGEANT'S STORY

Davis, 30, now stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base after a year in Thailand, said that the family had found homes approved by Hamilton too expensive or already rented. He added that he had also sought to rent homes in Terra Linda and Petaluma through newspaper advertisements, but was told when he went to the landlords that these homes also had been taken.

Col. Charles L. Praul, commander at Hamilton, said that the list of rentals provided newly assigned personnel does not contain discriminatory landlords. He said these were screened out las year following a directive by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

NO ROOM ON BASE

Davis, of Wilmington, Del., arrived at Hamilton Air Force Base Jan. 24. After two weeks in guest quarters at the base, he set out through its housing referral office to find outside housing. Base housing for personnel of Davis' rank is filled, said First Lt. Scott Duncan, public information officer.

Davis said he and his wife, Mayble, and three children, ages 3 to 8, are staying at the Mission Lodge in Novato until base housing becomes available.

Thompson made the discrimination charge at a commission meeting in the Civic Center. He said Davis had told him he was denied housing in four places in Novato and Petaluma because of race.

McCarthy Backs Reagan's Budget

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, today endorsed Gov. Ronald Reagan's $5.7 billion budget and called criticism of it "political party-pooping."

"The simple facts of fiscal life are these," the senator said. "The rate of increase of California's welfare and Medi Cal spending are out-racing the growth rate of the state's economy and population alarmingly.

"The governor has promised he won't approve any more tax increases to pay for these or anything else—and I—thoroughly agree with him."

Of criticism, he said, "It is a case of one party engaging in political party-pooping in an attempt to discredit the other party."

Peninsula Club Picks Two New Directors

Two new board members were elected unanimously last night, completing the 11-man board of the Tiburon Peninsula Club, according to Alan W. Cundall, secretary.

Span Board Splits Over Repeal Bill

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway directors today voted 8-3 to oppose an assembly bill that would repeal the bridge district.

The bill is AB 174 by Assembly John F. Foran of San Francisco, which would dissolve the bridge district and turn it over to the state department of public works.

The vote came despite strong opposition by Stephen C. Leonoudakis and E. J. Guidotti of Sonoma County. They argued that a companion bill AB 175 should be discussed at the same time. AB 175, by Foran, would add three new directors to the Golden Gate Bridge district, and allow the district to study and operate all kinds of transporation including ferry boats and underwater tubes.

Leonoudakis said "If you submit this resolution on AB 174 as drafted, I can't see anything but the kiss of death for the district . . . Imagine the effrontery of trying to say that we own the bridge. We'd the laughing stock of everybody. Let's lay off until we can consider 175."

Director John E. Dearman of San Francisco joined Guidotti and Leonoudakis in opposing the resolution on AB 174 alone but they were out-voted by eight others, including the two directors from Marin, George H. Lundy and Thomas D. Hardcastle.

Walker Creek Grant Need Eyed

Marin County Soil Conservation District directors yesterday decided to ask advice from county supervisors and Marin legislative representatives on whether to continue study of Walker Creek watershed alone or try for a state grant-in-aid.

They also plan to discuss the matter with the North Marin Water District.

A conservation program and work plan for the district prepared by David Dresbach, field representative of the state Soil Conservation Commission, was adopted by the board with revisions they had made.

Directors changed the date of their next meeting to March 13 at 10 a.m., at the Grandi Building, Point Reyes Station.

More Japanese Now Think Of Emigrating

TOKYO (UPI)—The number of Japanese who would like to leave here and try to build a new life as immigrants in other countries has risen sharply in recent years. A Japanese Foreign Office survey showed that 6.2 per cent of those questioned in a random sampling of 46,000 men and women said they would like to settle abroad.

This figure compared with 1.4 per cent in a 1960 survey and 2.6 per cent in a 1965 survey. The three most popular countries for immigration mentioned were the United States, Brazil and Canada.

Bel Marin Keys Vacancies Filled

William Brebner of 12 Montego Key was appointed to fill the vacancy on the Bel Marin Keys Community Service District Board at its regular meeting last night at the pavilion.

He will fill the remaining two years of the term left open by the resignation of Roger A. Hicks, who moved from the area.

The election for the three board members whose terms expire in June will be consolidated with the June 4 primary, Mrs. James Zoeller, secretary, reported.

The terms of William Hanson, James Zoeller and Howard Bean will expire in June, she said.

Nomination papers may be obatined from Mrs. Zoeller and must be returned to the county clerk's office by March 22, she said.

Mule Equipment Is Still Made

BELLEFONTAINE, Miss. (UPI)—Although the horse and mule population has declined steadily in Mississippi in the last few decades, a firm in this Webster County community still is devoted to the manufacture of equipment for them.

The J.V. Wilson Leather Co. produces a complete line of saddles, bridles, blankets, spurs, whips and mule collars. A work force fluctuating seasonally from a dozen to 18 employees turns out products distributed in five states.

"The Commodore"

Opening tomorrow, February 10th

A new Model Home In The Greenbrae Marina

"Commodore" signifies leadership—This home, aptly named, is a leader in planning and styling for formal, yet casual, waterfront living.

With frontage on the widened Corte Madera Canal, you can have your power boat tied up just a few feet from your deck, ready for cruising San Francisco Bay and its tributaries.

3 Bedrooms, 2 baths, separate dining room, plus a family room with a massive used-brick fireplace and a wet-bar; the electrically equipped kitchen provides for serving directly to the deck through sliding glass doors, and has dinette space as well as a pantry closet. Split-level design sets the master bedroom suite apart from the other rooms in the home. Along with the new ideas in decorative treatment, this home is truly a leader.

A TOUCH OF WALDEN $21,950
Only instead of a pond, it's a creek that this charmer sits by the side of! Older grey frame home with large entry porch, nice sized living room (currently housing a grand piano), 2 bedrooms, 1 bath on entry level; kitchen, eating area, second porch and 3rd bedroom with room to expand on the lower level. All on a secluded little street with lots of trees. Eves. 456-8175.

STINSON BEACH $23,500

TEA AND SYMPATHY $34,950
Dispensed cheerfully from the warm living room of this charmer of a house with an aura of gaiety, peace and goodwill. The Monterey style of its architecture fits well on the level lot dominated by twin tulip trees and featuring several terraces. A flexible floor plan, with 2+ bedrooms, 2 baths, and a separate guest house. Eves. 456-1562.

FORMAL DINING ROOM! $43,950
Everyone asks for one and we've found a handsome, 3 bedroom, 2 bath, ranch style home with the traditional dining room of your dreams! Festive will be the fires in the great, lava rock fireplace in the living room, and come summer you may want to build a pool in the level back yard — fence is already in. Huge corner lot in Sleepy Hollow. Eves. 435-1590.

MEDITERRANEAN MANOR $59,950
OVERLOOKS SAUSALITO WATERFRONT!
Here's an authentic Spanish "original," with arched, carved doorways and other Mediterranean decorative touches. You can almost taste the paella when you see the striking dining room with its decorated tile floor. You can forego that trip to the Riviera, since your own Cote d'Azur is on constant view from living room deck or shady patio. Eves. 453-5718.

TOP OF THE WORLD $72,500
Here's a sparkling contemporary home atop its own sunny hillside in San Anselmo. Tall windows thruout reflect the sweeping views of oak-studded hills. Quality features include generous storage areas, work and study rooms, 2 handsome fireplaces, and the entry hall is large enough to house a grand piano! 4 bedrooms, 3½ baths, pool, close to elementary and high schools. Eves. 453-5718.

NORMAN FRENCH ELEGANCE $125,000
Here's Country French personified on a more than ½ acre site on Belvedere's west side with magnificent views. Owner decorator has provided for old-fashioned country house comfort in the cheery, provincial kitchen and separate dining room — both with quarry tile floors — 3 fireplaces, including one in the master bedroom, and tremendous storage. The look of country ease has been enriched with antique lighting fixtures, shutters and doors opening from most rooms to decks and terraces. 5 bedrooms, 3 baths plus separate servants' quarters with kitchenette and bath. BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE SAUSALITO SCHOOL DISTRICT

RESOLUTION NO. 109
RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE SAUSALITO SCHOOL DISTRICT AUTHORIZING LEASE OF THE OLD MANZANITA SCHOOL TO THE COUNTY OF MARIN.

WHEREAS, the SAUSALITO SCHOOL DISTRICT is the owner of certain real property known as the "OLD MANZANITA SCHOOL," and

WHEREAS, said property is not needed for educational purposes of the Sausalito School District at the present time, and

WHEREAS, the County of Marin is desirous of maintaining a pre-school program on said premises, and

WHEREAS, it is greatly to the advantage of the school children of the Sausalito School District and of the County for such a program to be operated, and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Education Code Sections 16201, et seq., a school district may, upon the unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees, lease school district property to a county upon such terms and conditions as the parties may agree, and

WHEREAS, a lease agreement has been prepared providing for the lease of the Old Manzanita School for a term of one (1) year, renewable at the option of the County for yearly periods up to a maximum of seven (7) years, at a rental of One Dollar ($1.00) per year;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED as follows:

1. That the Clerk of this Board publish this Resolution in a newspaper of general circulation in the district, once a week for three weeks.

2. That at the conclusion of said publication period the Chairman of this Board be and he is hereby authorized to execute said lease with the County of Marin.

SIGNS OF TIMES—Passengers crowd into brightly colored "jeepneys" in a terminal in Manila. They are once wrecked vehicles salvaged from the Vietnam war. (UPI Telephoto)

'Jeepneys' Crowd Streets Of Manila

MANILA (UPI) —An explosion roars in a Vietnam battle, and a jeep is knocked into a ditch.

Days later, the twisted, ripped and riddled wreck is dumped on a mounting pile of scrap at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airbase.

Six months later the jeep is roaring through Manila's madhouse traffic with a load of the most beautiful women in Asia and a driver who cares only that one pedal makes it go and the other makes it stop.

It has been given a surrey top, a paint job and chrome trim that looks like a drunken gypsy's dream of paradise, and enough multi-colored lights to guide all the air traffic at a big international airport.

It has become a "jeepney."

No one seems to know just how many jeepneys are plying the streets in and around Manila—or how many thousands more provide the only low cost transportation in the hinterlands of the Philippines. But there are enough to cause monumental traffic jams throughout the city almost around the clock.

No one seems to know, either, just who started the whole thing, although there are a number of Filipinos always ready to start a conversation with: "Did you know that I operated the first jeepney in Manila—while the fighting was still going on?"

If he did, it was stolen from the U.S. forces.

Soon after World War II ended, while American troops around the world were pushing abandoned equipment into the sea or piling it up and setting it afire, American officials in the Philippines relented.

Because of the shattered economy and the wrecked transportation system they turned over to the newly independent government the surplus stores of vehicles including thousands of jeeps that were too expensive to ship home.

The jeeps were sold to individuals and the jeepney was born.

Evolution of the jeepney probably started when a driver got tired of having his passngers climb over him to get to the back seat, an awkward move in good weather with the top down and nearly impossible when the top is up.

He may have started by sawing an access port in the back of the jeep. Then he reasoned that more passengers could be carried if he rearranged the seats along the sides so the passengers sat facing one another.

Commercialism has entered the jeepney business and what once was an individualistic labor of love is now a serious peso-earning business. But the products haven't lost any of their color.

Dozens of firms now build jeepneys.

The raw materials come in from Vietnam, Okinawa and other U.S. military spots, loaded aboard ship as scrap and brought into the Philippines nearly duty free.

The first step is administered by a group of young boys armed with wrenches. They unbolt, unscrew or pry loose every part they can.

By the time they finish, there is nothing left except a naked body and a twisted frame. That's when the men with the hammers start to work. When they are finished, the welders take over, plastering metal bandages over the wounds.

A coat of red lead and the parts start going back together again. But sometimes there are changes. On some, the bodies are lengthened. On others, the body and chassis both get stretched out a bit.

Jeepneys now are built to carry from eight to 18 passengers, and sell for about 9,500 pesos ($2,375).

Blithedale Park's Dedication Is Set

A park full of redwoods will be formally dedicated to the City of Mill Valley Feb. 17 in a development which city officials hope will set a precedent in future development of Mill Valley's remote areas.

Mayor Albert E. White will preside and councilman Michael Wornum, a professional planner, will speak briefly at the 11 a.m. dedication of Blithedale Park.

The 10.9-acre park is part of the 22-acre Blithdale Park Subdivision, formerly the Marsh Estate which dates back to Mill Valley's early days. The land lies west of West Blithedale Avenue beyond Marguerite Avenue.

The 22 acres are in a district requiring one-acre building sites, but city planner and San Francisco architect William Stephen Allen, who bought the property for development, worked out a plan of cluster development under planned community development procedure.

Allen laid out the 21 building sites on half-acre lots on the upper part of the site, leaving 10.9 acres along Blithedale Creek and West Blithedale Avenue which have been deeded to the city for park and recreational use. The lower site contains the largest redwoods on the property, Allen said.

The only addition planned in the park area is a hiking trail which the Mill Valley Kiwanis Club has volunteered to build.

Streets and utilities have been installed for the lots, which will be sold individually. Engineering was by Rhodes and Burton of Mill Valley and the contractor was Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera.

The park is the first dedication of "significant" open land and park as part of a planned development in Mill Valley, City Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon said. The clustering development helps preserve the hillsides, Bragdon said, and by linking such green areas a series of continuous hiking trails could run up the mountain toward state park land.

The site was originally the estate of George March, designer of the Japanese Tea Garden in Golden Gate Park and one of the first American importers of Japanese art.

The Marin estate was filled with Japanese buildings Marsh first set up for the 1894-95 midwinter fair in San Francisco.

Mountain forest fires swept over the estate in 1925 and again in the early 1930s shortly after March's death. Some traces of the Oriental showplace were still evident on the site until recent years.

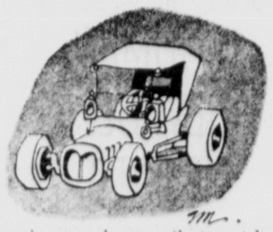
LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Vehicle Fees May Increase



Frank Flash bought a souped-up car from Sam Smith who had previously bought it for $500, but had put in $1,000 worth of fancy parts on the car. Frank got it for $1,000. Some months later the Department of Motor Vehicles billed Frank for an extra license fee plus a big penalty for the past three years. If he failed to pay his fee, the Department said, it would seize the car and sell it to pay off the debt.

Checking with his lawyer, Frank found out that he was stuck. People who remodel their cars, make improvements or modifications costing more than $200, must report this to the Department of Motor Vehicles. This increase in the car's value increases the license fee.

Unpaid vehicle fees become a claim against the car itself, and not the owner. This means that the debt follows the car. If one owner has failed to pay his fees, a later owner will have to.

A businessman who buys a modified truck, an especially equipped bus, or a trailer with special appliances, may have to pay the new fees unless the former owner had reported the changes and paid the fees.

You need not report inexpensive repairs, a change in the engine, or changes that cost less than $200.

When you register a car you pay a "use tax," which is somewhat like a sales tax, whether you bought the car from an out-of-state dealer or fom a private party. The state collects this tax from the buyer, not the seller. Cars brought into the state within 90 days after purchase from an out-of-state seller have to pay the use tax unless the buyer can show that when he bought the car he had no intention of using it in California.

The older the vehicle, the less the fee. For the first year the use tax is based on 85 per cent of the car's value; second year, 70 per cent; third, 55 per cent; fourth 40 per cent; fifth, 30 per cent; sixth, 25 per cent; seventh, 15 per cent, eighth, 10 per cent and ninth and thereafter, 5 per cent. All such fees are used for highway purposes.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Incontinence is involuntary loss of bladder control with leakage of urine. It is more common in women and the type caused by stress usually is the result of childbirth injuries.

The muscles and other pelvic tissues have stretched to such an extent that the opening to the bladder no longer is secure.

Stress incontinence is loss of urinary control whenever intra-abdominal pressure is increased such as when coughing, laughing, or sneezing.

It is more likely to occur among obese women and may be more noticeable when lifting or wearing a tight girdle.

INCONTINENCE may be persistent or transient. Some are bothered only during menstruation. Now and then it develops after the menopause when the tissues tend to atrophy or shrink. When the leakage is mild, it is easily controlled with a pad.

Systematic pelvic muscle exercises help some sufferers. The muscles of the pelvic floor are contracted 80 to 100 times a day. The effectiveness of the exercise is tested by trying to check the flow of the urine suddenly while voiding.

Electrical stimulation of the pelvic muscles has also been used with some success. But surgery is necessary when the condition is marked and not improved by exercise.

ESTROGEN hormones are useful when incontinence develops after the change of life.

Infection of the bladder opening is a common cause of incontinence. Interference with the nerve supply to the organ also leads to the disturbance.

In some instances, the bladder does not empty properly and the overflow escapes after the organ is full.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

EMOTIONAL DISORDERS

S. I. writes: We read about neurotics and emotional disorders but few of us know how the physician arrives at a diagnosis. Is the behavior of the individual a determining factor? It would help knowing what to look for in someone who might need special care before it is too late.

REPLY

Some people become nervous, tense, and irritable. Others are extremely quiet and withdrawn. Still others trust no one, even members of the immediate family.

Now and then emotional upheavals are followed by changes in the action of certain organs such as the heart, stomach, intestine, and scalp muscles. We have a leaflet on neurotic tendencies which can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

FAST GROWING BEARD

G. J. writes: I have a super 5 o'clock shadow. Is there any drug that would keep down the growth?

REPLY

You could take estrogens, but the cure might be worse than the disease. I advise you to shave twice a day if you are planning an evening out.

OVULATION BY ONE OVARY

D. S. writes: When a woman has an ovary removed, does this mean that ovulation takes place every other month?

REPLY

No, when one ovary is removed the other does the work of two.

EMPHYSEMA SURGERY

REPLY

Yes, but it is helpful only when there are large cysts in the lungs. This, however, is a rare form of the disease.

WHY KNEES NUMB

O. L. M. writes: What makes my knees numb when I sit with my legs crossed?

REPLY

Pressure on nerves.

SLEEPING BABY GIGGLES

A new mother writes: Why does my 16-month-old son giggle and smile in his sleep?

REPLY

Many week-old babies grimace and look as if they are smiling. Other children do the same and a smile or a giggle may indicate a pleasant dream. Babies seldom frown while sleeping unless in pain.

HERPES ZOSTER

Mrs. H. K. writes: Do shingle sores take a long time to heal?

REPLY

No. The blisters usually rupture within two or three days and the crusts that follow disappear within a few weeks. Elderly persons may be left with a painful neuralgia even after the other signs of the disease have disappeared.

SWIMMING WITH HERNIA

N. A. writes: Would it be harmful for a person to go wimming if he has a hernia?

REPLY

No, provided the hernia does ot get stuck (incarcerated) fter it protrudes from the opening. Surgical repair of the defect would solve this problem.

UTILITY OF TONSILS

M. E. writes: Some time ago, the National Health test made a statement that tonsils have a useful functio What is it?

REPLY

Tonsils consist of lymph tissue that tends to protect the body against spread of infection from the throat.

GRAPEFRUIT JUICE

I. B. writes: Does canned grapefruit juice contain any vitamin C? My children love it and I was wondering if they got any benefit from drinking the beverage.

REPLY

Canned grapefruit juice contains vitamin C and the children will benefit if the juice is taken along with a well-balanced diet.

Today's Health Hint — Unvented gas-burning heaters may cause carbon monoxide poisoning.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Networks Build Around Specials

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — This has been the season of special programs for television—and although some have failed, the successes have proved how valuable they are to networks on many counts.

The most recent success, of course, was Wednesday's memorable Fred Astaire hour. And it is worth considering how it shapes up in various areas against an ordinary series.

In the first place, this one hour—this single, solitary hour—probably got more advance notice, more attention, more reaction and more promotable newspaper comment than, say, 26 episodes of "The Mothers-in-law."

Then, for another example, there was the Frank Sinatra special, with Ella Fitzgerald as his guest. It also got tremendous reaction, a good rating—and won more attention for NBC-TV than, say, 26 episodes of "The Virginian."

There was also the Jack Paar special. And it, too, earned a top rating in relation to most shows, as well as considerable reaction and plenty of the publicity and newspaper space that seems to follow Paar—because of his personal appeal and his talent. Certainly a single Paar show gains more attention than, say, 26 episodes of "The Wild, Wild West."

There is talk that the networks may cut back on specials next season because they had trouble selling some of their one-shot programs. In addition, the election year coverage on which the networks traditionally go all out drains off funds that can be used otherwise, and seems to necessitate more than usual devotion to bread-and-butter series programs.

But the excitement generated for television by the specials this season has more than compensated the networks in their public images, and this is an incalculable triumph—one of those things that all the routine promotion cannot buy. And it is worth paying a bit of a price for.

Killy Wins Downhill Ski Race

SECOND PLACE SMILES — Three American skaters smile after taking second-place and silver medals in the 1968 Winter Olympics women's 500-meter speed skating event. Jennifer Fish, Strongsville, Ohio, Dianne Holum, Northbrook, Ill., and Mary Myers, St. Paul, Minn. all clocked 46.3 seconds two-tenths of a second behind winner Ludmila Titova of Russia. U.S. Gals Spring Surprise

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—Jean Claude Killy, France's cool colossus of the ski slopes won the men's downhill race at the Winter Olympic Games today while three American girls sprang a major surprise by sharing silver medal honors in the 500-meter speed skating test.

Killy, 24-year-old ace of the powerful French Alpine team, beat countryman Guy Perillat by a slender margin for the gold medal in the downhill, with J. Daniel Daetwyler of Switzerland third.

Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., and Dennis McCoy of Bishop, Calif., finished 18th and 21st, respectively, but the other two U.S. starters, Jim Barrows and Jere Elliott, both of Steamboat Springs, Colo., fell on the course and were seriously injured.

INJURIES

Barrows' right hip was dislocated. Elliott suffered contusions of his right shoulder and other minor injuries. Barrows will be hospitalized for several days. It had first been feared that his right leg was broken.

The victory opened Killy's bid to match the 1956 feat of former Austrian star Toni Sailer, who won all three Olympic Alpine events—the downhill, slalom and giant slalom.

Mary Meyers of St. Paul, Minn., Dianne Holum of Northwood, Ill., and Jenny Fish of Strongsville, Ohio, provided the speed skating fireworks, finishing in a startling three-way tie behind gold medalist Ludmila Titova of Russia in the women's 500-meter race.

IDENTICAL

The American trio finished with identical times of 46.3 seconds—two-tenths of a second behind the winner—and each will receive a silver medal, highest award ever captured by U.S. girls in Olympic speed skating competition.

Killy, the world's premier skier, zipped down the Chamrousse slopes in one minute, 59.85 seconds to win the downhill race, postponed yesterday because of bad weather, by less than one-tenth of a second.

Perillat, starting in the No. 1 position, had set a bristling race of 1:59.93. Daetwyler finished in 2:00.32 and fourth-place Heinrich Messner of Austria in 2:01.03.

Kidd, skiing on a tender left ankel which he sprained two days ago during practice, could do not better than a 2:03.40 clocking. McCoy was timed in 2:04.82.

TO RETIRE

Killy announced after the race that he would retire from competition after the World Cup race in Heavenly Valley, Calif., April 5-7. "I'm very happy about this victory," he said. "I'm especially happy I showed that I was in as good form as at Portillo two years ago."

The 2,890-meter downhill course was slowed by above-freezing temperatures when the race, which had been postponed yesterday because of wind, snow and fog, got underway.

Both Kidd and McCoy said the course was very fast in the top reaches and slow on the lower part.

Barrows and Elliott were among nine of the 86 starters who did not finish.

SECOND BUMP

"I hit the second bump on the course and took two somersaults," Barrows said.

Elliott said he caught a ski edge—at almost the same point where Kidd had fallen during Wednesday's non-stop practice run—and crashed head first through a fence.

Earlier this morning, the women ran their non-stop tune-up over a different course. Some complained about high winds at the top and poor visibility.

Capricious weather conditions continued to plague the men's and women's luge (small sled) racing events. Abnormally mild temperatures forced postponement of opening singles heat at Villard-de-Lans for the second straight day.

The day's first gold medal

Pro Golfers Shatter Par

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The par wreckers of golf, who had a pretty busy day in the first round, set forth again today in the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Tournament with virtually unknown Jimmy Powell in the lead.

Powell, a strapping 6-footer who teaches the game for a living at Indian Hills Golf Club in Riverside, gave such more renowned pros as Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer a lesson on how to whip the Torrey Pines Golf Club's par 36-36—72.

He did it yesterday over the 6,792-yard layout with 32-32—64, the lowest score of the 1968 PGA winter tour, and moved into today's play with a lead of two strokes.

Powell's eight-under-par performance didn't surprise him. He said very frankly that when he is confident of his game, he'll score low. "I was confident," said Powell.

Nicklaus, ending a three-week vacation from competition, was three shots back of the leader with 33-34—67, Casper was in the 68 bracket after 34-34 and Palmer was even par with 36-36—72.

Sixty-six of the 144 starting pros bettered par. It was rather frightening. But Nicklaus and some of the others predicted that the bombardment would relax when the tees are put further back and the course lengthened in the final two rounds tomorrow and Sunday.

To a man, the golfers have nothing but praise for the condition of the course. Casper called it one of the best municipal courses in the country.

Powell, a native of Dallas, Tex., has never won a major tournament. But he hasn't played the PGA circuits since 1964. He is too busy with his club duties and caring for a wife and four daughters.

In one of his rare tournament appearances, Powell played well in the Bob Hope Desert Classic last week. He had one bad round but picked up $914 for his efforts.

Four players were tied at 66—Ron Reif with a 31-35; Ray Floyd, 33-33; Ron Funseth, 32-34, and Tom Weiskopf, 32-34.

Nicklaus was deadlocked with Dave Hill and Marty Fleckman at 67. Casper was asked if he was surprised that a 68 still left him in a tie for ninth place.

"That's the way this game goes," said Casper.

Down the line—if 69 could be labeled down the line—was the defending champ Bob Goalby at 34-35—69. It was that kind of a first round.

Makeshift Warriors Triumph

OAKLAND (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, forced to play the last eight minutes with four guards and a forward playing center, crushed Cincinnati 126-109 last night in a National Basketball Association game.

The Warriors lost forward Joe Ellis in the first quarter with an ankle injury and he is expected to miss tonight's game at Los Angeles.

Jerry Lucas and Tom Van Arsdale scored 20 each for Cincinnati. Oscar Robertson, out of the line-up for several games with a leg injury, played briefly in the first quarter.

It's A Thinking Man's Game, Says Cerrudo After His 71

I-J SPECIAL REPORT

SAN DIEGO — There are some who think that all you need on the golf tour for a fast buck is a slow backswing. They, of course, are wrong.

"You've got to think out here," said Ron Cerrudo after finishing the first round of the Andy Williams-San Diego Open. "And what I've been doing these first few weeks is learning to think."

Cerrudo shot a one-under par 38-33 — 71 at Torrey Pines G.C., playing the back nine first. Not bad, particularly for a rookie pro who didn't even qualify for last week's PGA tournament. But not good, when you consider was four under after 10 holes — and that he is in a tie for 51st place.

Cerrudo was an early starter today and shot a two-over-par 36-38 — 74. That puts him one over par (145) in the tourney and in dangerous position. It appeard today that it would take par 144 to make the cut for the final two rounds.

Cerrudo, whose parents live at Peacock Gap, was one under going into the 18th hole. He reached the par-five, 501-yard hole in two and made a 15-foot putt for an eagle three. Then he dropped a six-foot birdie putt on the next hole — the 522-yard, par-five, first-to go four under. "Then I stopped thinking," Ron insisted. "I got too defensive. You can do that in amateur golf, but not on the tour. When you get four under, you got to go for four under — not try to hold it."

Cerrudo bogeyed the second hole, three putting from 40 feet, and then missed the greens at the fourth and eighth holes.

"I hit into the trap on the fourth," said Cerrudo, "and misclubed myself on the eighth. I really wasn't hitting it good on the front nine. Even when I didn't miss the green, I left myself long putts."

Cerrudo, who said he had a tendency to not concentrate early in a round, altered that tendency yesterday. He birdied the third hole he played — the 12th—with a four-foot putt.

Bulls Begin Working On One-Game Streak

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bulls, who had lost nine games in a row, gave the Detroit Pistons an excellent chance to make it 10, but the Pistons seemed too embarrassed to take advantage of it and now the Bulls are working on a winning streak of one.

Late in the second quarter of their National Basketball Association game last night, the Bulls were trailing by 15 points. Imagine their surprise when they won by 21, 131-110.

Jerry Sloan led a drive late in the first half that closed the gap at the intermission to 61-57 and early in the third period Barry Clemens, with five points, sparked a Chicago surge of 10 straight points and the Bulls were never threatened after that.

In other NBA games, Baltimore edged San Diego 106-102, Seattle whipped Los Angeles 115-110 and San Francisco humbled Cincinnati 126-109.

Jim Washington led the Bulls with 22 points and Sloan had 20 while Dave Bing had 22 for the Pistons.

A basket by Kevin Loughery put Baltimore ahead for the last time with two free throws with 1:10 remaining. Earl Monroe led the Bullets with 23 points. Don Kojis had 24 for the Rockets.

Ex-Champ Cassius Declares He's Through With Boxing

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Cassius Clay said yesterday that he's finished with boxing.

"All I want to do is work in country towns, teaching the truth, in the big fight for my people," said the former heavyweight boxing king.

He is in Phoenix to fulfill a Black Muslim speaking engagement.

Clay said he had not trained since his last fight, but said he was "good for five rounds under pressure." After that he said he was finished.

Concerning the top contenders for his former crown, he said they were "sparring partners for me—they're not in my class."

Clay faces a possible prison term for his refusal to enter military service when drafted. He was stripped of his world heavyweight title for the same reason.

OLYMPIC HOCKEY

Russ Drub U. S.

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Unbeaten Russia handed the winless United States its third Olympic hockey loss today, crushing the Americans 10-2.

The victory, their third, put the Russians well out in front in a bid for their third hockey gold medal in the last four Games.

They added two more in the first and four in the second—two by Anatoli Firsov, who also had one in the first—but the U.S. shut them out in the final period.

The Americans got off only two shots at goalie Viktor Konovalenko in the first period but then broke through for a pair of goals in the second. Don Ross of St. Paul, Minn., scored at 5:45, and John Morrison of Minneapolis tallied less than three minutes later.

Five of the first six penalties in the period were against the U.S. with John Morrison of Minneapolis and Larry Stordahl of Adina, Minn., each being called for two.

Appeals Court Affirms Ruling Against Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Franklin Mieuli, president of the San Francisco Warriors, won another legal move over his defected star, Rick Barry.

But it doesn't mean a thing in the team's battle to retain second place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division. Nevertheless, Mieuli remains a determined optimist to somehow root his team into the NBA playoffs six weeks away.

An appeals court affirmed yesterday that Barry must not play for any team other than the Warriors until his contract expires Sept. 30. That moraly firmed Barry's determination to sit out his option clause before joining the Oakland Oaks of the New American Basketball Association next fall.

He signed with the Oaks and co-owner Pat Boone for $225,000 for three years last June, hoping to break his Warrior contract. A court ruled he couldn't do that and he's lost two appeals from that decision.

NOVATO PREP WRESTLERS HEAVY PICK

Novato's unbeaten wrestlers will be heavily favored to take another Marin County Athletic League Wrestling Meet title at Terra Linda High School tomorrow.

Action begins at 8:30 a.m. in the 1968 meet as Novato brings three unbeaten wrestlers to the meet and five others who have not lost in duel meet competition.

Closest competition for the Hornets is expected to come from dual meet runnerup Redwood. The Hornets are strongest in the first eight weights and will being the Donaldson twins, Ken and Kirt, who between them have a 49-0 record.

Cincy Reds Trade Edwards To Cards

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds picked up catcher Pat Corrales and outfielder Jimmy Williams yesterday in a trade that sent slumping catcher Johnny Edwards to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Reds' officials assigned Corrales to their Indianapolis farm club of the Pacific Coast League and he will report as a nonroster player for spring training.

Williams, 24, played in only one game for the Cardinals last year as he served time in military service and spent the remainder of the season with two minor league clubs. He batted .273 in 13 contests with St. Louis in 1966.

Edwards slumped to .191 in 1966 and .206 in 1967 after being a three-time selection for the National League All-Star team.

The meet will begin at 9 a.m. both days. Admission is free. Thirty-six events will be run each day.

Killy Triumphs; U.S. Gals In Olympics Surprise

went to Toini Gustafsson of Sweden, who ended Russia's reign in the women's 10-kilometer (6.2 miles) cross country ski race with a wire-to-wire victory.

However, after the ice was resurfaced for the second section of competitors, Miss Titova flashed around the track in 46.1. The other two American girls, who followed the winner in the second section, made brilliant bids to better her clocking but could only match Miss Meyers.

Elisabeth Van den Brom of the Netherlands finished fifth in 46.6, but no bronze medal was awarded.

BRONZE

The only previous American girl to capture a medal in Olympic speed skating was Jeanne Ashworth of Wilmington, N.Y., who took the bronze in the 500-meters at Squaw Valley eight years ago.

"The only thing that would make me happier would be if those three medals were gold," said George Howie of Oconomowoc, Wis., coach of the U.S. women's speed skating squad. "Just think, if Titova had been two tenths of a second slower, it would have been four gold medals.

"I think you are going to see us win some more medals in the races to come—either tomorrow's 1,000-meter or the 1,500-meter in which Jenny Fish and Dianne Holum will be joined by Jeanne Ashworth."

In the women's cross-country ski race, Miss Gustafsson breezed to an easy victory in 36 minutes, 46.5 seconds. The 29-year-old gymnastics teacher is Sweden's first gold medal winner in women's cross-country competition since the girls first entered the Olympic Nordic events 16 years ago at Oslo.

SECOND

Berit Moerdre of Norway finished second with a time of 37:54.6 and Inger Aufles, also of Norway, was third in 37:59.9. Alevtina Kolchina of Russia, the pre-race favorite, came in seventh, more than two minutes behind the winner.

Russian women had swept all three medals in the event at Squaw Valley in 1960 and at Innsbruck in 1964.

The luge races, originally scheduled for yesterday, were put off again after 40-degree temperature softened the 1,000-meter ice track, where 52 men and 26 women were to compete in the four singles heats.

A acer official said it was doubtful that the races could be held tonight due to the forecast of continued mild weather.

Tam Vs. Redwood In Key Prep Game

The second of three great battles that will go a long way in deciding or tightening the Marin County Athletic League basketball race will be staged tonight when new leader Redwood (7-1) hosts erstwhile leader Tamalpais (6-1) in what is expected to be a sellout spectacle, at 8 o'clcok.

Watching no doubt will be Marin Catholic coach Larry Fulton who hosts round three Tuesday when Redwood visits his Kentfield lair.

By the time the round-robin is over, it could be a three-way knot — if Redwood wins tonight and loses Tuesday. But double victories could put the Giants in the drivers seat.

Tamalpais, which also had a perfect 6-0 mark last year at the halfway mark, will be trying to prevent another disastrous skid. Success depends a lot on center Pat Schafer, the all-league candidate hampered by an ear infection.

The MCAL scoring leader at 17.6 points per game scored only four points Tuesday and looked off form after missing nearly a week of practice and action.

If Shafer is on, the Giants could be in for another rough night such as the one they experienced at Tam the first time around. They will also have to stop Floyd Jackson, the springy forward who holds a 17.3 scoring average. And Leroy Barrow and Ron Blasingame are likely to score in double figures also.

But the Giants, whose top scorer is Tom Seidenberg at 10.6, have superior depth stretching right into the locker-room and nagging way of playing superb defense. If freshness will win the game, the Giants can smell like potatoes after a rain.

Good bet for a bundle of points is soph Jerry Piro, who has helped pace the last two Redwood victories. The Giants have won five in a row since losing to Tam in the first round.

In other league games, it's strictly jockeying for leftover prizes as Novato (4-4) visits winless Terra Linda (0-7) and defending champion Drake (3-5) hosts San Rafael (1-7).

Novato, four games ahead of its winless league season last year, will be paced by hot-shooting Steve McNally and super-sub Larry Ferguson while guard Pat Purcell, the league's third-best scorer, tops Terra Linda.

Fred Westcott with 39 points in his last two games has suddenly come alive for Drake, which also has another good shooter in Art Pla and plenty of rebounding strength in Don Alvarado and Don Stone.

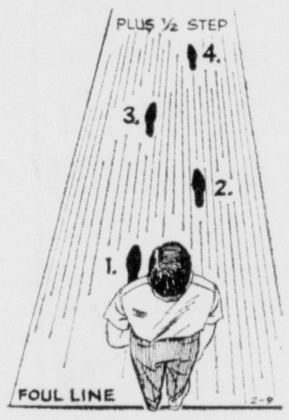
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



If you are wondering whether or not your approach is from exactly the right distance, try this test: Stand at the foul line with your back to the pins, and take four-and-a-half steps. Make your steps as natural as possible. Where you stop should be the point from which you start.

PACIFIC-8 BASKETBALL

UCLA Takes On Oregon En Route To Loop Title

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA invades Oregon this weekend with such a lead in Pacific-8 basketball that much of the interest now centers on the race for second place.

The Bruins play at Oregon State tonight with just one statistic in the favor of the Beavers —they're the only team in the conference shooting from the floor at better than 50 per cent.

So their strategy could be an attempt to hang onto the ball until they have that good shot. Oregon State has hit 99 of 186 tries for a .532 average.

The Bruins have a 5-0 mark in the conference and are 16-1 over-all compared with 2-2 and 9-6 for Oregon State.

Lew Alcindor, virtually recovered from an eye injury, leads the league both in scoring and rebounds with 36.5 points and 15.5 rebounds. His Bruins lead in three team categories — offense, defense and rebounding, having scored an average of 92 points per game, held foes to 65.6 and grabbed 263 rebounds to 191 for opponents.

All conference teams are in double action this weekend. Tonight Washington plays at California, and Washington State at Stanford, with Southern California at Oregon.

In the race for second place, USC leads with 4-1 followed by Washington State at 3-2 and OSU 2-2. UCLA showed its superiority over USC with a 101-67 triumph in last weekend's only league game.

Tomorrow afternoon, Southern California plays at Oregon State in the 2:30 p.m. regionally televised game. At night it's UCLA at Oregon, Washington State at California and Washington at Stanford.

Soccer Action On Tap Sunday

The San Francisco Athletic Club and the Greek Americans, one-two in the Northern California semi-pro soccer race, have key games on tap Sunday.

The San Francisco A.C., half a game ahead of the Greeks, meet third-place Scots at 1:30 p.m. at Balboa Stadium in San Francisco, preceded by a game pitting the Greeks against Mexico United at 11:45 a.m.

In other games Sunday, Teutonia meets Guadalajara of Oakland at 10 a.m. and Concordia takes on El Salvador at 3:10 p.m.

Wisconsin Kegler Rolls 852 Series

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Vic Koss of Madison rolled an 852 series, including a 297 game Wednesday night for what was believed to be the national high series in sanctioned bowling this year.

Koss put together games of 278, 277 and 297, rolling 11 strikes in the final game before leaving the 6-7-10 split after his final ball.

Football Clinic On Tap Tomorrow

Many Marin County coaches will attend the annual San Francisco Coach of the Year Clinic at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco tomorrow.

Drake — Carl Brown; Marin Catholic — Joel Kiff, Cliff Vattuone, Dave Gonsalves, Ron Tocchini; Novato — Al Scott, Tom Barrie, Mike Quinn; San Rafael — Bob Muster, Dave Wylie, Gay Quandt, Al Finnley, Dr. Edward Cook; San Rafael Military Academy — Randy Gold, Don Vachini; Terra Linda — Don Lucas, Hank Yamagata, Bob Pollitt, Fred Goodwin; College of Marin — Dick Read, Pete Limm, Ed Grimm, Marlin Olsen; San Jose Junior High — Hank Stiefel; Redwood — Phil Roark, Wes Price, Lyle Fisher, Wayne White, Stan Tobiason, Bob Sargent, Denis Ragan and Mike Roberts. Others — Tony Barbera, Rome Brusati and John Pagliaro.

Read will present the Small Junior College Coach of the Year award to Arvin Smith, Hartnell College coach, in an ironic moment for both coaches. The two teams tied 29-29 in a state semi-final playoff game, with Hartnell winning on a coin flip.

Guest speakers at the clinic include former Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson and Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty. Panel speakers will be National Coach of the Year John Pont of Indiana, Dee Andros of Oregon State, Doug Dickey of Tennessee and Earle Edwards of North Carolina State.

Clarke In L.A. Indoor Meet

His countryman, Kerry O'Brien, could be the toughest. A steeplechaser during the outdoor season, O'Brien hasn't been beaten indoor this season.

George Young, an Arizona school teacher who will seek to make his third Olympic team this summer, and Tracy Smith, who holds the indoor three-mile record, also challenge Clarke.

Special Coot Hunts Slated

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Two state waterfowl hunting areas — Gray Lodge near Live Oak in Sutter County and Grizzly Island in Solano County — will be open for a special coot hunting season on Feb. 17.18, the Department of Fish and Game reported.

Shooting hours for both hunts will be 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Hunters will need a valid California hunting license and permits will be issued, without charge, on a first-come, first-served basis. Gray Lodge will accommodate 350 hunters while Grizzly Island will handle 400.

There is no bag limit on coots but the birds must not be wasted, the department said.

Steelhead Anglers Must Wait; Pardee Dam Will Be Hot Spot

STEVENS

If the law of averages works out, there will be a flock of avid anglers hitting the road for their favorite steelhead river. The news has been so negative the past 10 days, we're due for some fast and fancy steelheading.

I just finished talking with Mrs. Crider of Navarro-by-the-Sea. Usually, when the Navarro starts producing most other coast streams north of the Golden Gate will be fishable. Mrs. Crider reported: "The river is badly colored, not a chance to catch a steelhead at present. It rained here on Tuesday, and that delayed things again."

So we will have to curb our desires for several days, and then only if no more rain falls.

A READER FROM Marin County — George Strickland — asks where is Wetherbee Lake — is it a good place for a weekend stay in our trailer, and what fish can we catch?

Whetherbee Lake is actually only a wide section of the San Joaquin River, 16 miles south of Stockton and southwest of Manteca. This is where the Willow Wood Resort is located. Plenty of parking room for a trailer, or for camping. Regarding fishing, (when water conditions allow) all warm-water (panfish) species of fish may be found. Black bass — perch — crappies — catfish — bluegills — frogs, striped bass and salmon are taken in these waters. Good bank fishing for stripers (at times — like right now, for example) and salmon. It's been a long time since I have fished Wetherbee Lake, but I have spend a number of lazy days at the resort. They have (or had) rental boats and usually bait or you can bring your own — especially angle worms.

THE LAST TIME I paid a visit to Wetherbee Lake and the Willow Wood Resort, Helen and Luther Hoisington operated the place, but I believe there are new owners now. To contact the resort for the specifics, write Rt. 1 Box 265, Lathrop, Calif.

Another body of water which has become a mecca for the weekender with a trailer, or camping gear, and where prospects look brighter than the arm of the San Joaquin River called Wetherbee Lake, is the vast Pardee Dam and reservoir, due to open for the 1968 season, March 1. If you have a yen to do battle with a nice Kokamee salmon, your chances look very good from where I sit. Lots of Kokamees just waiting to compete. Also hefty catfish are to be had at Pardee.

FOR FULL particulars on the complex, contact Paul Fletcher of the East Bay Water District. Drop a line to the water district's customer relations, P. O. Box 4616, Oakland, Calif. 94623. As in the past, the Pardee Recreation Center will be open to the public weekends, from Friday noon until Sunday night and on all legal holidays.

The average age of Americans at the end of 1967 was 27.7 years, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Salmon Fishermen Waiting For Start Of The Season

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Salmon refuse to follow patterns, so fishermen are keeping their fingers crossed as they await Feb. 17.

That's the day the ocean trolling season on salmon opens south of Tomales Point.

Crabbers and commercial fishermen, seeking other species, have reported running into salmon in volume working over bait schools at scattered loactions within hailing distance of San Francisco's Golden Gate.

Chinooks and silvers just are not dependable. The often fail to show up on schedule yet at other times are found in abundance when least expected.

The season runs nine months, through mid-November, and this time the outlook is good.

Ocean salmon trolling is largely a partyboat operation off the central California coast. Fleets operate daily out of Fishermen's Wharf in San Francisco, Sausalito, Richmond and Berkeley Yacht Harbor and from Santa Cruz, Capitola and Monterey in Monterey Bay area.

The fee for a rod holder ranges between $10 and $12.50 including bait. If you must rent the necessary medium salt water gear, it'll cost another $2.

Six different salmon species cavort off the coast, but virtually all of the sports catch is made up of chinooks and silvers.

The chinoook predominates and is taken mostly in the 10 to 15 pound bracket, although scattered lunkers ranging to 50 pounds, are taken each year.

The silvers, which constituted much of the early season catch the past couple of years, seldom weigh more than 20 pounds.

Daily bag and possession limit on salmon is three fish, two of which must measure at least 22 inches. The other can't be shorter than 20.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

San Francisco's New Japanese Center To Lure Tourists, Trade

San Francisco will acquire a new tourist attraction with the opening of the Kintetsu Enterprises Shopping Center and its 21 Japanese establishements in the new Japanese Cultural and Trade Center next Thursday.

The shopping area occupies more than 50,000 square feet in the center, on Post Street between Buchanan and Laguna streets. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. seven days a week.

Major business tenants are the Suehiro Restaurant, Nissan Motor Corp., Kinki Nippon Tourist Co., Hitachi, Ltd., Mitsubishi Exhibition Center, Murate Pearls, Gallery Kabutoya, Ikenobo Institute and Misa's Boutique. Others include a gift shop, florist, teahouse, bar and liquor store.

Also located in the center are the Japanese Trade Center, the City of Osaka and the Japanese National Organizations. Opening jointly with Kintetsu on Thursday will be the new 172-room Miyako Hotel.

WHITTINGTON OIL CO. will acquire Tahoe Paradise, Inc., real estate company in exchange for more than one million shares of stock. Included in the agreement is all of the capital stock of Tahoe Paradise subsidiaries Tahoe Paradise Water and Gas Co., Tahoe Paradise Investments, Inc. and Tahoe Paradise Real Estate Inc. Whittington in headquartered in Shreveport, La.

THE RUCKER CO., Oakland, and the W. R. Ames Co., Milpitas, have announced that their respective managements have approved in principle the acquisition of Ames by Rucker, for a cash purchase price of almost $7 million.

PAN AMERICAN WORLD AIRWAYS, INC. had 1967 net income of $66 million or $2.02 a share, compared with $71.9 million or $2.31 a share in 1966. Total operating revenues of $950 million were up 13 per cent but operating expenses for the year increased 17.8 per cent due in part to more revenue miles flown.

BULOVA WATCH CO., INC. earnings for the third fiscal quarter ended Dec. 31 increased 23.2 per cent to $1.7 million, equal to 82 cents a share on sales of $39.8 million. This compares with earnings of $1.39 million or 67 cents a share on sales of $35 million for the corresponding quarter of a year ago.

UNITED STATES STEEL CORP. directors have declared a dividend of 60 cents per share on the common stock, payable March 9. Income for the fourth quarter of 1967 was $51.7 million on sales of $1,053.1 million. Income for the year is reported at $172.5 million on sales of $4,067.3 million, compared with $4,434.7 million in 1966.

CALIFORNIA FINANCIAL CORP. reported net earnings of $600,000 or 21 cents per share for the year ended Dec. 31. This compares with net earnings of $439,262 or 15 cents per share for 1966. In addition to Security Savings and Loan Association, California Financial Corp. Subsidiaries include Marin Title Guaranty Co. and several other firms.

PAPERCRAFT CORP., Pittsburgh, Pa., directors have voted to increase the regular quarterly dividend on common stock to 11 cents per share, payable Feb. 29. The previous quarterly dividend was 10 cents per share and this represents the seventh dividend increase in nine years.

SUPREME OIL AND GAS CORP., Mountain View, has reelected Denzil H. Logan chairman of the board and James G. Seebold has been named president.

COMPLETE LIST ON SATURDAYS

The daily list, to be found on the I-J's Business Page, is a selected list of the 500 most active daily stocks carried on the Exchange.

Stock Market Shuts With Sharp Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market losses deepened late today and the stock market closed sharply below a support level represented by the low of last Nov. 8.

Losses outnumbered gains by about 4 to 1 in final dealings marked by heavy selling. The ticker tape was seven minutes late at the close.

Concern about the fighting in Vietnam and of the dangerous situation in Korea overhung the market and made traders unload in advance of the uncertainties of a three-day weekend. The markets will be closed Monday for Lincoln's birthday.

Also very active, Occidental Petroleum dropped about 7, Polaroid 6, Collins Radio 3, McDonnell Douglas and Ling Temco Vought 2.

IBM was off about 8 and Du Pont around 3.

The market sank from the start, cut its losses for a while as traders made profits in a technical rally, and then fell to its lows for the session.

Prices also fell on the American Stock Exchange.

Computer Faces Superman Test

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—A computer is going to try to do what men have failed to accomplish—predict the actions of women.

The Frigidaire division of General Motors thinks it can, by computer, evaluate the forecast the appliance buying habits of the American housewife.

The IBM computer will attempt to help company managers anticipate demand months in advance. It will add sales activity, market forecasts, economic indicators and other related materials.

Developers admit they are having trouble programming the machine for feminine intuition.

American Motors Has Profitable Quarter

DETROIT (BW) — American Motors Corp. has announced its first substantial quarterly profit in two years.

"Net earnings from operations were $4,483,167, or 23 cents a share, for the first (Oct. 1-Dec. 31) quarter, on net sales of $246,834,416, after provision for income taxes of $3.13 million, compared with a net loss of $8,459,917, or 44 cents a share on net sales of $257,272,506 for the same quarter in the previous year.

Bahia Tract To Be Sold At Auction

The 900-acre Bahia subdivision in Novato will be auctioned off next month to a satisfy a $3,500,000 loan.

The property, owned by the Bahia Properties Corp. of Novato, is the site of an extensive hillside and marina residential development which was planned by Brown and Kauffman of Palo Alto over two years ago and then got bogged down because of insufficient funds to complete the job.

M. W. Finley, head of Bahia Properties, said his company put about $4 million into preliminary grading, roadwork and utilites on the property. He said Brown and Kauffmann intended to buy it but could not come up with the money. Other builders were not interested, he said.

The subdivision encompasses both hillsides and low areas located on lagoons feeding into the Petaluma River and is situated at the end of Bugeia Lane. Planned were 1,300 residential units. Grading work was started on a 275-acre parcel in 1965 for 400 lots. The Bahia Properties office said the work was about two-thirds completed but was discontinued 10 months ago.

The Union Bank of Los Angeles is both trustee and beneficiary under a deed of trust securing the $3.5 million loan. The property will be auctioned March 7 at 11 a.m. in the lobby of Western Title Guaranty Co., Second and A Streets, San Rafael.

Vintners Have A Record Year

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Shipments of California wine reached a record 148.9 million gallons last winter, the Wine Institute reports.

The Institute said yesterday 1967 was the second consecutive record year, and the third in the last four.

Last year's shipments represented a 2.9 per cent gain over 1966.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Despite General Rule, Some Commuting Costs Deductible

Wikel

There is no deduction for the cost of going to and from work. That's the commuting expense rule.

However, travel that looks like non-deductible commuting may really be a deductible business expense.

For instance, you're working on a temporary assignment out of town, and stay in a hotel while you're there. You can deduct the cost of your round trips between the hotel and work.

If you use your home as your office, and go directly from there to various jobs or to call on customers, then your transportation expenses from your home-office are deductible.

LOAD CARRYING

If you take heavy tools and business materials from your home to various jobs around town in your car, since it's not practical for you to use public transportation you can deduct your car expenses—IF your only reason for using your car is to carry bulky materials and heavy tools and you would not use your car except for that reason, or if you use your car to carry heavy or bulky materials which you can't store where you work.

If you have two jobs and drive from home to Job 1, from Job 1 to Job 2, and then home; the driving expenses from Job 1 to Job 2 are deductible. The travel from home to Job 1 is non-deductible and so is the return trip home.

From work to school: You go to school after work to improve your job skills. Of course, your tuition, fees, and books are deductible and so is driving from work to school, but not from home to work or school to home.

If you use your car in your work and every morning drive from home to your office and then use your car to drive in your work, return to the office, and then go home in the evening, all your driving expenses are deductible, except home to office and office to home.

OTHER COSTS

You can deduct depreciation, gas, oil, insurance, repairs, etc. for the business use, or you can use the optional method, 10 cents a mile for the first 15,000 business miles and 7 cents for every mile thereafter.

You can deduct parking fees and bridge tolls for business travel.

You must reduce any deduction by the amount of any reimbursement received from your employer.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stock Trading Serious, Not Something To Amuse

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have Kaiser Industries and FWD Corp. I have $2,000 which I can invest. This is money to play with, so to speak. Should I hold or add to my present stocks or buy something else? — P.R.

A. I am going to urge you to revise your thinking about stock investment. Putting money into the market is a serious business and should never be taken lightly.

Kaiser Industries has important investments in Kaiser Cement, Kaiser Steel and Kaiser Aluminum. Because part of its business is cyclical, earnings have sometimes been erratic, but I regard the company as sound and well managed. I would hold this issue.

For your $2,000 new investment, I suggest that you aim for solid, predictable, long-term growth. I would buy a few shares of Baxter Laboratories and put the remainder into Burroughs. This latter stock looks very good for the future, and because it is volatile it should also satisfy your apparent desire for a little action.

Q. We have bonds which will mature in 1968. Should we hold these right up to the maturity date, or would it be better to sell them after the last interest payment? This may be pretty small potatoes for an investment adviser, but it's a big problem to us. M.H.

A. The final coupon on your bonds coincides with the date of maturity. When that time arrives, you should deliver your bonds with coupons attached to your bank for collection. You will lose no interest by holding to maturity and will gain nothing by selling prior to that time.

San Anselmo Plaints Recall Advice Unheeded

Numerous complaints about traffic conditions resulting from second-stage widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo point up what is likely to happen when a local government hires an expert to plan a project and then ignores his advice.

Widening of Drake Boulevard was for many years a high priority project for the Hub City. It took years to acquire the land for the right-of-way, years to save up gasoline tax revenues toward the job. It was then undertaken in two stages, with the first running from the Hub to Tunstead Avenue.

In 1966, allotment of $82,000 in county urban thoroughfare funds, added to the city's gas tax revenues, made possible completion of the widening to the Ross line.

THE CITY COUNCIL then hired Whitlow, Hoffman and Albritton, San Rafael civil engineering firm, to design the project. The firm's chief, Beverly J. Whitlow (whose career was cut short by his untimely death last Sept. 18), brought in a traffic engineer, James Kell, to assist in the planning.

They came up with a plan calling for the widening to be accompanied by a new traffic pattern which would make San Anselmo Avenue a one-way street in two directions from Ross Avenue. Cross-traffic between San Anselmo Avenue and Drake Boulevard could move both ways at Ross Avenue. From that point, the traffic on San Anselmo Avenue would divide, with one-way cross-connections at Tunstead and Bolinas avenues.

SOME SUCH SOLUTION actually had been forecast by City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell, who told the council when Whitlow was hired that "a portion of San Anselmo Avenue may have to be made one-way."

However, the plan drew unanimous opposition from merchants and property owners on San Anselmo Avenue. About 50 representatives of the business community attended a meeting on the subject at Wade Thomas School on July 19, 1966. And not one of them favored the plan. They all wanted San Anselmo Avenue (which then had 27 vacant stores) left unchanged.

Then and later, both Whitlow and Kell staked their reputations on the proposition that widening Drake Boulevard without changing the San Anselmo Avenue traffic pattern simply would not work. Whitlow told a city council meeting a week later: "I caution you with every ounce of fiber in my being not to widen Drake and leave San Anselmo Avenue alone." He said such a plan would "create utter chaos."

THE COUNCIL, HOWEVER, heeded its constituency as represented by the businessmen. Councilmen voted 4-1 on Aug. 9, 1966, to widen Drake and leave the other artery alone. Duane C. Ragan, the lone dissenter, declared: "I don't want to be a party to this city creating one of the worst traffic messes we've ever seen."

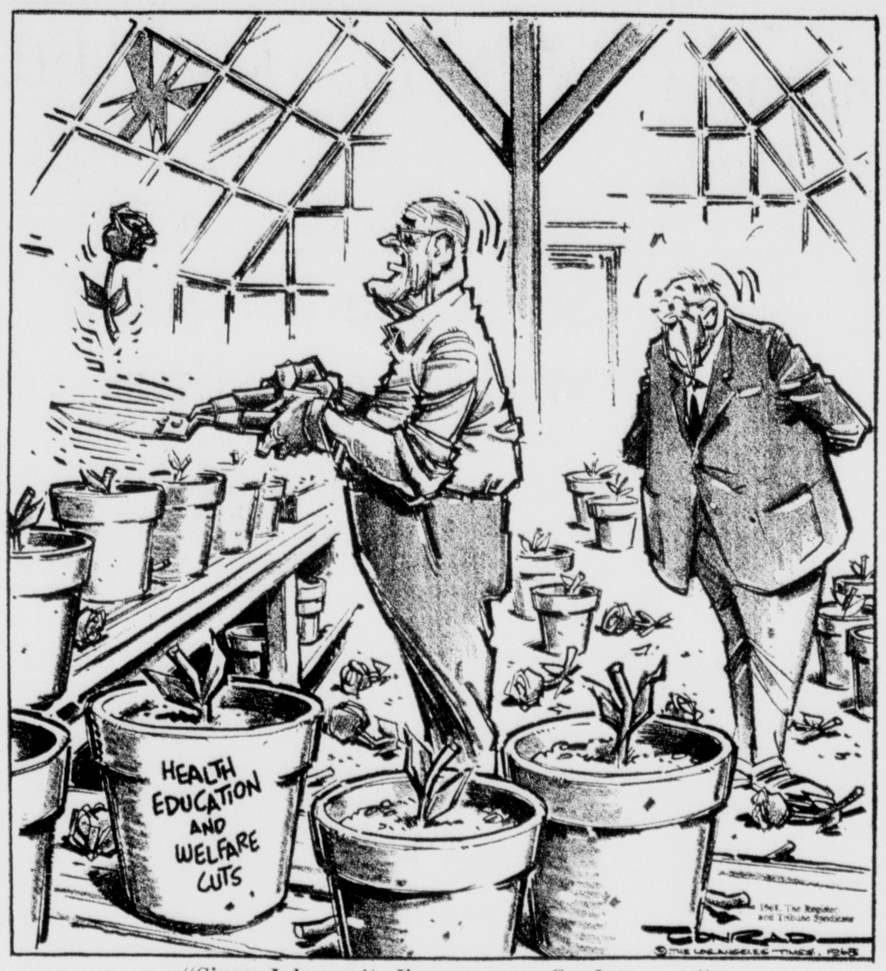
At the close of the July 19 meeting at Wade Thomas School, William A. Trewhella, who was president of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, told the merchants:

"If you will make it your business, either through the chamber of commerce or directly at city hall every other Tuesday night, anything you want in this town, you can have—and I mean anything."

His words, it would seem, were prophetic.

Perhaps prophetic also was a question raised by Planning Commissioner Kenneth Anderson at the city council meeting a week later. Seeing that the council was unlikely to go along with Whitlow's solution, Anderson asked:

"Can we widen Drake and put in signal equipment so that it can be easily changed when the motoring public throws up its hands, which will probably be about a month later?"



"Since John quit, I'm my own Gardner . . ."

Japan's Ties To U.S. Grow Stronger As Nation Prospers

Take Vietnam. The critics at home are prone to say that no big power supports the U.S. Not true. Prime Minister Eisaku Sato goes all the way with the U.S. and he speaks for one of the great powers of the world.

Mr. Sato takes no pro forma stand. He says in public what he says in private — that the U.S. is doing what is right and necessary in Vietnam, that there can be no one-sided de-escalation of the war, and that leaders in the 12 non-Communist Asian nations he recently visited were horrified at the thought of American withdrawal.

AMERICANS have no reason to be disturbed or alarmed by the few incidents of violence by some left-wing students when the U.S. nuclear aircraft carrier Enterprise put in at Japan last month. They were nursery games compared to the uproar which took place in the streets and in parliament in 1969, when rioting marked the renewal of the U.S./Japan security treaty and became so menacing that President Eisenhower couldn't carry through his planned visit to Tokyo.

Even then the noise of the demonstrators exceeded their numbers, but in comparison the recent demonstrations were anemic. They were condemned by the press. They were disowned by even the Socialist and Communist parties here because they were alienating the Japanese people.

There will be more visits here by U.S. conventional and nuclear naval craft because Prime Minister Sato wants them and welcomes them. He feels that the Japanese people need to become accustomed to the visible presence of U.S. military strength because it is crucial to the security of Japan and to peace in the Pacific.

There will continue to be minority opposition and minority protest. But they will not be significant and they will not be decisive. They will surface again when the U.S.-Japanese security treaty comes up for debate in the parliament in two years. The treaty continues in force automatically unless formally rejected. Sato is confident the government will easily prevail and the Japanese people will continue to favor keeping the treaty.

DIPLOMATICALLY and militarily the U.S.-Japanese alliance is thriving. It is also thriving, even burgeoning, economically. Trade between our two countries amounted to $4 billion in 1965. It reached $5 billion in 1966. It went to $6 billion in 1967 — and continues to grow. Japan is today America's largest overseas trading partner. Such trade is immensely valuable to the U.S. It is life-or-death to Japan, which must buy most of the raw material and much of its food to produce the goods it must sell to survive.

For a decade Japan has been doing both to the vast benefit of itself and the U.S., and has been doing so well that it is emerging as the third industrial nation of the world.

Nothing could be more shortsighted than for the U.S. to yield to the pressures or political temptation to turn its back on the economic policy which has served the U.S. so well so long — the policy of widening and freeing the channels of world trade to the benefit of everybody, not restricting them to the benefit of the few.

As we move into the Pacific Era, a prospering Japan will be America's invaluable partner.

Our Loaded Bombers

(Reprinted from St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

The continuing furor over the seizure of the Pueblo off Korea has diverted public attention from what potentially might become a much graver matter, the B-52 crash in Greenland in which four hydrogen bombs were lost.

As always, the Pentagon soothingly announced that the bombs were "unarmed" and no harm was done, except that one man was killed in the crash. Nevertheless, an undetermined amount of radioactivity was released, an enormous effort will have to be mounted to recover the bomb components, and a great many Danes, as well as other Europeans, have been bitterly alienated from the United States. The accident may even have contributed to the election defeat of Denmark's prime minister and his party.

This was the 13th accident involving nuclear weapons which the Pentagon has acknowledged since 1958. The 12th one, in January 1966, occurrd off Palomares, Spain, when a midair collision scattered four bombs over land and sea and released radioactive poisons in the midst of a populated area. It took 82 days and more than $50 million to clean up that mess and recover the last of the bombs. How much damage was done to our moral position cannot be calculated.

Surely the time has come to re-examine the whole strategic policy of keeping bombers in the air around the clock with their lethal freight. How much real security is actually gained? How do the military advantages, if any, stack up against the fears and apprehensions aroused, often among peoples most friendly to us, by the spectacle of the most heavily armed nation in the world, in the name of its own security, risking every day disastrous nuclear accidents that could imperil everybody?

Originally the airborne alert was established on the theory that planes kept in the air could not be destroyed in a surprise nuclear attack, and so would be constantly available to deliver a retaliatory blow. They would, therefore, deter the attack. If this theory of deterrence ever was valid, it needs to be questioned now. The seas are swarming with nuclear-armed submarines which cannot be destroyed in a surprise attack, and the Pentagon has claimed that our missile bases are now so thoroughly "hardened" that enough would survive a first strike to deliver a crushing retaliatory blow.

Why, then, are loaded bombers also needed in the air at all times? . . .

Even Friends In Orient Grin At U.S. Predicament

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The fact that in Asia the United States has been appearing as something of a confused giant has been a source of satisfaction to its enemies and even wry amusement among its friends.

Said one long-time American correspondent in Tokyo:

"I doubt that there is one Oriental, even among our staunchest allies, who does not get a certain amount of satisfaction out of the capture of the Pueblo and the 'townhouse offensive' in Vietnam."

Certainly, despite enormous losses, Hanoi considers the Communist attack against almost two score South Vietnam cities and towns to be a success.

Communist capture of the Pueblo and the attempted assassination of South Korean President Park Chung Hee by North Korean infiltrators have brought U.S.-South Korean relations to a low not seen since the signing of the armistice in 1953.

It disclosed the extent to which South Korean defenses had been stripped for the war in Vietnam and now has led to a South Korean threat to pull its forces out of the American-led U.N. command there.

The South Koreans also accuse the United States of practically ignoring the attempt against their president and of reaching a pitch of indignation only after seizure of the Pueblo.

The American decision to attempt to deal directly with the North Koreans also raises South Korean ire because they claim it gives undue recognition to the Pyongyang government which is not recognized by the U.N.

In Vietnam, the Communists hoped to be joined in their attack by the local populations. In this, they generally failed.

Approximately half of Saigon's two million population is composed of refugees. They had already fled the war once and showed little enthusiasm for either side.

The attack upon the cities also calls for another assessment of the part in their defenses played by the army of South Vietnam.

It may be that it was good but it is a question not answered yet.

On the other hand, there seemed no question either of the discipline or dedication of the Viet Cong who knew they were on suicide missions.

Reagan Task Force Points Way To Large Savings For Taxpayer

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Undoubtedly, the outstanding achievement of Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration will be his survey on efficiency and cost control.

For approximately a year, a task force of some 250 survey teams, made up of representatives of outstanding California business organizations, has had the study under way.

Now, this task force has recommended some 2,000 specific items for streamlining and improving the quality of work in most departments of state government.

Says O. Kenneth Pryor, chairman of the survey, "The recommendations can lead to very large savings for the state if they are fully implemented by the administration and legislature."

THE REPORT has the potential of reducing costs by $233 million annually, could generate a one-time saving of $22 million, and in addition, reduce planned expenditures for facilities by $153 million and delay $118 million expenditures for capital spending.

Also, the recommendations could result in reduced costs to local government of $67 million annually and to the federal government of about $92 million a year.

Such an overall survey of state governmental activities never has been made before. One of the reasons for the survey was that over the past 10 years, costs of government increased 120 percent, while population increased 39 per cent.

Thus it can be seen that if population increase is to be used as a criteria in measurement of government costs, the latter has advanced completely out of hand. The results are reflected only in increased taxes, such as the billion dollar bulge of 1967.

A GOOD QUESTION in connection with the report is why, if savings of this magnitude are possible, is it necessary for the governor to submit a record budget of $5.7 billion to the legislature?

The answer is that the annual expenditures of the state probably never will be reduced. Welfare and education will take care of available revenues, so the job of the administration will be to contain expenditures in proportion to population growth, which reflects increased revenues. The theory is that normal added revenues, plus application of sound business management, will provide for the necessary costs of government without new taxes.

How long the governor can adhere to this theory depends on action of the state legislature.

But at least, the mechanism for effecting savings is available. That is a worthwhile achievement, for at least, the people of the state are now aware of the fact that savings of magnitude can be effected if the administration and the legislature decide to follow the recommendations.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Drake Boulevard Now Bisects City

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I felt I had to add my voice of protest to the countless voices already raised over the traffic situation in San Anselmo — resulting from the Sir Francis Drake Project.

When this project was first mentioned — and during all the "public hearings" and progress reports I never formed the idea that the city fathers (or whoever is in charge of this fiasco) envisioned a Sir Francis Drake Freeway!

Someone, Dear knows who, has succeeded in bisecting San Anselmo into two separate towns. It is now possible to cross from the western portion (San Anselmo Avenue) to the Barber Tract at one point only! The two streets which used to serve as through streets for a small shopping community: one is now a thruway, the other a feeder. How can this happen? Where were, or are, the San Anselmo Property Owners and Chamber of Commerce? The people in Fairfax are smart enough to see that a widening, freeway-izing of Sir Francis Drake would ruin Fairfax; pity their Big Brother in San Anselmo had not this forsight.

Politics Perhaps Has Short Memory

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Only in San Anselmo can such things happen. While promising the voters joyous living in beautiful and inexpensive surroundings, a political advertisement extolled the virtues of Messrs Reed and Anderson for town council. The ad went on to condemn the Red Hill fiasco and council's tired, negative thinking.

The joyous part got off to an early start with what may have been some unplanned humor. Messrs Francini and Reichmuth signed the ad, yet both voted for the Red Hill fiasco on 14 Dec. 1965, and Reichmuth is still on council. Other signators of the ad, Messrs West and Perry, voted for the fiaso in planning commission on 23 Aug. 1965, and Ken Anderson, speaking from the floor, urged the vote.

Self-condemnation in private is good for the soul, but in San Anselmo we find councilmen, planning commissioners and candidates doing it in public.

Candidate Choice Highly Important

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As some wit has observed, there are two types of people who write to the I-J, there are those narrow, bigoted jackasses who are incapable of rational thought and on the other hand there are people who are quite perceptive and intelligent and who express themselves very clearly. Oddly enough, this latter group usually agrees with me.

This is how I felt and I read Sid Hall's letter tonight (Feb. 1) about Johnson. He is one of the latter group. This year, will the Republican party please select a candidate with thought and caution. Four years ago, millions of Americans, myself included, voted against Goldwater and got the Pharaoh. This year, millions will vote against him (capital "H"?). Unless care is exercized by the Republicans in 1968, we will get another irresponsible clod, and this may prove fatal to the country.

Clausen Junket Disclosure Lauded

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Bouquets to the Independent-Journal for revealing that our own congressman, Rep. Clausen, is contributing to the balance of payment deficit by making a three-week junket at taxpayers' expense to Tahiti, Hong Kong, Japan and Australia under the guise of attending a four-day conference of the International Road Federation in Australia.

This expose is typical of the public spirited reporting we have to come to expect from our Independent-Journal.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ALAN JONES

Mill Valley School, Park May Have To Go Before Electorate

Another hitch has developed in plans for a joint city-school recreation area on Mill Valley's Project 17 site east of Camino Alto.

The city and the Mill Valley School District agreed in December to exchange lands so a middle school could be built on Project 17 with the joint recreation areas adjoining it.

The difficulty was, former owners of the proposed site deeded it to the city on condition it be used only for park and recreation purposes unless Mill Valley's voters agree to a change in the use.

The city has been negotiating with the former owners to be released from the condition so the land swap can be made, but it now appears some of them won't sign. If they don't the city will have to put the proposed use change on the April 9 ballot.

CITY OFFICIALS are confident voters would approve the proposal, but there is a chance of opposition. Objections were raised during city-school negotiations about the higher cost of building at Project 17 and the resulting reduction of funds available to renovate and enlarge existing schools. The voters approved a $3.5 million bond issue last year for both purposes.

To get the measure on the ballot, the council would have to start legal steps at its Feb. 19 meeting. And according to the city attorney, once the procedures were started, the proposal would have to appear on the ballot, even if all the former property owners signed up and the question became moot before election day.

SAUSALITO has a similar problem on a smaller scale. The city and the school district agreed years ago to build a joint-use park on the Bayside School site. Later, the school district drew up a master plan for a new Bayside School.

When the city recreation commission, recently blessed with some park money from a nearby development, got ready to start putting the park on the ground, it was found the school district has planned some new buildings on the park site.

There is no immediate problem. Sausaltio voters last year defeated a bond issue for school construction.

But the school board this week agreed to have representatives from both bodies sit down, try to unwrinkle the overlap, and master-plan both the park and school so they fit.

IF SOMEONE talks about "backdoor planning" in Southern Marin these days, he means it literally.

In Mill Valley as this is written, the only access to the city planning and building inspection departments is through a dubious-looking alley. City crews tore up the old sidewalk in front of the city hall annex and laid fresh concrete, blocking the entry with barricades against would-be name writers and vagrant dogs.

And in Sausalito, new City Planning Director Charles W. Whitehead's office is tucked away in a little room between the street and the council chamber which is easiest reached by a devious walk through the city clerk's office and the council chamber.

Marinites Organizing To Preserve Eagles

A group of Marin residents calling itself the Citizens Ad-Hoc Committee to Protest Soaring Birds of West Marin has launched an educational program to preserve the county's golden eagles.

The program will involve meeting with the Woolgrowers Association — a body of sheep ranchers some of whom have complained eagles kill their sheep — and acting as liaison between the federal Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife and citizens interested in saving rare soaring birds from extinction.

Reporting on a meeting of the committee Tuesday, Mrs. Kay DeClark of Mill Valley said Dr. Martin L. Griffin of Kentfield and C. W. Zumwalt of Greenbrae will be liaison representatives.

Dr. Griffin said the Point Reyes bird observatory is interested in doing a study on the ecology of eagles in West Marin to determine their range, nesting area and migrartory patterns. He said money and expert observors would be needed.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Loren Parcher, game management agent of the wildlife bureau, who explained the law in relation to the killing of eagles.

He urged that ranchers, rather than slaying eagles, should use means to frighten away the birds such as "flares and tracer ammunition," said Mrs. DeClark.

Texans Have Everything

DALLAS (UPI)—As the Texas Almanac shows in its list of Texas towns, Allen (in Collin County) can put on his Tuxedo (Jones County) and get in his Lincoln (Lee County) or Mercedes (Hidalgo) and go visit the Twin Sisters (Blanco County), Dot (Falls County) and Dixie (Grayson).

If he has enough Cash (Hunt County), he can Tell (Childress) them to come with him in his Swift (Nacogdoches County) auto. They can enjoy the View (Taylor County), but he might have to be a good Guy (Fort Bend County) and take them home not long after Sunset (Montague) and surely before Sunrise (Falls County) or Dawn (Deaf Smith). Otherwise, the sisters' mother might give him the Dickens (Dickens County) in no Uncertain (Harrison County) terms.

Hammer Victim Is Out Of Coma

SANTA MARIA (UPI) — A local artist regained consciousness yesterday after spending 37 days in a coma following a beating with a claw hammer last month.

Mrs. Eileen Baker, 40, was beaten on the head by an unknown assailant who also attempted to strangle her Jan. 2.

Doctors held little hope for her following the beating, but Mrs. Baker continually gained strength after they performed a six-hour operation to relieve pressure on her brain.

Criminal investigators from San Francisco, Sacramento and Fresno, aiding Santa Maria police, have yet to turn up any clues for the beating.

Masked Bobwhite Being Returned To Former Haunts

LAUREL, Md. (SS) —The call of the masked bobwhite, unheard for some 68 years in the United States, may soon echo again in the southwest; young birds are to be released next year.

Biologists at the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center at Laurel, Md., have raised more than 40 young bobwhites from four pairs brought from Mexico. They believe that at least 150 more can be reared and released in 1968.

The maked bobwhite, so called because the male has a black head with a white line crossing the eyes, became extinct in the United States about 1900 when heavy grazing of livestock and a prolonged drought destroyed its habitat: desert grass, mesquite, small shrubs and cacti. The population was also severely reduced in Mexico, and the birds exist only in one or two areas in Sonora state.

Arizona land managers are now restoring essential plant cover for the bobwhites by controlling livestock.

ART BUCHWALD

How They Brought The Bad News From Pent To Ex (No Browning)

WASHINGTON — There has been a great deal of speculation as to why President Johnson was informed so late on the capture of the Navy intelligence ship Pueblo.

Many versions have been given concerning what happened during those key moments before the president was informed as to the Pueblo's fate.

WHEN THE NEWS hit Washington at 11 p.m., it was first passed through lower channels at the Pentagon and the Sate Department before it was brought to the attention of Secretary McNamara and Secretary Rusk.

McNamara called Rusk and said, "I think you'd better notify the president. This is a diplomatic problem."

"The heck it is," said the usually taciturn Dean Rusk. "That was a Navy ship and it's Defense's problem. You'd better notify the president."

"Wait a minute, Dean," said Secretary McNamara. "I just had to tell the president about us losing four hydrogen bombs over Greenland. He's going to start thinking of me as a purveyor of bad news.

"Besides," McNamara added, "that ship wasn't on a Navy mission. It was on an Intelligence mission."

"THEN DICK HELMS of the CIA ought to tell the president," Rusk concluded.

A call was placed to Helms and when Secretary Rusk informed him of the situation, Helms couldn't have been more surprised.

"You better tell the president," Rusk said.

"I'd rather not if it's all the same to you," Helms said. "Besides, I don't have the White House telephone number. Say, I have an idea. Let's get Walt Rostow to tell him. Walt works in the White House so he's probably adept at breaking bad news to the president."

"All right," Rusk said. "I guess Walt is as good at this sort of thing as anybody."

SECRETARY RUSK woke Walt Rostow up and told him the news. He suggested Rostow go over to the White House immediately and tell the President. Rostow agreed and started to get dressed.

After finishing his eggs, Rostow drove over to the darkened White House. He was quite frantic about how he would break the news to the president at such an ungodly hour. Nervously, he walked up the stairway to the president's bedroom.

As he got to the room an inspiration hit him. He opened the door and got down on his hands and knees and started crawling toward the bed. When he got there he grasped the president's hand.

"That you, Lynda Bird?" the president sleepily inquired.

"No, it's Walt."

"Walt who?"

"Walt Rostow, your White House aide."

"WELL, WHAT IN tarnation are you doing on your hands and knees at this hour? Eartha Kitt isn't coming to breakfast, is she?"

"No sir, I have something else to tell you."

"What is it?" the president said.

"Do you mind if I get in bed? It's very confidential."

"Whew! I had a fright there for a moment," Lady Bird said. "I was afraid Lynda Bird and Chuck had had their first fight."

(Editor's note: For what Rostow told the president after climbing into the bed — according to what must be the same version Buchwald heard — you'll have to turn back to Conrad's cartoon on the editorial page of the Independent-Journal of Jan. 29.)

COUNTY COMMENT

Those Figures In County Budget —They Just Don't Groove, Man

Fusselman

Continuing comments on the excessive cost of the county personnel department, which I started last week, let me emphasize that this county is not a General Motors, Ford or Chrysler corporation, with many hundred thousand employees. It is stated that Marin has 1,200. Here is an example again of doing things in the grand manner out at Brasilia and it is costing you a good sized piece of change.

I said last week that $73,448 for the personnel department was an increase of $4,956.75 over last year's budget. It really is $7,865.97 more for the type of operation proposed for this year when compared with the same elements in the budget last year.

THERE IS PLAINLY a "credibility gap." For instance under the heading of Employment, this appears in the printed copy of the budget: "The employment function is in the table below. New reporting techniques are being introduced in order to pin-point critical areas of recruiting. The examination and testing program will receive careful review during 1967-68." How's that for hoo-malli-malli? What in tunket has the head of the department been doing all those years besides searching waste baskets in the press room and having copies made of his findings for a select few?

This statement also appears in the printed budget: "Although actual hiring has been delayed, the addition of a professional staff position allows for improved salary administration and classification service." (Something like the advertisement, "It's not how long you make it, but how you make it long.") So there you have the old Parkinson law again and again.

Here is part of the table referred to; last year's figures and those projected for this year will be given for comparison. I will try to make clear the points I think you will wish to consider. But, my friends, it's a dizzy business.

This is it:

		Projected
Placements	1966-67	1967-68
Regular	242	280
Extra Hire	156	112
Examinations	680	1,142
Promotions	156	170
Annual turnover per 100 employees	1.59	1.75
Applications Processed	2,114	2,980

TO BEGIN WITH, as I said before, there are reported to be 1,200 employees. Now, if the annual rate of turnover was 1.5 per 100 employees, there would be 12 times 1.59 or 19.08 for last year and 12 times 1.75 projected for this year or 21. Just try and reconcile those figures with the other statements made in the table, such as that there were 242 regular placements made last year plus 156 extra hire; and that the projection for this year is 280 regular and 112 extra hire. The table also shows 156 promotions and 170 respectively, and 680 examinations last year and 1,142 currently. The claim is made that 2,114 applications were processed last year and 2,890 projected. Anyway you approach it there is the big question mark.

With apologies to "Sound of Music" — These aren't some of our favorite things. They don't groove, man, they don't groove. Not even a little.

Novato Firing Meeting Called

A special meeting of the Novato City Council has been called for 9 a.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House to ratify the city manager's firing of Mark Philip David, Novato planning director, according to Mayor J. Wayne Womack.

David turned in his resignation, effective March 31, to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget at 4 p.m. Tuesday before the Novao Novato City Council meeting that night. The council held a closed session for an hour but did not take any action after the meeting.

On Wednesday morning, Baget relieved David of all of his duties immediately. The special meeting of the council is to ratify Baget's action, Womack has indicated that Baget acted with council approval.

San Anselmo Coed Reported As Missing

A 16-year-old San Anselmo girl, Carolyn Lee Parker, has been reported missing by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale I. Parker, 21 Hillcrest Avenue, San Anselmo police reported today.

Parker said the girl, described as five feet three inches tall, having blue eyes and wearing shoulder-length hair, failed to attend classes at Sir Francis Drake High School yesterday. It was believed she is seeking a job, officers said.

Countywide Horse Health Clinic Slated

A county-wide horse health clinic, sponsored by the Southern Marin Horsemen's Association, will start at 8 a.m. Feb. 24 at the Mill Valley corporation yard at the end of Sycamore Avenue extension.

Clinic treatment will include worming, vaccinations and dentistry for horses at reduced prices, and free tetanus shots for horse owners in a program provided by the county health department and sanctioned by the county medical society.

A blacksmith, a feed company representative and an officer of the county humane society will attend to give advice on shoeing, feeding and caring for horses.

Dentistry will be performed March 30, when booster shots will also be given.

Appointments for the clinic can be made with Mrs. M. M. Adams of 51 Edgewood Avenue, Mill Valley. Information is available from Mrs. Dale M. Corliss of 140 Janes Street, Mill Valley, clinic chairman, or Mrs. James W. Howe of 44 Locust Avenue, Mill Valley.

Would-Be Span Jumper Is Held

A San Francisco housewife may have been prevented from jumping off the Golden Gate Bridge today by a passing motorist from Novato, the California Highway Patrol reported.

James Ringseis, of 85 Calypso Shores, Novato, told the highway patrol he saw the woman at 2:15 a.m. stop her car near the north tower, get out and put her foot on the railing.

Ringseis leaped from his automobile and held Branka L. Thompson, 34, until bridge officers arrived, according to patrolmen. She was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

AFTER FEBRUARY, YOU CAN DRIVE TO JAPAN FOR THE WEEKEND.

Because there'll be a miniature Japan in San Francisco. The new Japanese Cultural and Trade Center – just a rickshaw ride away from the Bay Bridge.

Come see all five acres of it. Walk through the flower gardens. Watch Oriental artisans at work. See a Kabuki play. Taste teriyaki. Sip some sake.

And stay in the new Miyako Hotel. Relax in one of 172 guest rooms. Enjoy color TV, air-conditioning and Western style luxury and conveniences. With just enough Japanese decor to make it exciting. (If you're a real purist, we have two luxury suites that are totally Oriental.)
